Overthrow of Chosen One of Allah Brings Problem to Great Britain

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 3. All members of the Caliph Abdul Medjid Effendi's harem are expected to sail for Alexandria on the 10th inst., in consequence of the movement for abolition of the Caliphate. Prince Orchan, grandson of the late Sultan, Arbdul Hamid and a student at Robert College, is on the list of those to be expelled.

Down Prince Abdul Medjid Effendi, cousin of Sultan Mohammed VI, was selected Caliph in November, 1922, by the Grand National Assembly of Angora. Prince Selim Effendi, son of former Sultan Abdul Hamid, was an unsuccessful candidate. The deposed Caliph is 53 years of age.

Abdul Medjid was in direct line of succession to the Sultanate. Had Mohammed VI died instead of taking flight from Constantinople on board a British warship, Abdul Medjid automatically would have become Sultan of Abdul Aziz, a Sultan preceded to the throne.

Abdul Aziz, who in 1876 was deposed by the Young Turks of his time. A few days after his deposition Abdul Aziz committed suicide.

HELD PRISONER

Abdul Medjid in his early days showed a disposition to depart from the ways of the Sultan. His instincts were for justice and freedom and the rights of the people. For this he was held prisoner in the house of his father for thirty-five years.

During his incarceration he read much of western literature and it resulted in consequence his ideas of freedom became stronger.

With the overthrow of Abdul Hamid and the advent of the Young Turks in 1908, Abdul Medjid gained a certain amount of liberty. In 1919 he openly declared his opposition to the Sultan and his adherence to the cause of Turkish nationalists.

HEAR PLEAS FOR BONUS

New Plans Given Committee

House Ways and Means Body Considers Schemes for Paying Veterans

Insurance Rather Than Cash Urged; Legion Presents Figures on Cost

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The form of payment of a soldier bonus occupied the attention of spokesmen before the House Ways and Means Committee today at the opening of a three-day session of public hearings.

Several propositions, including a plan to limit the bonus entirely to paid-up insurance policies for all veterans who served more than sixty days, were presented to the committee by members of the House who have introduced bills.

The American Legion, through John Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of its national legislative committee, declared a willingness to accept "whatever bonus legislation this Congress enacts."

Some opposition was voiced to the insurance proposition, advanced by Representatives Fish of New York and Andrews of Massachusetts, Republicans. Representative Lineberger, Republican, California, who urged the committee to report out a bill similar to the one vetoed by President Harding and accepted by the American Legion, expressed fear that new legislation would "muddy the water and hinder speedy action."

NO OPPOSITION HEARD

Not a word of opposition either by committee members or those appearing before it was expressed against bonus legislation, most of the speakers devoting their time to outlining various proposed methods of bonus payments.

When Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, who voted against the bonus bill last session, suggested he might favor a bill providing options of a straight out cash payment or insurance, Chairman Green warned that "such legislation might throw a monkey-wrench into the whole proposition." Mr. Green insisted the full cash payment option could not be placed on the bill, contending that the revenue required would eat up all government revenue collected for a year.

Advocates of the insurance provision argued that it would spread out the necessary government payments systematically over a period of years and thus might eliminate the opposition President Coolidge has expressed toward bonus legislation. They also declared that

ACQUITTAL IN CANDLER DIVE CHARGE

Cases of Companions of Atlanta Woman Also Are Dismissed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTA (Ga.) March 3.—Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Sr., wife of the Atlanta soft-drink millionaire, today was exonerated at a police court hearing of having been an occupant of a "dive," which charge grew out of a raid made by the police on an apartment in a fashionable residential section here in which Mrs. Candler, W. J. Stoddard and G. W. Keeling, business men, were arrested.

The identical charge against Keeling and Stoddard also was dismissed. Stoddard, however, was held under bond of $300 for violation of the State prohibition law when he assumed responsibility for a small quantity of whisky that the police found in a bottle on a table around which three persons had been seated when the police made their raid.

"I can't see that the result of the public trial today has left me anything to say in addition," Stoddard said in a statement after the trial. "The evidence of Chief Beavers himself disclosed the details of the miserable conspiracy which is back of this whole prosecution. The court's judgment completely cleared Mrs. Candler, Mr. Keeling and myself of even any suspicion of misconduct of any kind, whatever."

MAN'S GRIEF IS CAUSE OF HIS ARREST

Canadian Found Here Through Telegram Sent Over Wife's Death

Grief over the death of his young wife caused Cyril Condon, 23 years of age, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., to relax his vigilance and enabled Al J. Smith, ex-Northwest Mounted Police, to end a four months' search, according to the police.

Condon was arrested last night at his home at 1015 Annandale Boulevard by Smith in company with Detective Lieutenants Lloyd and Roberds. Condon's whereabouts was learned by Smith through a telegram sent to the sister of Condon's dead wife in New York.

According to the Canadian man, Condon is wanted in Hamilton for forgery of checks totaling $2400, and for a statutory offense. Two weeks ago Condon's wife died at a hospital here following an operation the police said. Condon's telegram to his wife's sister was communicated to the girl's parents in Hamilton, who enlisted the aid of the former mounted police, now chief of provisional constables for Hamilton.

The officer will leave with his prisoner today.

ROMANCE STRIKES ROCKS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—The colorful romance of Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire publisher of motion-picture periodicals, and Miss Corliss Palmer, Titian-haired film beauty, named by Mrs. Brewster in her recent successful suit for separation, has ended. Mr. Brewster said today that a formal statement concerning the plans of himself and his beautiful young protege would be issued within a few days.

In the meantime, though loathe to discuss the abrupt end of a romance which for months rivaled the most thrilling scenarios appearing in his magazines, Mr. Brewster admitted that Miss Palmer, under the protection of an assumed name, has left to engage in business for herself in a city "separated from New York by at least 1000 miles." Within ten days Mr. Brewster will begin his solitary occupancy of the magnificent Dudley Olcott estate near Morristown, N. J., which he recently purchased for $250,000, planning there to establish Miss Palmer as Mrs. Brewster number three.

LOVE STILL GLOWS

The publisher made it emphatically clear that his regard for Miss Palmer and hers for him remains as ardent as before and the romance itself has not withered. There is no change, he said, except that both have at last come to realize the futility of any further effort until such time as Mrs. Brewster agrees to free her husband.

"I have exhausted every expedient in my efforts to obtain a divorce but without success," said Mr. Brewster. "I have tried Paris and other European capitals. I have resorted to the Department of Justice. There is nothing I have left undone and now I am forced to accept the fact that a divorce which would enable me to marry Miss Palmer is impossible as long as Mrs. Brewster withholds her help.

"In this situation my first consideration must be for Miss Palmer and the protection of her name. I do not propose that she shall be made the target for gossiping tongues. Our friendship has been dragged forth often enough. I do not propose that she shall be subjected to any more of that sort of thing.

MISS PALMER LEAVES

"I had not intended to say anything until I was prepared to issue a formal statement covering our mutual decision, but since an inkling of the situation apparently has leaked out I will take occasion to say that my feeling for Miss Palmer and hers for me has undergone no change.

"Circumstances require that she leave New York City and alter her life sufficiently to conform to conditions which we have found it impossible to change. Fortunately she is already safely removed from danger of annoyance. She will engage in business in a distant city. I shall remain here."

"Will you correspond with Miss Palmer?" Mr. Brewster was asked.

"That does not concern any other than Miss Palmer and myself and I decline to answer it or any other questions designed to bring out an elaboration of what I have said," was the answer.

BANDITS LOOT THREE PHOENIX OIL FIRMS

PHOENIX, March 3.—After binding and gagging two night watchmen, safe robbers operating in the shipping district of Phoenix early today looted the safes in the offices of three oil companies and escaped with about $1500 in currency and checks. Many shots were exchanged between one watchman and the bandits.

SAN DIEGO LUMBER CRAFT IS DAMAGED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—News that the steel motorship Frank Lynch, named for the president of the Benson Lumber Company of this city, has put into Guaymas in distress was received here today. The motorship, bound for Central American ports with a cargo of lumber and general freight, ran into an obstruction 450 miles south of Guaymas, shearing off two of the vessel's propellor blades. The motorship then returned to Guaymas, to which port a new propellor will be sent.

REVOLTS REND HONDURAS

American Troops Sent to Tela and Seventy Remain in Ceiba as Rival Candidates Battle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Widespread confusion in Honduras, due to numerous revolutions in behalf of at least three leaders who aspire to the Presidency, was indicated today in advices received at the State Department from Consul George P. Waller at Ceiba.

The American cruiser Denver after being at Ceiba for several days because of a situation regarded as menacing to American life and property, however, has now been sent to Tela, which on Saturday was reported to be occupied by revolutionists headed by Gen. Tosta.

The situation at Ceiba, according to advices dated the 2nd inst., was "temporarily tranquil" while a new Governor has been appointed and was said to be "doing his best to preserve order."

Nevertheless, the seventy Marines and sailors who were landed last week at Ceiba to guard the American Consulate and protect American lives and property, remain in that city. The Denver, it is understood, will return for them as soon as the situation at Tela permits.

Consul Waller said that Logos, commander of the forces of the de facto government of President Guiterrez at Seiba, fled at the outbreak of fighting several days ago in that city.

Control of the city, he added, was then given to one Delgado, who in turn gave the city over to Monica Zerlaya. The latter, the reports said, was accepted by the revolutionary leaders who captured Ceiba and are now in possession of the port.

LINE UP FOR COOLIDGE

Nine States to Act This Month

Iowa Will Start Ball Rolling With Convention to Pick Delegates Today

President Expected to Have Large Total Pledged by End of March

BY ROBERT BARRY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Beginning tomorrow, primaries and convention States are expected to roll up an impressive total of instructed delegates for President Coolidge. The prospect was said today to be excellent for the President to have more than 200 votes for the Cleveland convention bagged before the close of the month.

States to name their delegates during the month are:

March 4—Iowa, twenty-nine delegates to be chosen by convention.

March 6 and 7—Minnesota, twenty-seven delegates to be chosen by convention.

March 11—New Hampshire, eleven delegates to be elected at a State-wide primary.

March 11—Kansas, twenty-three delegates to be picked by a convention.

March 12—Colorado, fifteen delegates to be selected by a convention.

March 18—North Dakota, thirteen delegates to be voted for at State-wide primaries.

March 25—South Dakota, thirteen delegates to be elected at a primary.

March 25.—Idaho, eleven delegates to be selected at a State convention.

ALABAMA OUTLAWED

In addition to these States, Alabama is to hold a primary on March 11. Senator Oscar W. Underwood is expected to obtain a Democratic indorsement despite the fight waged against him by L. B. Musgrove. The Republican National Committee has refused to recognize the Alabama primary law on the ground that it was an unconstitutional abridgement of the rights of citizens. The State committee has adopted the same position and proposed to nominate a slate of sixteen Coolidge delegates at a State convention. Senator Hiram Johnson has entered the primary, however, and however slight the vote cast he probably will claim the State delegation and carry a contest to Cleveland, where it would be decided against him on the basis of the resolutions adopted by the national committee at its meeting here in December.

Kentucky, Virginia and South Carolina, already have held their conventions and instructed their delegates for the President. Those States have fifty-four votes among them. Kentucky has twenty-six, Virginia seventeen and South Carolina, eleven.

TEST IN NORTHWEST

The test of strength between the President and Senator Johnson in the States of the Northwest will come during the month. Political observers generally will turn to the Dakotas for the key to the Johnson situation. The managers of the Coolidge campaign have every confidence in the outlook. Reports reaching their headquarters have been to the effect that the Johnson campaign has flattened out.

Senator Norbeck, who heads the Johnson slate, arrived in South Dakota today to try to put new life into the fight. He has a large personal and organization following and is supported by Gov. McMaster, who is a candidate and proposal convention nominee for the United States Senate against Senator Sterling. The influence of these two leaders is counted to have far more bearing on the outcome than any personal appeal by Senator Johnson.

The refusal of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin to stand as a candidate in the Presidential preference primary in North Dakota and the court order denying an application for withdrawal of his name has complicated the situation in North Dakota. Senator La Follette's letter of Saturday urged the sending of a "progressive" delegation to Cleveland, but he declined to enter the primary. His statement was construed in many quarters as an announcement he would not lead a third ticket following the convention.

NEW HAMPSHIRE FIGHT

Interesting situations have developed over the launching of a fight in New Hampshire to keep Senator George H. Moses at home during the Cleveland convention, and in Idaho the abandoning of the effort to deny a renomination to Senator William E. Borah. Al-

CONGRESSMEN INVOLVED IN LATEST CAPITAL SCANDAL

Report That Two Received Large Sum in Pardon Cases Starts Another Investigation

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The capital was shaken today by reports that two members of Congress received payments aggregating at least $30,000 for obtaining pardons for prominent criminals convicted under the Federals laws.

Information of this character, it was reported, was contained in the evidence laid before the Federal grand jury in Chicago which returned indictments last Friday against Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau.

There were indications, it was said, that the Congressmen may have received other payments, but the grand jury made no attempt to pursue this line of inquiry further, considering it a matter to be taken up in other jurisdictions.

INVESTIGATION PROMISED

As a result of this development, Congress will now be compelled to begin an investigation of itself. The names of the members of Congress involved undoubtedly will be demanded and if the charges made in the Federal grand jury report are sustained expulsion proceedings and prosecutions would be in order.

The sensational statements contained in the grand jury report will be fully investigated, it was promised today, either by the special committee which conducted the inquiry into affairs in the Veterans' Bureau or by one of the other committees now engaged in sifting charges of corruption in the government.

Representative Tincher, Republican, Kansas, it was learned tonight, intends to call the charges to the attention of the House tomorrow and to propose that the House demand the names of the accused members and the evidence on which the accusations are based.

Other outstanding developments of the day in the growing series of investigations were:

1—The Teapot Dome committee continued to study mysterious code messages which passed between persons in Washington and Edward B. McLean in Palm Beach and announced that decoding experts would be placed on the stand tomorrow to interpret the puzzling telegrams.

2—The committee appointed by the Senate to investigate Atty.-Gen. Daugherty held a preliminary meeting to arrange its plan of procedure and appointed Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, a committee of one to prepare and present the evidence to the committee.

3—Word reached Washington that Atty.-Gen. Daugherty was sending "an important message" to the White House, but up to a late hour the White House had not received it.

4—Representative Fred Britten, Republican, Illinois, introduced in the House a resolution which he said "was intended to clear the atmosphere surrounding the oil scandals which would surely destroy confidence in our present form of government unless counteracted."

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the Veterans' Bureau Committee, had a conference with President Coolidge, presumably to discuss the grave charges contained in the grand jury report, but he declined to discuss the matter.

The committee met in the afternoon and decided to seek further information concerning the statements contained in the grand jury report. It was desirous of learning which of the charges applied particularly to affairs in the Veterans' Bureau and which related to other departments of the government. To obtain such information, a message was dispatched to the Federal

CLOSED SHOP REJECTED

Belasco Calls in All Shows

Producer Declares Equity's Rules Make Operation Impossible

Many Road Companies Are Affected, Including David Warfield's

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—A statement issued today by David Belasco declares that the producer has "decided to close" all his productions on tour and at the Belasco Theater in New York because he can no longer accept the principles of the closed shop as applied by the Actors' Equity Association.

"Laugh, Clown, Laugh," now at the Belasco, will end its engagement here March 22, but will continue "on tour" until June 1. The Belasco Theater declares Mr. Belasco will then be dark unless he decides to allow an outside attraction to come in.

"The Other Rose" will close soon and David Warfield will end his tour in "The Merchant of Venice" early in May. Lenore Ulric in "Kiki" will end her tour in May, instead of continuing until July, as had been planned. Miss Ulric will go to Europe.

Mr. Belasco's contemplated action, of course, is being taken as a result of the Equity shop demand on the part of the Actors' Equity Association. The present contract between the Equity and the Managers' Producing Association expires June 1.

Mr. Belasco, commenting on the situation, said:

"After long deliberation and with deep regret I have come to the decision that I cannot do justice to my theater, the public, or myself by working under the conditions imposed by the closed shop."

Frank Gilmore, executive secretary of the Equity, said:

"I wish Mr. Belasco had not been disingenuous by constantly referring to Equity's plan as 'closed shop.' Can anything be called a closed shop which guarantees to keep its doors open to all, which does not interfere in wages, which does not limit the hours of employment and which provides for a long list of exempted players?

"I should hate to think Mr. Belasco would definitely leave the theater and, indeed, I cannot believe anything of the kind will happen."

MORE RAIN FALLS IN COUNTY

Showers Continue at Several Points, Upsetting Prediction of Weather Man

Despite the fact that official forecasts were for fair weather last night following the storm of Saturday and Sunday nights, rain was reported from several Southern California points late last night. Sections of San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties were visited by showers and it was reported that indications pointed to an all-night storm in these localities.

Rainfall during Saturday and Sunday nights was general throughout Southern California with the exception of the Imperial Valley. Nearly two inches of rain was averaged for the two nights.

Continuation of the storm last night upset the weather man's dope bucket. He announced yesterday afternoon that the area of low pressure which broke the long drought in the Southland had moved over into Colorado out of the zone of local influence and that no further rain could be expected for the time being.

Heaviest precipitation for the storm in the immediate district was reported by Mt. Wilson, where 2.38 inches were recorded. Total rainfall in Los Angeles was .81 of an inch, of which .43 fell during a storm which began about 11 o'clock Sunday night and continued until yesterday morning. The total for the season in the city now is 2.63 inches, as compared to 7.36 inches at this date last year.

SNOWFALL SATISFYING

A feature of the storm that caused great satisfaction among farmers, ranchers and power and water interests was heavy snowfall in various mountain ranges. Pine Flat, in the Kings Canyon country, reported 18 inches of snow, and a power plant in the High Sierras, 14 inches.

DAM PROJECT IS URGED IN HOUSE

Congressman Lineberger is Advocate in Plea

Utahan Bores Into Matter in Booster Literature

Imperial Valley Man Lends Aid to Measure

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Congressman Lineberger today made a plea for the passage of the Swing bill for a dam at Boulder Canyon on account of the shortage of water supply in Long Beach and Los Angeles. When asked on cross-examination how much he thought California's Imperial Valley could repay each year for the cost of construction Congressman Lineberger replied that he thought it could all be paid off in forty or fifty years.

Congressman Hayden suggested to the witness that one of the reasons for the failure to solve the Colorado River problem had been the determination to build a dam at Boulder Canyon, whereas many of those having a legal interest in the waters of the Colorado insisted that the dam should be built much farther up the river. Congressman Swing interrupted at this point and insisted that the United States government had selected the dam site simply because the new deposed but then chief engineer of the reclamation service of the United States, A. P. Davis, made a rambling report recommending Boulder Canyon.

UTAHAN INQUIRIES

Congressman Lineberger said he had never heard or seen circulars issued or statements made to prospective real estate investors in Los Angeles and Long Beach in which the statement was made that these cities had enough water available for 5,000,000 people and water potentialities for at least 10,000,000 when it was all developed. This question was asked by Congressman Leatherwood of Utah, who has taken tremendous interest in getting all the facts about the all-American canal bill before the committee.

Sherman O. Buck, who claimed to represent several hundred members of the Imperial Valley Farm Bureau, was for the bill and declared that people in the Imperial Valley lived in the shadow of mysterious terror made up of three factors—danger from flood, danger from silt and danger from Mexican complications across the border. He said that he had forty acres in the valley which he secured in 1912 at $132 an acre and that he was certain he could not now get that for the forty-acre tract if sold at forced sale.

SAN DIEGAN HEARD

Mayor Bacon of San Diego favored the bill, he said, because he wanted to insure the future water supply for San Diego. He said that San Diego had a five-year water supply in storage, but that the city was getting a new water report prepared by John R. Freeman at a cost of $30,000 and expected to ask the people of San Diego to vote $3,500,000 to make the Freeman project a reality.

Hearings will be held on call of the chairman, Wednesday being the next tentative date.

Archbishop Will Contest Church Issue in Russia

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, March 3.—The church All Synod today announced that Archbishop Meletios Metaxakis, former patriarch of the Greek Orthodox Church in Constantinople, has accepted the invitation of the new church council to come to Moscow. He will leave Constantinople in the near future.

Archbishop Metaxakis was invited to proceed to Moscow from Constantinople some weeks ago after the new church council had been unable to reach an agreement with the Most Rev. Dr. Tikhon, former patriarch of All Russia. It was declared that the archbishop would reach Moscow soon to contest with Dr. Tikhon for the support of the Russian church.

NEW SCANDAL HITS CONGRESS

authorities in Chicago and Chairman Reed arranged a conference with John W. H. Crim, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of the prosecutions in the Veterans' Bureau, who arrived in the city during the day.

WOULD PUSH INQUIRY

The committee will meet again tomorrow to consider the course of procedure. Members expressed a desire to reopen the investigation immediately unless it was shown that the charges contained in the grand jury report should more properly be considered by the committee appointed to investigate Daugherty and the Department of Justice. Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, said he thought the committee should make the most thorough investigation of the charges.

The charges contained in the grand jury report, particularly those relating to the members of Congress, caused some surprise to members of the committee who said that there had been nothing of this character in the evidence they had received. Gen. John D. O'Ryan, who acted as counsel for the committee during the hearings, also said he had never heard of vidence involving members of Congress.

BURNS SUMMONED

William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, has been summoned before the Senate Oil Committee and may be placed on the stand tomorrow to explain the use of Department of Justice code in secret messages tipping off McLean as to the movements of the investigating committee. He will be asked concerning McLean's connection with the department as a "dollar-a-year" cerative. Mrs. Mary Duckstein, former private secretary to Burns and now an operative in the Department of Justice, is also to be called to the stand to tell about the message signed "Mary" which was sent to her husband, W. O. Duckstein, one of McLean's confidential agents. McLean himself, who is under subpoena, probably will not be called to the stand until the end of the week.

Senator Wheeler today read to the Senate some letters to indicate the manner in which some persons were endeavoring to besmirch the character of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, the chief prosecutor in the oil inquiry.

SOUGHT LIGHT ON WALSH

One of the letters was from Fred R. Marvin, editor of the "Searchlight Department" of the New York Commercial, to E. C. Shields of Billings, Mont. Marvin wanted some "dope," he said, on Walsh's affiliations with the radicals. Shields replied that he could give him none because there was none.

"None of the 'isms' of Montana had touched Walsh," Shields wrote. "You can bet your hat he is like the granite of our hills."

After the preliminary meeting of the Daugherty investigating committee Senator Wheeler set to work on the task of arranging the evidence for presentation to the committee. For several weeks he has been accumulating evidence and he will ask the committee to supbpoena a large number of witnesses. It is probable that hearings will not start for about a week. Mr. Daugherty will be asked to appear and make any statement he wishes, but he will also be requested to submit to cross-examination by members of the committee.

ASKS 23 QUESTIONS

Representative Brittens's resolution contains a series of twenty-three questions, the answers to which, he said, would "clarify the atmosphere."

"The hearings before the Committee on Naval Affairs," said Britten, "have convinced me that both Secretary Daniels and Secretary Denby were headed in the same direction for the protection of navy oil, and the fact that Daniels and John Barton Payne, then Secretary of the Interior, leased without public advertisement the drilling of new wells in the naval reserves is the best evidence that this was than considered the only method of conservation."

The resolution was referred to the Naval Affairs Committee and, if adopted, will be answered by Secretary of the Navy Denby.

DANIELS'S REQUEST

The questions propounded were as follows:

"Is it a fact that the then Secretary of the Navy, the Hon. Josephus Daniels, sent similar letters to the chairmen of the committees on naval affairs of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, dated respectively, March 29, 1920, and March 8, 1920, stating:

"'(a) It therefore becomes imperative when viewed from an economic standpoint that machinery be provided whereby wells may be drilled for protection against drainage from adjacent lands, or to supply oil for the government's need.

"'(b) And that excess oil from protective wells may be sold or storage provided for excess oil if considered advisable.'

"Is it a fact that in the above-referred-to letters dated March 5, 1920, and March 29, 1920, Secretary Daniels suggested legislation as follows:

"'That the Secretary of the Navy is directed to take possession of all properties within the naval petroleum reserves as are or may become vested in the United States: to conserve, develop, use and operate the same in his discretion, directly or by contract, lease or otherwise, and to use, store, exchange, refine, sell or otherwise dispose of the oil and gas products thereof and those from all royalty oil for the benefit of the United States.'

ENACTED INTO LAW

"Is it a fact that language practically as suggested by these two letters was enacted into law on June 4, 1920?

"Is it a fact that had it been the policy of Secretary Daniels at the time these letters were written to retain the oil in the naval petroleum reserves in the ground, no legislation of this character was necessary?

"Is it a fact that Secretary Daniels approved the leasing without public advertisement by the Hon. John Barton Payne, then Secretary of the Interior, and drilling of new wells on naval oil reserves?

"Is it a fact that it has been the practice for many years for one executive department to perform services for another executive department and that this practice has been recognized by the Congress in the Act of May 21, 1926, providing that the funds of one department for which the services are performed may be placed subject to the requisition of the department performing the service?

"Is it a fact that at the time the administration and conservation of the naval oil reserves were transferred to the Interior Department, that department had under lease or permit over 3,500,000 acres of public oil lands and has now under lease or permit over 17,500,000 acres of such land, while the total acreage of the naval oil reserves being operated is less than 52,000 acres?

OTHER BIDDERS

"Is is a fact that proposals from three companies were entertained for leasing the Teapot Dome reserve and that five companies were asked to bid on royalty oil from the California naval reserve?

"Is it a fact that the government received over $3,000,000 premium on its royalty oil from the Salt Creek district in 1923 as a result of the competition promoted by the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval reserve?

"Is it a fact that under its contract for the leasing of Teapot Dome naval reserve, the Navy received for the calendar year 1923, 41 cents more per barrel for its royalty oil than the selling price of all other producers in that district?

"Is it a fact that on the minimum production now anticipated the sum that will be received from the Teapot Dome naval reserve above the daily market price will exceed the cash bonuses received by the government from the sale of all Salt Creek leases?

"Is it a fact that royalties fixed in the Teapot Dome naval reserve lease exceed the ruling royalties for wells of the same size on other government leases in the same direction?

BONUS ON LEASE

"Is it a fact that the Navy received a large bonus for the lease in the California reserve in the form of high royalties, free storage for its royalty oil, free pipe-line transportation, advance supply of fuel oil in storage, option to purchase at a discount all petroleum products, construction of storage facilities without profit, etc.?

"Is it a fact that the average royalties so far accruing under the contract and lease of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company on naval oil reserve No. 1 in California amount to over 38.5 per cent as compared to 18.14 per cent received under the lease in reserve No. 2, where the royalties were established in accordance with the Leasing Act passed by Congress?

"Is it a fact that the leases and contracts on naval oil reserves Nos. 1, 2 and 3, with the Mammoth Oil Company and the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, provide that oil shall remain in the ground in these reserves in the only large area under naval jurisdiction not subject to drainage.

"Is it a fact that there is now in the ground more oil in the naval petroleum reserves than there would have been had the leases above referred to not been negotiated?

"Is it a fact that up to July 1, 1923, there had been turned into the treasury from royalties received from the naval oil reserves more than $5,000,000?"

OAKLAND, March 3.—Oregon and Washington have removed the ban on the shipment of baby chicks from the Petaluma section in the first move by outside States to relieve the pressure of their embargoes against California as a result of an outbreak of the foot and mouth disease here, it was announced today by State Board of Agriculture experts here. A committee representing the board is on its way to Arizona and other States to induce them, if possible, to modify or suspend their embargoes.

The California Development Association, with headquarters in San Francisco, today offered full co-operation in the stamping out of the epidemic.

The slaughter of infected cattle continued today on eleven ranches.

FINANCING OF TEAPOT EXPLAINED

Sinclair Consolidated Has Only Fourth of Stock in Mammoth, Says Head

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Harry F. Sinclair, chief owner of the Mammoth Oil Company, whose lease of the Teapot Dome oil reservation the government is investigating, today issued a statement to the stockholders of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, explaining the relationship and responsibility of other companies with which he is connected with regard to the government project.

The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, of which Mr. Sinclair is chairman, owns slightly more than 25 per cent of the stock of the Mammoth Company, he said, with a present market value of approximately $5,750,000. This is the equivalent, he explained, of $1.25 a share on the total number of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation common shares outstanding. The Consolidated corporation, he added, has not lent nor obligated itself to lend any money to the Mammoth Company.

The Sinclair Refining Company, Mr. Sinclair continued, has almost completed a storage installation for the Navy at Portsmouth, N. H., representing a total cost of less than $1,000,000, which cost is to be liquidated by proceeds from royalty oil accruing to the government through Mammoth Oil Company operations.

Pipe-line extensions, undertaken to transport oil from the government lease eastward, he said, would also be available to serve new fields which may be developed not only in Wyoming, but also in Montana, Colorado, Nebraska and the Dakotas. Half of the stock in Sinclair Pipe Line Company is owned by the Consolidated company and half by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, he said.

The Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company, also jointly owned by the Consolidated and the Indiana Standard Oil, has a contract to purchase all the government royalty oil in the Salt Creek field of Wyoming, but that contract, he asserted, is not connected in any way with the Mammoth Oil Company.

STATES LINE UP FOR COOLIDGE

though Senator Moses has announced his determination to vote for President Coolidge, he has declined to go as a pledged delegate. Former Gov. Spaulding is out against him for delegate-at-large on the slate to be voted at next week's primary.

In Idaho, the hopes of a group of conservatives led by Senator Gooding to retire Senator Borah appear to have fallen flat and talk of harmony comes from Boise. Senator Borah's consistent support of President Coolidge on domestic questions and the high esteem in which the Senator is held at the White House has taken the wind from the Gooding sails. The regulars could deny a convention indorsement for Borah, but they are not at all sure what would happen in the election if he ran as an independent. They feel they have trouble enough without starting a new row.

The expectation in Washington is that the Kansas convention will not launch the much heralded "favorite-son" boom to nominate Senator Arthur Capper as the Vice-Presidential running mate of President Coolidge. The junior Senator is said to have concluded that he would prefer to be renominated and re-elected to the Senate.

Adoption of "Progressive" platform principles not wholly in accord with the ideas and policies of President Coolidge would not prove a surprise in the Iowa convention owing to the influence of Senator Brookhart, Federal Judge Kenyon and others.

HAWAIIAN AMENDMENTS TO AID BILL PASSED

The measure now goes to the President.

EXPEL CALIPH FROM TURKEY

officials regarding what will be the effect of these drastic measures in India and other Mohammedan countries.

The British have been opposed unalterably to doing away with the Caliphate, because the spiritual jurisdiction of the Caliph extended, nominally at least, over Great Britain's 70,000,000 Moslem subjects in India. With a view to maintaining quietude among this vast multitude, the British government, it became known today, will let Turkey severely alone during the radical transitions which the country is experiencing.

CRITICISM COMING

Judging from the past, however, observers here expressed the belief today that it would be too much to expect that Great Britain will escape severe criticism for whatever happens to Allah's earthly representative.

The Indian agitators, among whom the Moslems under the leadership of the Ali brothers, are most aggressively radical, it is thought by the observers, will seize upon every development in Turkey as an additional grievance against British rule in India.

With former Sultan Mohammed VI in exile and Abdul Medjid Effendi, the Caliph, deposed, a new religious head for the Moslem world, it is thought, ultimately will be sought outside Turkey. The British government is said to be aware that King Hussein of the Hedjaz, who controls the sacred city of Mecca, desires to set himself up as Caliph of all the Mussulmans; but in competent quarters it was said today that it is unlikely, for political and other reasons, that Hussein will be selected.

Some persons favor the reinstatement of former Sultan Mohammed in power but it is said to be felt generally that his age and his feeble physical condition disqualify him.

LIVES IN SECLUSION

Mohammed is living in retirement in Switzerland with a young son and a small remnant of his old harem. The Ameer of Afghanistan, also has offered himself as a candidate for Caliph, but like Hussein, he is held, for political reasons, to be ineligible.

Every Moslem country feels it has a claim to the Ottoman throne, established more than 600 years ago by the house of Osman. But until something approaching unanimity on the question can be obtained from the various Mohammedan countries, it is believed the British government will take no steps toward advising the nomination of a successor to the deposed Caliph.

In the meantime some concern is being manifested in authoritative quarters here regarding the outcome of the abolition of the caliphate and of religious instruction in general on the peasants of Turkey, in whose lives religion always has played a very large part. Another interesting question concerns the ultimate disposition of the thousands of mosques scattered throughout Turkey. It is presumed some of them at least will be converted into schools, but since the Angora government has not nearly a sufficient number of teachers to equip them, it is thought likely that most of the mosques, like the churches in Russia, will become so much dead property.

PALACES PUZZLE

A further problem for the Angora government is what to do with the Caliph's six huge palaces, his large private property holdings, his 800 concubines and his multiple wives.

It is believed the women members of the harem, like those attached to the household of the old sultan, will be induced to return to Anatolia and marry farmers.

In American circles here there is much conjecture as to what effect the interdiction of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, president of Turkey, on religious teaching will have on the two American colleges and the scores of smaller foreign educational institutions in Turkey, many of which are religious in character.

Many of the students attending the American Girls' College in Constantinople are Turkish women, and it is feared by some of the American observers that the Angora government may attempt to have religion abolished from the curriculum even of the foreign educational institutions.

FURNISH REVENUE

Some Americans familiar with the situation, however, believe the American colleges are too valuable a source of revenue to the Turkish exchequer to warrant the Angora government forbidding them to teach religion. Another factor in favor of the two American colleges is their widespread influence in promoting Turkish education and progress in general. The American Girls' College has been a potent influence in the emancipation of Turkish women, including Mrs. Halide Hanoum, whom is Minister of Education.

Mustapha Kemel Pasha's wife, and a large number of other influential Turkish women, are graduates of the institution.

BELASCO CALLS IN ROAD SHOWS

Announcement by David Belasco that he intended to halt his road companies and darken his New York theater because of his "closed-shop" convictions, came as a surprise to David Warfield, Belasco star, who will not be given a new contract, according to the New York announcement.

"I am particularly surprised because I am not affiliated with the Actors' Equity Association," Warfield said. "While I sympathize with the efforts of the actors to gain all the recognition they honestly believe due them, I have engaged in no controversies on the matter. I understand that Mr. Belasco himself was one of the first to favor the payment of actors for rehearsals, so his move today surprises district nearly every community got more than a half-inch of rain. In San Pedro there was .51 of an inch; in Santa Monica, .62; in Eagle Rock, 1.05; in Glendale, 1.76, and at La Crescenta, 1.90. Pasadena reported 1.53 inches, and Sierra Madre 1.70.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Secretary Work today authorized the sale by competitive bidding of 300,000,000 feet of ripe timber located on 20,000 acres of land in the Makah Indian Reservation in Washington State. The money will be placed to the credit of the Makah Tribe.

Toward the north and in counties south of Los Angeles precipitation was rather less than around this county. Fresno, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties reported a fairly heavy fall during Sunday night, but in Porterville and other Tulare county districts but little rain fell.

Imperial Valley, which has had no rain this year, was expecting showers last night. Cloudy weather had prevailed there Monday and it was reported late in the evening that all indications pointed to rain during the night.

"Live stock and dairy farms, hay and grain fields and truck gardens benefited greatly from the rain," County Farm Advisor Hodgson declared yesterday. "Ground has been placed in fair condition for plowing in many localities, for the planting of bean and sugar-beet crops. One or two more good storms like it would assure bumper crops in these products.

"About three times as much rain is needed within the next few weeks to make conditions good, but farmers have every reason to rejoice as things stand now."

DOWNPOUR ENDED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Fair weather has succeeded the week-end storm and bright skies have followed California's $1,000,000 rain. The downpour, which ended early this morning, covered almost the entire State, with the exception of portions of the San Joaquin Valley. San Francisco received 1.3 inches, while the heaviest precipitation was at San Luis Obispo, where 1.78 inches of rain fell. Other places where more than an inch was reported were: Orland, 1.23 inches; Paso Robles, 1.09 inches; Pomona, 1.04 inches, and Santa Rosa, 1.36 inches.

The storm has moved eastward to the Rocky Mountain region, said Forecaster G. H. Willson of the Weather Bureau today, while an area of high pressure is moving inland over Oregon. These conditions have caused cloudy weather over the western portion of the country, with rain in California and Oregon and rain or snow in the plateau and Southern Rocky Mountain States.

"Reports received here today," said Willson, "from all over the State are that the rain did untold good, even though it was not as heavy in some districts as had been hoped for. While Berkeley got almost one and three-quarter inches, just back of the Berkeley hills in Contra Costa county there was only a slight shower Sunday afternoon. Grain and pasture have been helped greatly, but orchards need much more moisture, as do the hydroelectric and irrigation reservoirs."

The rainfall figures for the twenty-four hours ended at 5 p.m. today follow:

RAINMAKER DEALT BLOW BY ELEMENTS

HATFIELD'S PROPOSAL TO CAUSE DOWNPOUR IS REJECTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 3. The proposal that Charles M. Hatfield be employed to produce rain in the San Bernardino Valley at a fee of $1000 an inch was rejected today by the Board of Supervisors. The elements hit Hatfield's proposal a knockout blow.

A week ago the Supervisors instructed E. F. Vanluven, prominent citrus fruit grower, to ask Hatfield for a price on rain and had it not rained nearly an inch Sunday the rainmaker might have been given an opportunity to demonstrate his ability.

In a terse telegram reading, "We have postponed for further consideration your rain proposition," the Supervisors rejected Hatfield's proposition, for the present at least. The Supervisors were agreed, however, that should another drought occur negotiations might be resumed.

Mr. Vanluven, representing a score of leading ranchers, agreed that the elements had largely revised the Hatfield situation. Hundreds of ranchers throughout the county were reported to have favored the acceptance of the Hatfield proposal of five inches of rain for $5000 or no rain, no pay.

TAX MEASURE BEFORE SENATE

Committee Will Strive to Boost Revenue

Plans Increase of Rate on Normal Incomes

Smoot Assures Passage at Present Session

BY GRAFTON WILCOX
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Senate Finance Committee which must now wrestle with the tax-reduction bill may make an effort to increase the revenue in order to make the bill square with the estimated surplus for 1925.

Many Treasury officials estimate that the bill as passed by the House will mean a loss in revenue of $446,000,000 during 1925, and administration leaders hope that this deficit can be made up before the bill is enacted into law.

To secure this increase revenue several suggestions are being considered by the finance committee.

WOULD RAISE NORMAL TAX

Among them are that the normal income taxes be increased from the House rates to the level of the Mellon plan or that a 1 per cent surtax rate be restored to incomes from $6000 to $10,000, in the House bill the surtax rates begin at $10,000 with a rate of 1½ per cent up to $12,000. It is estimated that $50,000,000 additional revenue could be raised with these changes.

The Treasury estimates, which were prepared for the information of the Senate Finance Committee, show that the bill as passed will cause a loss of $120,000,000 from normal tax rates, $150,000,000 from surtax rates, $90,000,000 from estate income and $126,000,000 from the repeal and reduction of miscellaneous excise taxes. Against these losses is an estimated gain of $40,000,000 from a limitation of deductions for capital losses.

ESTIMATES DISPUTED

According to the Treasury estimates, the original Mellon plan would have meant a loss in revenue of $323,000,000, while the bill as reported from the House Ways and Means Committee would have meant a loss of about $340,000,000. The Garner plan was estimated to cause a loss of $559,000,000 for the calendar year 1925. The figures are disputed in some quarters, where it is contended that allowances made for the effect of low or high surtax rates are not fully justified.

Consideration of the tax bill will be commenced by the Senate Finance Committee on Thursday, Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the committee, announced today. He said the committee will hold legislative sessions but that such hearings as may prove will be sandwiched in from time to time. The committee, he said, does not desire to duplicate the hearings of the House Ways and Means Committee and these will be called only in connection with provisions of the House bill, over which there is a controversy.

Representatives of the industries taxed by the various excise taxes repealed in the House bill will not be heard except in cases where it is proposed to restore a tax. It is doubted, however, if any of the miscellaneous taxes repealed in the House bill are put back. Senator Smoot believes the committee will conclude consideration of the bill within three weeks and that enactment of a tax law at this session is assured.

While Senator Smoot personally favors a surtax minimum below 37½ per cent as provided in the House bill it is the understanding that he feels that there is little chance of reducing it, either in the Finance Committee or in the Senate. There is a belief among the Republican leaders that it will be possible to prevent an increase above 37½ per cent and that the radical Republicans and Democrats will devote their energies to other amendments such as the restoration of the excess profits tax, a tax on undistributed earnings of corporations and full publicity of tax returns.

Regular Republicans on the Finance Committee such as Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, favor reporting a bill which has a chance of passing rather than adopting the rates of the Mellon plan when it is known that these rates would be rejected on the floor of the Senate.

NO CHANGE OF POLICY IN EMERGENCY FLEET

NEW TERMS ADVERTISEMENT EXPLAINED BY HEAD OF CORPORATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Recent advertisement by the Emergency Fleet Corporation of new terms and conditions under which it would dispose of the government's merchant fleet signified no change in policy and was merely an act to comply with the law, Leigh C. Palmer, president of the corporation, declared today in a statement. He desired to emphasize this fact, Mr. Palmer said, in view of apparent misinterpretation both in this country and abroad.

While the fleet corporation is willing to sell its ships to private operators, Mr. Palmer explained, it is the determined policy that "American ships must be maintained in permanent passenger and freight service whether operated by government or private capital."

PRICES ON DRIED APRICOTS INCREASE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN JOSE, March 3.—Announcement of increases in the prices of dried apricots was announced today by the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association. The increases, to go into effect tomorrow are: Choice, ½ cent per pound; extra choice, 1 cent per pound; fancy, 1 cent per pound. CALIFORNIAN TO CONDUCT LEASE CASE

Samuel Knight Picked by President to Act in Suit Against Standard Oil

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Coolidge today selected Samuel Knight of San Francisco as special counsel to represent the government in the court actions to be brought in an effort to recover to the government Sections 16 and 36 in the Elk Hills naval reserve in California now operated by the Standard Oil Company of California.

Mr. Knight is a prominent attorney in California, especially learned in land law, and his selection was recommended to the President by Senator Shortridge, Republican, California. His nomination probably will be sent to the Senate tomorrow.

Special counsel in the Doheny and Sinclair oil leases went forward today with their preparations for court actions looking to recovery of the California and Wyoming reserves. They continued preparation of bills of complaint upon which will be predicated motions for annullment of the leases and the stoppage of the extraction of oil from the reserves.

"I have not been officially notified of my appointment but nothing would stand in the way of my accepting it," Knight said today.

Knight has practiced law here for approximately twenty-five years. He is a former Assistant United States District Attorney, and was co-counsel with U. S. Dist. Judge John S. Partridge in a number of important cases in California.

PACIFIC FLEET IN NEW YORK

Admiral Coontz, Ships and Men, Visit Old Base After More Than Four Years' Absence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—After an absence of four and a half years from eastern waters, the United States Pacific Battle Fleet, with Admiral Coontz in command, and with 11,000 gobs ready for the liberty of the port for ten days, steamed into New York Harbor today and dropped anchor in the Hudson River.

Ten battleships, among them three of the latest and most powerful of the Navy, and the cruiser Seattle, Admiral Coontz's flagship, made up the fleet that steamed up the bay this morning and revived war-time memories.

NEVADA TAKES LEAD

Led by the Nevada as they passed the Statue of Liberty and the Battery and headed for their anchorages in the Hudson, from Eighty-second to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, the Texas, New York, Mississippi, Idaho, Arizona, California, New Mexico, Tennessee, Maryland and the cruiser Seattle followed in the order named.

No salutes were given the fleet by Fort Hamilton and Fort Wadsworth in the narrows or from Governor's Island. At Governor's Island it was explained that no salutes were fired because of the fact that the fleet passed the island so rapidly and had on board so many admirals that the exchange of salutes was an impossibility.

At the fort it was said that they had not been informed officially of the arrival of the fleet. The only salutes received by the fleet came from the police boat Macom, which sounded a siren three times for each of the battleships and for the Seattle, and from the tugs in the harbor and North River.

BAND GIVES WELCOME

As the fleet passed Pier A at the Battery a seventy-five piece band from the department of street cleaning, under leadership of James J. Cunningham, played "The Star Spangled Banner."

This afternoon the police boat Macom took Acting Mayor Murray Hulbert, Rear-Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, commander of this naval district; Capt. James D. Wainwright and Maj.-Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, commanding at Governor's Island, to the flagship of the fleet.

The battleship Arkansas, it was announced today, will arrive tomorrow to go to Brooklyn navy yard for repairs. Four mine sweepers which are due Wednesday will join the fleet at its anchorage.

It is the first visit of the California to New York. Other battleships of particulah interest are the Tennessee, commissioned last year, and the Maryland, which is even younger. The last named is equipped with sixteen-inch guns, one of the three dreadnaughts in the Navy so equipped.

Preparations have been made by the Mayor's committee for making the ten-day stay of the officers and 11,000 men of the fleet a memorable one. The fleet was met off the Statue of Liberty this morning by the Macom with Grover Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures and vice-chairman of the committee, on board.

GOOD TIME FOR GOBS

Special attention has been paid to the preparation of the half-dozen armories and naval-reserve barracks which will provide sleeping quarters for 2000 of the gobs who will have daily shore leave. The National Navy Club and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club reported that an added complement had been mustered out for the entertainment of the gobs at both places.

Private automobiles and other attractions have been placed at the disposal of the visitors. An attempt will be made to rival the war-time hospitality of the city.

DRIVE WILL BE RENEWED ON QUACKS

Physicians at Congress in Chicago to Act Against "Diploma Mills"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 3.—Renewal of warfare on quack doctors turned out through "diploma mills," will, according to advance notices, be declared during the annual congress on medical education, public health and hospitals, which opened today at the Congress Hotel for a three days' session. Many leading doctors of the country are in attendance.

"The conference, under auspices of the American Medical Association, is important this year," reads an announcement, "because of the public interest in medical education aroused by the facts recently brought out concerning the sale of medical diplomas and irregularities in State licensing boards.

"Tuesday's session will be devoted particularly to the problem of protecting the public against incompetent physicians. Dr. Stanley S. Osburn, State health commissioner of Connecticut, will be the chief speaker on this topic."

LONG-DISTANCE CALLS NOT BARRED BY EDICT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 3.—The Arizona Corporation Commission refuses to order the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company to refuse long-distance calls over certain phones. The request was made by the Odd Fellows lodge of Phoenix, with the statement that the lodge phone had been used by unauthorized individuals, who charged to the lodge many expensive calls. The question was submitted last May. It was declared by the commission that the subscriber is responsible for calls over his instrument and that it would place on the Phoenix office too large a burden to check long-distance calls from one of the 8400 instruments operated. Suggestion was made that coin boxes be installed in places where proper oversight may not be maintained.

FILM SHOWS HEARTBEAT OF ANIMALS

Motion Pictures Reveal Effect of Drugs; More Tests Planned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ITHACA (N. Y.) March 3.—Motion pictures of heartbeats of turtle and other animals have been successfully made by Benton H. MacMillan, chief mechanician of the laboratories of the Cornell medical college here. The camera also shows the effects of drugs on the heart. Some of the more recent experiences on glands and the reasoning power of animals, the importance of the thyroid glands, the results obtained by injecting coidine in animals from which the thyroid have been removed, have also been graphically portrayed. He has succeeded in making some extremely difficult pictures depicting systole of the heart of a turtle taken at a range of five inches.

MacMillan gained his idea from photographic reproduction of vital organs during a visit to Scotland last summer when he witnessed the showing of pictures of blood circulation in the lower animals. On his return to Ithaca he undertook some experiments, using the portable moving-picture equipment possessed by the college. The close range views which Mr. MacMillan has made of heartbeats in a turtle have proved decidedly successful and will lead to further experiments, probably picturing other phases of blood circulation.

No Cause Seen for Explosion in New Jersey

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW BRUNSWICK (N. J.) March 3.—Investigation into the causes of Saturday's explosion at Nixon, four miles from here, which killed eighteen persons and destroyed forty-six buildings, has as yet revealed no chemical expert who can account for ammonium-nitrate causing all the damage of the explosion, Assistant Prosecutor John E. Toolan of Middlesex county said tonight.

Mr. Toolan said all the experts whom he had questioned since Saturday had been unanimous in stating that ammonium-nitrate is not dangerous.

My Mother told me

Kept close at hand by three generations as a safe guard for health, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has earned the confidence of thousands of people. "Tried and found true" is as true of this cough remedy as it is of the finest of old family physicians; its enormous patronage is largely due to the fact that it is recommended by friend to friend—and by generation to generation. These people know that it is pleasant to take and brings quick relief.

Dear Sirs: Pomona, California.

I am very well pleased with the wonderful result and relief that Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has brought me. I was bothered with coughing, and my mother told me about your wonderful medicine so I decided to give it a trial. I have tried many other medicines but none are as good and relieving as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I have told my friends and they say there is nothing better. Sincerely, (Signed) E. Boggess.

FARM RELIEF BILL OPPOSED

Measure Bitterly Fought in Senate

Loan Declared Paternalism Run Rampant

Amendment Called Plan to Save "Busted Banks"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Strenuous opposition today greeted the appearance in the Senate of the first special farm relief measure—the Norbeck-Burtness bill, proposing the loan of $75,000,000 to finance diversification. Declaring it was "paternalism run rampant" Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, said it was time to call a halt upon such measures.

"We are proposing to lend this money," he said, "for the purpose of enabling the one-crop farmer to keep live stock on land never adaptable for grazing; or to raise other crops where the land will not produce but one. We have already gone the limit along this line."

Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, replied that every other class in the United States has been aided either by the tariff or through direct or indirect subsidy. Several amendments already have been proposed to the bill, which would increase the amount carried to $105,000,000. Among them is a provision offered by Senator Bursom, Republican, New Mexico, which would add $20,000,000 for loans to banks in the Northwest. Senator Fletcher said the purpose of this was "to bolster busted banks."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Mrs. Beverly D. Harris went on the witness stand late this afternoon as defendant in the annulment suit brought against her by her husband, former vice-president of the National City Bank, which has been on trial before Justice Wasservogel and a jury since last Tuesday.

Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris said the first that she could remember she was living with her Aunt Alice, wife of her uncle, Frank Harris.

MOTHER'S NAME

"My mother was Saluda Ann Harris Lee," said Mrs. Harris.

"The first I remember seeing Mr. Eli Raynor," she continued, "was in 1905."

She described in detail living with her sister, Mrs. Corder, and later of going to Rose Briar School in Pasadena, Cal., kept by Mrs. Wilmont. She said that in 1910 she went to Honolulu with Mrs. Wilmont and another girl pupil of the school during vacation.

"What," asked George Gordon Battle, counsel for Mrs. Harris, "did you tell Mr. Harris regarding your relations with Eli Raynor?"

"Harris knew that Raynor was not my uncle," replied Mrs. Harris. "I told him I had reason to believe that Raynor was my father."

"What did he tell you regarding love children?" was the next question.

LOVE CHILDREN

"Mr. Harris told me that love children invariably turned out good children," said the witness. "He told me Alexander Hamilton was a love child."

In the latter part of 1910 Mr. Raynor came out to Los Angeles and took me back to Memphis, where she was turned over to her married sister, Mrs. Corder.

Mrs. Harris corroborated Mrs. Corder in all her testimony about stopping with her sisters at the apartment of "Uncle" Eli Raynor in Memphis.

Mrs. Rosha Lee Corner, sister of Mrs. Harris, testified this afternoon that Eli Raynor was the father of Mrs. Harris.

"Who is the father of your sister Elaine?" Mr. Battle asked the witness.

MOTHER TOLD PATERNITY

"Eli Raynor, according to my mother," was the reply. "She told me that a short time before she died. My uncle, Frank, was there. Mother called us together and said: 'I want you all to know that Eli Raynor is the father of Elaine.'"

The plaintiff had made no charge of illegitimacy against Mrs. Harris. Counsel assumed that if she were born, soon after her father died she would be about 38 years old now. It was counsel for Mrs. Harris who intimated that she was born out of wedlock and that Eli Raynor, the noted Memphis gambler who posed as her uncle, was in reality her father.

LUDENDORFF TRIAL IS JOKE

Secret Examination of Von Kahr and Von Lossow Make It Farce That Was Predicted

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, March 3.—With the decision of the court in Munich, Bavaria, to hear the testimony of ex-Dictator Von Kahr and Gen. Von Lossow, below closed doors, the Hitler-Ludendorff trial becomes the sheer farce predicted from the beginning.

Despite the efforts of the Bavarian magistracy, the Bavarian government and the Bavarian people's party to hush up the entire affair enough has been said to show that von Kahr and von Lossow were guilty of high treason.

Whether Gen. Ludendorff, Adolph Hitler and the other men on trial can actually force the Bavarians to indict von Kahr and von Lossow is problematical, but both are so totally discredited that it does not really matter.

Somewhat different is the situation of Hitler and Ludendorff. They hoped through the trial first to discredit von Kahr and von Lossow and then to aid the cause of fascism in the coming elections.

Ludendorff, however, given enough rope, has, in the opinion of many, hanged himself. His crudely expressed militaristic intention of riding rough shod over all his adversaries and his attacks on the Jews have disgusted the more democratic people, who note with amusement that the general's wife is a Jewess.

Ludendorff's attacks on Catholicism, particularly on the Pope and papal nuncio, Monsignor Pacilli, have estranged the Catholics, who previously constituted a strong wing of the reactionary movement. His lack of constructive program has become evident to all but the fanatics of the radical party.

Pseudo Casting Director Admits Check Charges

Admitting, the police say, a daily check-passing campaign while posing as a casting director for a film concern out of business, H. B. Arnold, 29 years of age, of 457½ West Thirty-seventh street, was being held yesterday at the University Jail while the police were investigating. He was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Nash and McDowell of the University Division at an auto rental station on South Flower street to which he had been trailed by means of an automobile he had rented, the police said.

Although Arnold is said to have declared he didn't know how many checks he had passed four women who rent rooms in the University district identified him as the one who had victimized them for amounts ranging from $6 to $17.10. The complainants are: Mrs. Patricia Brown, 829 West Thirty-seventh street; Mrs. M. H. Sublett, 232 West Fifty-fifth street; Miss May Sullivan, 1412 South Figueroa street, and Mrs. A. B. Clifton, 435 West Thirty-third street.

The prisoner is declared to have told police he recently left jail after having served a term for failure to support his wife. The University police are making an effort to trace all the checks that are declared to have been passed.

Girl Garbed as Boy Discovered Roaming in City

Dressed in boy's clothing and unable to give her name or address, Virginia Briley, 16 years of age, of 710 Freeman avenue, Hawthorne, was found wandering at Manchester avenue and Lennox street early yesterday.

The girl haled an automobile driven by L. H. Simon of 406 West Florence avenue, and was taken by him to University Police Station, according to the police report. Simon said he thought that police investigation should be made when he saw the "boy" who had asked for a ride was a girl.

At the Juvenile Bureau where the girl was taken by Patrolman Deardorff, it was suggested she had probably suffered a lapse of memory. Her parents were located through papers found on her and they took her home.

SEVENTH BANKER HELD

Another Montanan Arrested Here as Fugitive from Justice

H. J. Skinner, former owner of State banks at Belt and at Stocket, Mont., was arrested yesterday as a fugitive by Deputy Sheriffs Collins and Blaisdel. It is said he is charged in Montana with grand larceny and embezzlement, and he is the seventh Montana banker to be arrested here in a few weeks.

Skinner said he had sold all his Montana interests to J. Lockhart and that both banks were in good shape at that time. Lockhart was arrested here Sunday by the same officers.

CAL. BEAR AND THE WASHINGTON HUSKY BATTLE TONIGHT AT OAKLAND FOR THE P.C. CONFERENCE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 4, 1924.

JIMMY DARCY IS KNOCKED OUT BY PAUL BERLENBACH IN THIRD ROUND

REFEREE HALTS UNEVEN BATTLE

Floored Five Times by 'Pop 'Em Paul"

Berlenbach Shows Crushing Power in Attack

Oakland Scrapper Suffers Initial Knockout

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Paul Berlenbach, hitting with crushing power than ever, and his twenty-third consecutive knockout tonight when he stopped Jimmy Darcy of Oakland, Or., in three rounds at the Broadway Exhibition Arena in Brooklyn. The bout will go into the records as a technical one, as Darcy was not actually knocked out. Referee Jack Sullivan stopped the fight after the western middleweight had been floored five times.

The end came after one minute and fifteen seconds of fighting in the third round. Then the referee stepped across the fallen figure and waved Berlenbach to his corner, the big battler was all set to launch another devastating assault that would certainly have wafted the Darcy into oblivion. Darcy was helped to his corner and was still reeling when Dan Morgan, his manager, led him to the scene of the slaughter. Darcy said it was the first time that he had ever been knocked out. The fight was no one-sided that fans began shouting to Referee Sullivan to stop it early in the fourth round. They continued to shout "Stop it! Stop it!" throughout one minute and sixteen seconds of the third. It was not until a terrific left uppercut had put Darcy half way through the ring in this round that O'Sullivan interfered.

Berlenbach weighed 166 and Darcy 165. Both men appeared to be in fine condition. They were scheduled to go twelve rounds.

Chicago Has a Polo Team of the Fair Sex

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 3.—Polo, sport of Army cavalry men and hitherto strictly a he-man's game, is so no longer. A woman's polo team has just been organized by women riders of the Spur and Saddle Club. There are now two women that play on a man's team in California and one or two girls' colleges in the East have polo teams, but with these exceptions the game has been exclusively a sport for men who did not fear an occasional broken arm, leg or fractured neck and skull.

Six girls, all young but who have been riding all their lives are members of the teams organized here and until the weather becomes milder, they will play every Tuesday and Friday nights in the great indoor arena of the Spur and Saddle Club. The covered ring makes the game harder and much more hazardous than when played in the open.

PUGS IN PORTLAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 3.—Abe Matin has arrived in Portland from New York with two youngsters from the Gotham squared-circle. Marty Summers, 147 pounder, is one, and Tedy Seidman, 124 pounds, is the other.

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER W.M.H.

They ought to hold the Olympic games at more frequent intervals if each Olympic is going to increase the performances of our Southern California college athletes as this year has. There has never been a season in which the performances have been so uniformly fine at this stage of the game as they have this year. There have been performances made in February that weren't equaled at the height of last season. Apparently all that our local hopes require is a little something to stir them along, and arouse their ambition, and they get right out and show a lot of class.

Just take a slant at some of the records. Lloyd of U.S.C. leads with 9.9s in the hundred; fast enough for any league. The best official mark we've noted in the furlong is by Spangler of Occidental, at 22 2-5, although numerous athletes probably bettered that time in their relay laps at the Coliseum. Spangler also leads in the 440, with 51 2-5s., although several of the U.S.C. runners undoubtedly bettered that time at the Coliseum, as their average was 51 1-5s.

In the half-mile young Mr. Niersbach of U.S.C. has twice been credited with 1:59.5, which is faster than any time made last year. The best time in the mile goes to Carter of Occidental, with 4:34, made Saturday. The leading two-miler is Snyder of Pomona, with 10:15, very good time. Then in the hurdles there is Maxwell of Pomona, who practically tied Daggs in 15s flat for the high hurdles, and who did 24s. flat for the low barriers at Claremont. Grumbles of U.S.C. traveled the 440-yard low sticks in a fraction worse than 54s, which is likewise good in any league.

In the field events Houser of U.S.C. has put the shot 46 ft. in competition, and has thrown the discus 135 ft. Eaton of Pomona has heaved the javelin 175 ft. and Moyse of Caltech is said to have thrown the hammer 155 ft., but not in competition. Smith of San Diego J. C. has cleared well over 12 ft. in the pole vault. Frisbie of Pomona has broad jumped 22 ft. 6½ in.; Corey of U.S.C. has high jumped 6 ft. 1 in. Nothing wrong with any of those marks that we can see.

All of which brings us around to the fact that the long-awaited and much-discussed track meet between U.S.C. and Occidental will be held at Occidental next Saturday unless the rain ruins the track. This meet promises to see half a dozen of the above marks bettered, and certainly ought to provide some wonderful competition, although it

TROJANS FACE TIGER OUTFIT

Oxy and U.S.C. Teams Clash in Track Meet

Ancient Rivals Will Renew Feud Saturday

Charges of Dean Cromwell Favored to Win

For the first time since Achilles took Hector for a free ride behind his chariot around the walls of Troy some few decades ago, the University of Southern California and Occidental College track teams will renew their ancient feud on the cinderpath next Saturday afternoon at Patterson Field.

In the old days, when Los Angles was smalled than San Francisco, the U.S.C.-Oxy meet used to be the "creme de creme" of local cinderpath affairs. Then there came a period when the Trojans could not schedule a meet with the Tigers or when Oxy couldn't find an open date for a meet with U.S.C., and finally when a meet was scheduled, two years ago, rain busted in on the party. So the Tiger and Trojan tracksters who take part in Saturday's meet will be total strangers.

TROJANS FAVORITES

Dean Cromwell's Trojans are heavy favorites to toddle off with the majority of points in Saturday's fracas. The U.S.C. outfit has a flock of sprinters, hurdlers and weightmen that are expected to offset Joe Pipal's Tigers' advantage in the long-winded events.

However, a number of keenly contested events are expected to take place when the Tigers and Trojans do mingle. For instance, Percy Niersbach, star U.S.C. half-miler, who turned the two-lap event in under two minutes last Saturday, and Phil Ellsworth, Oxy middle-distance star, are expected to put up a whale of a battle in the 880. Montgomery and Morey of Oxy, and Smutz of the Trojans, are also good half-milers and it is possible that they will put on a terrible battle for the third place, or crowd out the favorites, which is not probable.

CARTER IS BOOSTED

Nick Carter, demon Oxy miler, will be forced to show just how fast he can go when he hooks up with Mike Elwood, the U.S.C. miler who has been showing quite a bit of speed lately. Oxy supporters claim that Carter will tear off the four laps in considerably under 4:30 this year if given competition and are hoping that Elwood will force the Oxy star to his limit.

The quarter should also provide a thrill or two to the spectators on hand. In Thurmond Clarke and Aden Hughes the Trojans have a pair of fleet-footed quarter-milers, while Morey and Tony Spangler of Oxy can negotiate the 440 in around 50 seconds, so there should be a wild scramble for places at the finish.

The Trojans are expected to make clean sweeps in the shot, discus and the high hurdles, as the Tigers are weak in these events and the Trojans extra strong. Occidental is conceded first place in the javelin, pole vault, mile and two-mile, while U.S.C. is favored to get most of the other firsts.

COAST LOOP FEUD REVIVED

Klepper Would Fight Sacs' Attempt to Play Blues in Stockton

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STOCKTON, March 3.—There was another outbreak of open warfare in the Coast League's big five vesus little three feud here today when President W. H. Klepper of the Portland club announced that he would fight Sacramento's attempt to play a Sunday morning exhibition game in Stockton against the Kansas City Blues, March 23.

Klepper, whose club opened a five-week training camp here today, says: "I am surprised that the Moreing brothers should even attempt to stage a game in Stockton while our club is training here. When the Moreings gave their permission to our using the local park they did so without reservations. Later they scheduled a game with Kansas City.

"The San Francisco club, which prepared the spring schedules for Kansas City and Pittsburg, insisted on hogging all the dates, although we endeavored to book both of those clubs. Therefore, I don't see where we owe San Francisco or Sacramento any favors."

Charlie Moreing, half-owner of the Sacramento Senators, replying to Klepper's statement today said that "Klepper will have to see us if he wants the game canceled." He added:

"Mr. Klepper is lucky to get those grounds at all and if the Kansas City game interferes with his date with the Cubs that's his misfortune. The Kansas City game will be played as scheduled."

OLYMPICS WORKING OUT

Fourteen members of the Olympic club in San Francisco have been practicing goal kicking three nights a week for the past three weeks was the information brought to Los Angeles yesterday for Charlie Keppon of the L. A. A. C.

The Olympic soccerites are coming to Los Angeles for a game with the Mercury athletes at the Los Angeles Coliseum next Sunday afternoon.

To improve their kicking the San Francisco athletes built a goal 20 by 8 feet next door to the Olympic Club and noticeable improvement in their accuracy has resulted. The regulation goal is 24 by 8 feet but the smaller one will make the regulation affair seem easier in a game.

OAKLAND SCENE OF CAGE SETTO

Over Six Thousand Spectators Are Expected Out

Second Game Will be Played Tomorrow Night

Both Quintets Are on Edge for Hard Struggle

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OAKLAND, March 3.—Earl Wight's California Bears and the Washington Huskies clash tomorrow night in the first of their three-game series for the Pacific Coast Conference basketball championship. A crowd of over 6000 is expected to cram its way into the Oakland auditorium, where the game will be played.

The Huskies, coached by Hec Edmundson, cleaned up the northern division of the conference, while the Bears won honors in the south. Edmundson, accompanied by nine players, arrived here for the series yesterday, and all of the Huskies are declared to be in top shape for their coming struggles with the Bears.

Coach Wight's Bears are also all set for the coming battles. Hap Houvinen's injured ankle having mended nicely, and it is likely that he will start tomorrow night. Capt. Johnny Talt, who was practically responsible for the Bears' victories over Stanford in the last two games, is being counted upon by California rooters to bring home the championship. Unless the Huskies can stop Talt it seems highly probable that the title will rest in Berkeley this season.

Hesketh, forward, and Anderson, center, are the Huskies' big stars. The other players to accompany the Washington cage squad south are Capt. Frayne, Welts, Gardner, Froude, Gundlach, Clarke and Hale.

The second game of the series will be played here Wednesday night, while the third game, if necessary, will take place in the auditorium Friday evening. The line-ups for tonight's game follow:

Washington		California
Frayne	F.	Talt
Hesketh	F.	Hawthorne
Anderson	C.	Higgins

QUAKERS AND CUBS MINGLE

Titular Basket Contest on Tomorrow Night

Southern Branch Five Leads in Point Column

Record Crowd Expected to See Athletes Battle

With the Southern California Conference championship at stake the local University of California basketball team takes on the Whittier College tossers tomorrow night at the U.S.C. pavilion. Right now the Cubs are leading the Poets by a scant 14 points, but unless they win tomorrow evening's encounter the title is pretty sure to go to the Quakers, as they will then have only a postponed game with Caltech to keep them from being the 1924 champions.

On paper the locals look good enough to win by something like 10 points. Starting the season in good shape the Cubs ran through their first round of games in easy style. However, during the last three weeks they appeared to go a bit stale and only the splendid work of the diminutive Wilbur Johns kept them from going on the rocks. After dropping the Whittier tilt by two points the team rallied in good shape and defeated Pomona 30 to 21, Goerts and Breese hitting their stride again.

Shifting the game to the Trojan court insures a record crowd. When the Cubs played at Whittier last week the doors were closed at 7:15 o'clock, even though the big contest wasn't scheduled until an hour later. The little Whittier gym couldn't accommodate one-third of the crowd. All of Poetville will be on hand for tomorrow night's encounter, as they believe they have the 1924 champions and want to do their share to win the battle.

Whittier always looks good on a small floors, but seems to fall down a bit when put on a large court such as the U.S.C. one. The Cubs, on the other hand, go just as well on a large floor, their games at Pomona, where the biggest court in the south is situated, always being noteworthy because of the large scores run up.

Eckles and Ransona, Whittier forwards, are good shots, while Williams, center, helps out now and then with a well-placed heave. Ray Johns and Reece attend to the guard duties and these boys are good. Johns, although small, gets the ball off the backboard in nice style, while Reece is a bear at long shots. All of the Poets use an underhand shot, while the Cubs employ the loop style of shooting.

BASEBALL TEAM OF DINUBA READY TO GO

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

DINUBA, March 3.—Dinuba baseball team is ready to go, according to Mack Wheat, manager, who announces that the necessary $500 forfeit for the San Joaquin Valley League has been raised. Wheat declared that business men of Dinuba were solidly behind the club and that only one day's canvassing was necessary to raise the needed money.

Wheat is now in touch with several new players who, with the men who were with the Dinuba nine last year, will make up one of the strongest teams Dinuba has ever entered in the valley circuit.

GOLF CLUB COURSE IN FINE CONDITION

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

TULARE, March 3.—Cottonwood trees have been planted around the Tulare Golf Club course and rolling, raking and other spring work done, so that the links present a very neat appearance. Grass in the new lawn is coming through. Walter Springer, who has supervised the work, has had a corps of men busy smoothing the fairways and working on the greens constantly. All of the ditches have been cleared of underbrush and trees trimmed, so that the golfer who drives into the rough can dig out his ball within a very few minutes.

TULARE MERCHANTS HELP BASEBALLERS

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

TULARE, March 3.—Tulare's berth in the newly organized Tulare County League was assured when local merchants and baseball fans turned a goodly number of greenbacks over to Manager Harry Harnes. A total of $350 was received the first day and no trouble is anticipated in securing the balance of the necessary $500 for forfeit, purchase of uniforms and equipment.

George E. Painter of Pittsburg, Pa., has spent forty-four years of active competition in the trap-shooting sport.

PADDOCK RETURNS HOME NEXT WEEK

Charles Paddock, who holds more world's sprint records than there are dollars in the United States mint, will return to Los Angeles a week from today from a speaking tour that took him all through the New England States and then back to the Coast, according to word received by his father last night in Pasadena. Paddock left Chicago yesterday for Idaho where he will deliver a lecture and then depart for Portland. After leaving Portland, Paddock will continue home, stopping off at San Francisco en route. Paddock will start training for Olympic Games as soon as he arrives here.

ANDERSON FACES M'LEAN

Murphy Tackles Dillon in Semi-Wind-up at Doyle's Vernon Arena Tonight

Boxing fans who like their favorite sport well seasoned with punching should be in for a great night at Vernon tonight. Matchmaker Hayden Wadhams made up the weekly card with an eye toward the heavy hitters. Two weeks have gone by without giving Harry Lee or George Blake an opportunity of displaying their mathematical skill in counting up to ten, so "Wad" stuck plenty of boys on the card who are noted for their hitting power.

Th Anderson-McLean wind-up affair appears to be one of the best featherweight battles in the deck just now and there are lots of promoters who would have welcomed the chance to get these boys together. Most of the Middle West sport writers who are here with the various ball clubs will be at the ringside in order to give their publications first-hand information on the contest that is a matter of vital news value in that section of the country.

Anderson stopped McLean two years ago in Sioux City, Iowa, after McLean had made a great swath through the bantams and feathers of the corn belt. It was a big upset in the dope and critics who had picked McLean to lead the little fellows are anxious to see whether he can reverse the decision on Anderson.

Larry Murphy and Danny Dillon will attract many fans because of the great draw battle they staged at Vernon three weeks ago, and Joe Schlocker, who has been knocking out the local lightweights with much ecist in recent bouts will have his big following at the ringside to aid him through with Sailor Ashmore.

The preliminaries have been arranged to give Vernon patrons a big evening filled with hard punching, and it looks like one of the biggest houses of recent weeks will be the result.

The program follows:

Eddie Anderson vs. Stewart McLean, 135.
Larry Murphy vs. Danny Dillon, 135.
Sailor Ashmore vs. Joe Schlocker, 135.
Young Dario vs. Billy Wallace, 135.
Mickey Raphael vs. George Thompson, 138.
Dominick Urga vs. Benny Marks, 115.
Billy Edge vs. Jack Newman, 130.

OBSERVATIONS BY BYSTANDER

seems inevitable that U.S.C. will win by a lopsided score despite the excellence of the Tigers in many of the track events. Weakness in the weights and hurdles, in which the Tigers will donate some 36 points, in all probability will ruin any hope the Tigers have of winning.

Chief interest will naturally center in the duels on the track between Argue of Oxy and Marts of U.S.C. in the sprints, Spangler of Oxy and Clark of U.S.C. in the quarter, Ellsworth of Oxy and Niersbach of U.S.C. in the half, and so on. The Tigers are particularly hopeful of something classy in the half, in which Ellsworth looks for revenge for the trimming Niersbach gave him at the Coliseum, and Nick Carter, the Tiger miler, expects to win the mile and have enough pep left to beat both Ellsworth and the Trojan demon.

BOWEN AND TAYLOR PLAN TO CLIMB OUT

Johnny Bowen and Cy Taylor, 1923 doubles bowling champions and winners of the B. H. The team held first place until last week when it took a flop.

The Dyas Company this year has placed up two more gold trophies to be awarded the members of the winning team. The clubs of the second division with Stevens and Levy leading, will play their fifth round matches Thursday night at the Angelus.

FILIPINO SPRINTERS TO RUN IN OLYMPIC

MANILA, March 3.—Fortunate Catalon and David Nepomuceno, champion Filipino sprinters, will be sent to the Olympic games at Paris by the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation. Both sprinters are credited with making 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds.

Hard Schedule Arranged for Trojan Squad

Sam Crawford, former Detroit star outfielder who is now coaching the University of Southern California baseball team, believes in making his proteges work hard. The Trojans have a tough schedule lined up for them, meeting California, Stanford and Arizona in a three-game series, and Occidental and St. Mary's, two games each. The Trojans also have numerous practice games lined up for them.

Crawford's team has its first important game scheduled for the 19th inst., when the Trojans tangle with the Occidental Tigers on the Oxy diamond. The schedule follows:

March 19—U.S.C. at Occidental.
March 22—U.S.C. at California.
March 29—U.S.C. at Stanford.
April 1—Stanford at U.S.C.
April 5—Stanford at U.S.C.
April 8—California at U.S.C.
April 12—California at U.S.C.
April 19—U.S.C. at Arizona.
April 22—U.S.C. at Arizona.
April 26—U.S.C. at Arizona.
May 3—St. Mary's at U.S.C.
May 5—St. Mary's at U.S.C.

REDLANDS TEAM IS WINNER AT VOLLEY

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, March 3.—Redlands Y.M.C.A. volley-ball team came up from behind in three games with the San Bernardino team today and won the set by a score of 2 to 1. San Bernardino took the first game, Redlands and second and it was a battle royal for the third game.

Redlands team is encouraged over the win and local fans believe it will make a good showing in the Southern California volley-ball tournament to be held at Riverside next Saturday night.

Capt. Karl Grassle of the local team played Covington, Tinkham, Deroo, Grassle, Hayes and Shirk in the first game, Cell and Brown replaced Covington and Tinkham in the second and third game. San Bernardino won the first, 21 to 15, Redlands the second, 21 to 20 and Redlands the third, 21 to 17.

BIG STADIUM IS ALMOST PAID FOR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, March 3.—Of the $551,342 that the stadium of the University of Washington has cost, only $120,000 remains to be paid, declared a statement published today. The statement was issued to correct an impression that receipts from football were being absorbed by the structure, which occupies an enormous depression with one end opening over Lake Washington.

The only football money, asserted the statement, used on the stadium was $56,000 netted by a game played New Year's Day, with the United States Naval Academy at Pasadena, Cal.

Jimmy Smith, outstanding ten-pin star, gives patience and practice as the most necessary qualifications to obtain success in sweeping the maple from the alleys in championship or other contests. He is 42 years of age and has been active in the pastime for twenty-one years.

PUTTING ON GREEN

In a very long putt on a smooth green, is it ever advisable to attempt to lift the ball slightly into the air? Why or why not?

Answered by JOHN BLACK

"The Carpenter of Troon," whose great gameness and mastery of golf make him feared at all tournaments. Particularly competent on approach shots.

In putting on a smooth green, there should be no attempt to lift the ball. It should be squarely hit, keeping the clubhead as close to the green as possible. If there is an attempt to lift the ball, it will jump instead of rolling smoothly, resulting in a bad putt.

Among those present in the national handball tournament which takes place in the Los Angeles Athletic Club courts in the near future will be two boys from the Pacific Coast who will be hard to beat. Red Murray, the present national champion of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, is a rugged hard hittin' fool who smites the pill with his closed fist and trains on road work like a prize fighter. Maynard Laswell, whom Murray beat in the finals of last year's tournament at St. Paul, is a smooth working player, using the open hand when he plays. "Laz" has worked in the movies, but don't hold that against him—he will be very hard to beat in his own courts (that's what they said last year about Dr. Hazdge of St. Paul, twice a former champion.)

PREPS PLAY SEMIFINALS

Alhambra Meets Chino and Orange Faces Inglewood in Play-off at U. S. C. Pavilion Friday

Four of the classiest prep basketball teams in the south end of the State will be brought together in the semifinals for the Southern California interscholastic cage championship next Friday night at the U.S.C. pavilion. Orange meets Inglewood and Chino hooks up with Alhambra in two games.

Alhambra and Chino will furnish the excitement in the first game, which starts at 7:30 o'clock, and a wild, exciting tussle is being expected by the fans who saw the same teams eliminate Banning and Coronado in last week's games. The Orange-Inglewood game starts right after the conclusion of the Alhambra-Chino battle.

Both Chino and Alhambra showed sturdy defenses, the former winning from Coronado 29 to 9, and the latter triumphing over Banning by a 21-to-5 score in Friday's tilts. However, Chino faced a stronger team in Coronado than Alhambra did in Banning, therefore the Alhambra outfit's better score can not be counted for very much. Alhambra showed to better advantage in passing the ball, but the Chino players were the more certain shots.

TOMBERLIN CHINO STAR

Ellis Tomberlin, lanky center, led Chino in scoring, making 15 points and dropping in several long shots. Capt. Lowell Decker also loomed up well at caging the casaba for the Chino outfit. Wyatt did over half the Alhambra scoring, in fact, his team-mates were "feeding" him the ball all through the game. If Chino can successfully guard Wyatt the Chino team has a very good chance of getting into the finals.

Orange showed the best offense of last Saturday's games, running up forty-five points against seven for Santa Barbara. Orange is fortunate in having four good shots in Price, Durell, Nichols and Spencer and the Inglewood defense should find it tough stopping all four from scoring. For Inglewood John McCandless is the whole team, if his showing against Pasadena can be taken as a criterion. McCandless scored thirteen of Inglewood's points and was largely responsible for his team's 17-to-15 win over the strong Pasadena quintet.

FINALS SATURDAY

The winners of Friday's games will clash in the final tilt for the championship Saturday night at the pavilion. The victor in Saturday's contest will represent the south in the play-off for the State basketball title, which has been won by Stockton the past two years.

MUGGSY McGRAW SITS DOWN ON GOLF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SARASOTA (Fla.) March 3.—Several long canvas bags packed with golf sticks were picked up in the Giant camp today for shipment to points north because almost the first thing Manager McGraw did this morning when he took command of his baseball team was to put the ban on golf. A number of players had anticipated merry contests on the links after baseball practice was finished.

"Golf and baseball do not mix," explained Boss McGraw. "A golf player uses a different swing in hitting the ball than does a baseball player and trying to do both works harm.

"I find that men who play golf have it on their minds. I want my players to live baseball all the time. I want them to think and talk baseball in the evenings. I don't want that game of golf interfering with our business of winning baseball pennants."

LECKLIDER CHANGES MOUNT

Fred Lecklider, daring Detroit racing driver, favorite with the Ascot speed fans, will henceforth be seen at the wheel of an eight-in-a-row Miller car, replica of some of the fastest jobs on the board speedway. Lecklider will make his debut with the new car, which has been shortened and adapted to the sharp Ascot turns, next Sunday afternoon when he meets Big Haugdahl, Leon Duray and Fred Horey in the quadrangular match, postponed from last Sunday on account of rain.

Haugdahl yesterday underwent an operation for a dislocated vertebrae and will not be able to resume practice before Thursday. In the meantime he has sent the Fiat to the Wagner-Webb painting emporium with orders to give the famous car the most flaming red finish that can be applied.

Also, Haugdahl will christen the car "Cyclone" after the famous Fiat car of that name, long passed out of existence. The car was originally driven by Cedrino, noted Italian, who was killed when a wheel collapsed in Baltimore. Later, the car was driven to many world's records by Ralph De Palma. Then it passed into the hands of Teddy Tetzlaff, and finally to Barney Oldfield who also hung up many world's records at the wheel of the great car. In fact, Oldfield campaigned the car so long that he wore it out, a junk dealer's shop being the ignominous grave of perhaps the most noted racing car in the history of sport.

BENGALS GET TWO DAYS' REST

Welcome Rain Keeps Lads in Clubhouse; Heaver Callahan is Signed Up

The welcome rain has brought surcease of toil, at least temporarily, to Bill Essick's classy bunch of diamond prancers. The entire squad, minus Mike Menoskey and Jimmy McDowell, was on hand yesterday morning ready to flick cleats around the famous field but the "Silent Skipper" regarded the soil too soft to practice on—therefore, for the present, the unpaid customers that have cluttered the grand stand in the last few days didn't get a chance to find out whether the Bengals are good mudders or not.

Mr. Mike Menosky is still the missing link of ye Tigers. Wires and rumors have had him on the grounds since last Thursday, but he festive Michael is still numbered with the absent. Jimmy McDowell has been confined to his bed for a few days with a sore groin consequent upon a hurried slide to a bag last Thursday. The injury is not serious and Jimmy expects to get back into peppy action in a day or two.

Terry Callahan came in to the dignity of a Vernon uniform yesterday. Terry is a southpaw heaver recommend by Art Kruger. He has been performing semi-proly hereabouts for a year or two and is regarded as a fine prospect.

The White Kings brave the terrors of the Jungle Babes tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting. The game is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock. "Beans" Reardon and Jimmy Toman will try to keep peace on the field during hostilities. It will be a bad day for the unpaid customers.

HARRY GREB PAYING LOS ANGELES VISIT

Seraph Ball Tossers in a Snappy Workout

ANGELIC FOLD LOOSENS WINGS

Marty Krug's Celestials in Afternoon Workout

Pitcher Myers Stalks Onto Soft Field

Catcher Billings Peppy at Long Beach Camp

Being denied their morning workout because of wet grounds, the Angels made up for lost time by going through a two and one-half-hour practice yesterday afternoon, the Long Beach diamond being the scene of all kinds of action. Manager Marty Krug had over thirty athletes under his wing and the Seraph chief gave them all plenty to do. Although the field was still heavy from the night's rain the sun shone brightly and most of the players dripped considerable perspiration before the afternoon's ordeal was over.

Several events of importance transpired during the day, notable of them being the appearance of Elmer Myers, former Salt Lake heaver, who came to the Angels in exchange for Elmer Ponder and Howard Lindimore. Myers has been pitching locally during the winter and looks to be in splendid shape.

BLOWS IN TOWN

Bert Whaley, ex-St. Louis player, blew into town and also reported, although he didn't get into uniform, as his trunk is a day late. Manager Krug intends to give the Middle West athlete a good chance at second base, although he'll have Fred Gunther, Santa Monica youth, and Ed Radtke of Battle Creek to contend with.

Walter Golvin, who is slated for the first-base position, got into a suit for the first time, and looked good. Hitting from the left side of the plate the Angel infielder smacked out some nice long ones during his stay at bat.

Josh Billings, former St. Louis catcher, got down to work yesterday and makes the Seraph receiving staff look like one of the best in the league, Butch Byler being the other regular backstop. Billings is an old-timer and will be a big help to the young pitchers, of which there are plenty on the local outfit.

STILL HOLDOUTS

Babe Twombly and Wallie Hood are still holding out and as far as anybody knows they'll be that way for some time. According to J. H. Patrick, president of the club, the two outfielders have been offered all the money they are going to get and if they don't want to play at the salaries stated that's all there is to it.

Cedric Durst, also from the Browns, is on the way. Jim Westfall, a 200-pound Arizona catcher, worked hard yesterday and socks 'em far and long at the plate. An infield, made up of Krug at third, Pat Jacobs on short, Fred Gunther at second and Golvin on first, went through a short workout, although hitting was the main order of the day. The Angelis will play either the White King Soap team or the L. A. A. C. nine at Long Beach next Saturday.

WHITES TROUNCED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MYRTLEDALE SPRINGS, March 3.—The grays and whites, two divisions of Oakland coast leaguers, tangled in a practice game here this afternoon and went the full route. The grays won the game, 6 to 2, chiefly because Hobson and Kane held the opposition to seven fairly well-scattered hits.

Joe Leppisch accounted for the only runs registered by the losers with his homer with one on. Jack Boehler for the grays hit three during the game. Al Maderas, playing third base for the grays, and George Redds at short for the whites put on the fancy fielding.

Harry Seibold and Spencer Adams, Oakland regulars, showed up in camp today. Here are the figures on today's practice game:

Whites	2	7	1

Batteries—Kaiser, Wellmake and Silva; Hobson, Kane and McDonald.

LONG WORKOUT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO (Cal.) March 3.—The Salt Lake Pacific Coast league club inaugurated its 1924 conditioning process here today with the advance guard of batterymen taking a three-hour workout under the supervision of Manager Duffy Lewis.

The squad consists of Bass Lewis, pitchers McCabe, Pander, Singleton, O'Neill, Thomas and Mulcahy; catchers Peters, Jenkins, Blunt and Wackenfeldt, and Infielder Graff, formerly of St. Mary's. The infielders and fly chasers are due to report later in the week.

THINK LIQUOR GANG HAS BEEN BROKEN UP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, March 3.—County authorities have expressed belief that an organized gang of liquor smugglers and bootleggers has been broken up with the arrest and sentencing to jail of Sacramento Hernandez. Customs inspectors have aided in the elimination of the Hernandez organization by arresting eight men, three women and two young children in the last month on various charges in connection with violations of the Volstead act and the smuggling laws.

Four automobiles and several various supplies of bottled liquor have been confiscated. Members of the Hernandez gang are asserted to have brought the liquor across the international line at Calexico and distributed it among selling agents in Calexico, El Centro, Imperial and Brawley.

Edouard Horemans of Belgium hopes to defeat balkline billiard champion Willie Hoppe in their coming challenge round match at 1800 points. The European expert won a recent exhibition test from Hoppe, and in a 1500-point test believes he will accomplish what Cochran and Schaefer failed to perform, lower the great exponent's colors.

MILLER ON WAY TO AUSTRALIA

Walter Miller, wrestling instructor of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and former holder of the world's middleweight title, departed for San Francisco last night on the first leg of his journey to Australia. Miller planned to leave several weeks ago, but was forced to postpone the journey by reason of injuries suffered in an automobile crash. The popular grappler will engage in from six to twelve contests in the Antipodes.

The completed program for the twelfth annual all-breed dog show of the Pasadena Kennel Club, to be held at the northwest corner of Colorado street and Hill avenue, Pasadena, March 7 and 8, was given out for the first time yesterday by Dr. F. P. Miller, president of the club.

ON TOY BREEDS

During the same time in ring No. 2 Norman K. Swire of Toronto, Can., will be passing on the toy breeds, including the following: Chihuahuas, English toy spaniels, griffons (Brussels,) Italian greyhounds, Japanese spaniels, Maltese Mexican hairless, Pekingese, Pomeranians, pugs, toy poodles, toy terriers and Yorkshire terriers.

From 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. cocker spaniels will be judged by Charels Gilbert of Hollywood in ring No. 6 and during the same period Norman K. Swire will pass on the following dogs: Airedale terriers, bull terriers, Cairn terriers, Irish terriers, Sealyham terriers, Welsh terriers, West Highland white terriers and miscellaneous breeds.

Between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m., in ring No. 1, Swire will judge bulldogs, chow chows, collies and French bulldogs, while in ring No. 2, Boston terriers will receive the exclusive attention of J. E. Carroll of Buffalo, N. Y.

Oxy Frosh to Play Glendale High on Friday

Occidental frosh tracksters will have a chance to repeat their victory of last week again next Friday afternoon at Patterson Field. Last Friday they nosed Manual Arts High School and Huntington Beach High out of first place in a triangle meet held on the former's field. Friday they will entertain the Glendale High track men in a dual meet. The peagreeners will undoubtedly take the field in most of the events. Broadhead should capture the 220-yard sprint and Purser, also of the Eagle Rock institution, will probably romp in first in the century dash.

George Fontaine, handsome pole vaulter for the Oxy team, should show real class in the vaulting event. Although it was doubtful for a time where Coach Pipal was going to find eight men to run the relay, the men that were selected ran a mighty good race. The infant class have an excellent miler in the personage of Miller who also runs a mean lap in the relay. Shaver can float over the high sticks in regular form and will probably place well up in the front in that event.

PROPOSE PLANS TO DECIDE CHAMPIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 3.—A proposal to decide the baseball championship of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Conference in the same way that the basketball title is determined, namely by having the supremacy of the north and south sections fought out first and then letting the best teams meet and finally settle the argument, was tonight being discussed by mail among the members of the conference.

The proposal came from Darwin Meisnest, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Washington. He suggested that the section titles be settled by the end of May, and that the visiting team receive a guarantee of $1500 for two games with half the gate receipts if a third game should prove necessary for a decision.

Nearly $50,000,000 was bet during the fast racing season on Maryland's four one-mile tracks—Havre de Grace, Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie.

OUR 1924 OLYMPIC TEAM.

BY BOYD COMSTOCK

Coach Citrus Union H. S. National champions 1912, University of Southern California, Coast champions 1913-14. Field coach Yale University 1923, Author A. G. Spalding's new series of Track and Field Books.

At the outset it must be explained that the American Olympic coaches did not expect to score heavily in the javelin event in the 1920 Olympics. It was conceded that the American throwers had a fighting chance to get into the scoring, but in view of the fact that this competition was comparatively new to our athletes there existed a general idea that we would have to defer our success in this line until a more universal interest would produce champions of Olympic caliber.

For this reason the actual defeat of our best throwers did not come as a discouraging surprise although our inability to place better than seventh was rather depressing, to say the least.

The fact that we were well down the score sheet in that particular meet is, in the final analysis, of small concern for under more favorable conditions this placement might easily be reversed.

POOR SUCCESS

For instance, we had poor success in both the shot and discus in the last internationals and yet there we are perfectly justified in believing that our present weight men will have at least a shade of advantage in the coming games. We are justified in making such a prediction because we are on a par with our competitors in every department of these events and because we have a background of experience and tradition that automatically makes for champions.

This situation does not prevail in the javelin event for in this instance the advantage is on the other side. Our throwers, comparatively speaking, are in the novice class and they will remain in that division until our upcoming athletes can take advantage of the form that is being steadily developed throughout this country.

The discouraging feature of our recent defeat lies in the fact that the first five place winners in the Antwerp games were able to break the previous Olympic record and that our present American record is practically a foot below the throw that won fifth place in that meet.

HOPELESS TASK

These facts must be faced squarely and there is no denying that we have rather a hopeless task staring us in the face. Assuming that Finland will be represented by the same formidable team of throwers and granting that they will do as well this summer, it follows that we can scarcely hope for better than sixth, at best, and to secure this place it would be necessary for our best men to equal their record marks.

This event, to look at it from a historical standpoint, was first used internationally, in the 1906 Athens meet. Lemming of Sweden, had little difficulty in establishing the superiority of the Swedish methods and won first with a throw of 175ft. 6in. At that time, the so-called "free style" was in vogue which gave an optional grip (the usual practice called for a grip at the end of the javelin.)

Both styles were in use in the 1908 London Olympics and Lemming again won the free style and also annexed the middle grip competition. He won the first event with a throw of 178ft. 7½in. and the second with 179ft. 10¼in.

ELIMINATE FREE STYLE

In the Stockholdm games, in 1912, the free style was eliminated and the middle grip became standard. Lemming won the best hand contest with a throw of 60.64 meters; Saaristo of Finland was second with 58.66 meters and Kovacs of Hungary was third with 55.60 meters.

Saaristo proved to be the best of the lot in the right and left-hand (total distance) event, winning it with a mark of 109.42 meters; Siikaniemi of Finland was second with 101.13 meters and Peltonen of Finland was third with 100.24 meters.

The right and left-hand event was eliminated in the 1920 meet and the single—middle grip—best hand contest was made a standard Olympic event. Myyra of Finland was first with a throw of 65.78 meters (215ft. 9 3-4in.;) Peltonen of Finland, the third-place winner of the two-hand event in the 1912 games was second with 63.50 meters (208ft 4in.;) Johanson of Finland was third with 63.095 meters (207ft.;) Saaristo of Finland, winner of the two-hand 1912 event was fourth with 62.395 meters (204ft. 8 5-8in.;) Klumberg of Esthonia was fifth with 62.390 meters (204ft. 8 3-8in.;) Lindstrom of Sweden was sixth with 60.520 meters (198ft. 6 5-8in.;) Angier of America was seventh with 58.50 meters (191ft. 11 1-8in.;) Blomqvist of Sweden was eighth with 58.18 meters (190ft. 10 5-8in.,) and Lincoln of America was ninth with 57.86 meters (189ft. 10in.)

SAARISTO IMPROVED

In analyzing the various competitors it is interesting to note that Saaristo improved wonderfully during the period that separated the last two Olympics. He placed second in the 1912 meet with a throw of 58.66 meters and placed fourth in 1920 with 62.395 meters. Peltonen was unable to place in the single-hand event at the 1912 games and only placed third in the two-hand event. He must have improved at least eight meters during the same period as 55.60 meters took third place in the 1912 meet.

Bronder, the former University of Pennsylvania star was the first high-class American javelin thrower. He won the 1914 nationals, while still a schoolboy, with a throw of 166ft. 8½ in. He also won the same championship in '15, '16, '17, '18 and '19. His best throw during that time was 190ft. 6in. He also won the 1922 intercollegiate with a throw of 185ft. 5 5-8in. Lincoln, competing for the New York Athletic Club bettered Bronder's record with a mark that approached the 200-foot mark although as a rule he threw slightly less than 190 feet.

Angier of the University of Illinois, first came into prominence during the 1920 season by winning the nationals with a throw of 192ft. 10 3-4 in.

EQUALS PERFORMANCE

Tuck and Mahan, national junior champions in 1919 and 1920, were capable of throwing better than 180 feet.

Angier's Olympic throw practically equaled his national throw while Lincoln's best throw was only slightly less than his average competitive effort. Tuck and Mahan found it impossible to qualify, but this was not unexpected. All in all it may be said that the American throwers ran true to form which eliminates the insertion of the usual alibi.

Mesa Preps Nab Arizona Cage Title

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 3.—Mesa High School has won the interscholastic basketball championship, held under university auspices, leading sixteen contesting teams. The last battle was the hardest, taken from the Chandler five by the narrow score of 25 to 23. From the eastern end of the Salt River Valley came three of the strongest of the tournament aggregations, those from Mesa, Chandler and Gilbert, the last serving in the elimination of Tucson. On the girls' side, seven teams were entered, with victory for Bisbee, which had its final contest with Winslow, won by 23 to 7. Two loving cups, offered by the university, went to the captains of the winning teams. Athletic Manager Slonaker of the university was in general charge of the tournament.

At Albuquerque Saturday, the university basketball team defeated University of New Mexico, 37 to 21.

ARIZONA POLOISTS TACKLE YALE FOUR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) March 3.—This spring, the polo team of the University of Arizona is to meet Yale, for national championship. This honor came through the winning by Arizona at San Antonio, of the southwestern intercollegiate championship. Col. Ralph H. Parker, coach of the local team and head of the University military department, first got his squad into match action in the fall of 1922, when it beat the officers' team from Fort Huachuca. While most of his men have had experience on the range, Colonel Parker lately sprung a surprise in moving up, as a regular, Jack Magee, formerly a sailor, knowing nothing of a horse till he came here.

"GLOOMY" POPULAR

"Gloomy Gus" Henderson, coach of the University of California, has been receiving considerable fan mail recently as the result of his directing ability as shown in "Cause for Divorce" at the Clune Broadway this week.

RIVERS AND FARRELL BATTLE TOMORROW

Bog Spanuth of the Ventura Athletic Club has concocted a corker of a program for the boxing card to be held tomorrow night at the Ventura Bath-house and Auditorium.

Georgie Rivers will meet Young Farrell in the main event of the evening. These men, fighting at 120 pounds, should make it a battle from the start to finish. In the semifinals Joe Garcia will lock horns with Frankie Oesner. These men are masters of the fistic art and tipping the scales at 128 pounds, their event is sure to be a whirlwind affair. A special event consists of a match between Wildcat Soares and Battling Teco of the 145-pound class. In the 119-pound class Barney Butler meets Jackie Cole. The curtain-raiser consists of a fray between Paddy McKeen and Art Ridley. These 128-pounders will start the evening off with a snappy bout.

By adopting eyeglasses during his appearance at play, Tiff Denton of Kansas City, holder of the three-cushion billiard title, has been performing with great success. One of his recent feats was a double setback of Otto Reiselt on the latter's table in the Quaker City.

Godshall will journey to Honolulu to take part in the invitational tennis tournament held in April under the auspices of the Hawaiian Tennis Association, and it is expected that he will find success there also.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics who expects to finish second in this year's American League race, has thirty-seven players including only sixteen of last year's team to strive for this object. The squad includes seventeen pitchers, three catchers, nine infielders and eight outfielders.

Commerce Department Gives Census Report

Output in 1922 Gain of 58 Per Cent Over 1917

Income and Wages Slightly More Than Double

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Department of Commerce presents preliminary figures from the forthcoming quinquennial census report on central electric light and power stations in the State of California. These figures cover both commercial and other enterprises not in the nature of public utilities which consume the current generated for plants operated by the Federal government and State institutions. The "numbering of establishments" refers to ownership or control, and in many cases an "establishment" represents more than one generating station.

The accompanying table gives the data for 1922 in comparison with 1917. The total output of curren was 4,347,999,000 kilowatt hours in 1922, or 58.2 per cent more than in 1917, reported by eighty-seven establishments or eleven less than at the previous census.

The income slightly more than doubled, $81,254,000 shown for 1922 being 102 per cent greater than the corresponding item for 1917. The increase in salaries and wages was somewhat larger or 110.9 per cent, $15,042,000 being reported for 1922. The number of persons employed in the industry increased from 6167 to 8961.

The total rating of prime movers was 1,735,238 in 1922 or 45.3 per cent more than in 1917. The greatest relative increase was in internal combustion engines, 74.3 per cent, but the chief actual increase, amounting to 471,190 horsepower, or 63.3 per cent, is credited to wated wheels and turbines.

The number of customers supplied with current was 619,803 in 1917 and 1,018,238 in 1922.

(1) A minus sign (—) denotes decrease; percentages not shown where base is less than 100.
(2) The decrease in number of establishments is due to consolidation and the extension of transmission lines from the large hydroelectric stations.
(3) Excludes of $37,338 in 1921 and $107,217 in 1917 reported by street and electric railway companies as income from sale of electric current.

DAUGHERTY NOT ASKED TO RESIGN

White House Spokesmen Deny Vanderlip Story of President's Request

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—It was declared at the White House today that the assertion of Frank A. Vanderlip, banker, that Atty.-Gen. Daugherty's resignation had been called for by President Coolidge but had not been tendered was too ridiculous to dignify with a denial.

When again pressed for a statement following Vanderlip's reiteration, spokesmen pointed out that a demand upon a Cabinet officer for his resignation would surely bring its prompt offer.

The letter Vanderlip said he wrote to President Coolidge warning against acceptance of Daugherty's resignation if it were to be accompanied by a "white-washing" letter, has not yet been received at the White House, it was said.

SENATOR ASSERTS DECISION ON FUTURE CONFRONTS UNITED STATES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The United States is facing a decision as to whether it will be basically industrial or agricultural, Senator ..dge, Republican, North Dakota, declared today in a Senate speech urging farm relief. He spoke on the Norbeck-Burtness bill proposing aid in financing harvesting of crops.

In facing the same crisis sixty years ago, Senator Ladd said: "Europe, deciding to be industrial, allowed her agriculture to pine away. All being determined to foster agriculture, is today the prospectus in Europe."

Every interest except that of farming in the United States, the Senator said, had been aided either through a discriminative tariff or by direct or indirect subsidency. Unless some relief is afforded the farmer, he declared, there is danger of the great food-producing Northwest being entirely wiped out by bankruptcy.

Farmers From Your Own Home-State Invite You to Calipatria, Imperial Valley

A Little Fact-Talk by S. C. Sorenson

MOST every back-East farmer has long had the vision of some day living and farming in a far-off land where Nature works with man instead of against him. He has longed for the day when he would have no snow to shovel, no severe winters to combat, no forced vacations through long, dreary, "frozen-in" months.

You who are here in California now can realize that this dream can be made a reality for you—in the Calipatria District of Imperial Valley.

This message is addressed to you by the Calipatrians—just ordinary hard-working farmers who have gone through the same drudgery, the same struggles as you have, but who are now happily located in the Calipatria District in Imperial Valley.

ALL of us have come here from somewhere else—Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, and other short-season farming states.

Most of us gravitated here after careful investigation of other farming sections of California. We came for the same reasons that we believe will ultimately bring you here.

Down here in Imperial Valley farming is different. The soil here is marvelously rich silt—very similar to the world-famous valley of the Nile. It is easy to work and it produces wonderful crops.

The semi-tropical climate of Imperial Valley gives us earlier crops, which means that we have our products into the markets ahead of other communities, which in turn, gives us higher prices. And especially in this Calipatria District, water for irrigation is abundant, and the supply is secure.

WE who live down here love the climate. It is warm in the summertime—yes; but that is perhaps the greatest asset the Imperial Valley farmer has. We could not grow the kind of crops we do grow down here without the particular climate Imperial Valley enjoys.

This is a wonderfully healthy place to live.

We do not want to lead you to expect miracles to happen down here—remarkable as this country is. Imperial Valley was a desert waste just twenty years ago. Today, it is a land of plenty, and thousands of back-East farmers—many of them right from your own state, are making good money and building up a wonderful future here.

There is a great opportunity here for the level-headed, clear-thinking, ambitious farmer who is willing to put his best ability into the development of his land and the production of his crops—an opportunity to get out of the old rut of orthodox farming and produce a bigger and a better living on less land where the reward of the future is worth-while.

Here in the Calipatria District we can work every day of the year in our shirt sleeves. We have no damaging frosts or vicious winds. On tap at all times we have unlimited water—the cheapest water per acre we know of anywhere, 300,000 Imperial Valley acres now under irrigation. We grow in our own gardens the finest of fruits, vegetables and small grains. Cantaloupes are especially profitable down here; dairying and poultry-raising pay big dividends.

CALIPATRIA is only 195 miles—7 hours away from Los Angeles. For transportation we have the Southern Pacific and the San Diego-Arizona; the Inter-California and Holton Interurban Systems. The world is our market. Los Angeles, a tremendous market, looks to Imperial Valley for much of her produce.

Fast freight service permits livestock shipments to Kansas City; our cotton goes to Japan and Liverpool; cantaloupes, early table grapes, fruits and vegetables go by the trainload into all the metropolitan centers. Thus Calipatria, a live, hustling, busy, commercial, agricultural center has grown from nothing in ten years.

Here are up-to-the-minute homes, stores, garages, churches, schools, fraternal organizations, picture houses—all that you would find in an Iowa or Missouri town fifty years old.

WE Calipatrians—we farmers from your own home state—ask you to come down and look over this wonderful country. We are happy here. We are making money here, but there is room for a lot more of us, and with more of us here we can all prosper even more than we have prospered in the past.

It will cost you only a two-cent stamp to write for our handsomely illustrated 32-page booklet of facts. Won't you do that if for no other reason than to satisfy your own curiosity? THE CALIPATRIANS, CALIPATRIA, IMPERIAL VALLEY.

Man Appears at Inquest in Haley Case

Manslaughter Charge to be Preferred

Accused Says He Was Struck First in Row

The veil of mystery cloaking the identity of the motorist who, in a fist fight Wednesday on Vermont avenue, inflicted injuries from which Foster D. Haley, 23 years of age, 244 South Coronado street, died the following morning, was lifted yesterday afternoon when Homer F. Washburn, 24, of 505 H street, Bakersfield, accompanied by his attorney, Homer Johnstone, appeared before a coroner's jury and admitted that he is the man for whom police have been searching since Haley's death.

Washburn, former open-board caller on the local stock exchange, was ordered held for further investigation by the jury after ten minutes' deliberation, and he was taken into custody by Detective Lieutenant Paul Stevens of the homicide squad, pending arraignment on a manslaughter charge and the fixing of bond.

Washburn's appearance was expected, Attorney Johnstone having informed police that Haley's reputed assailant would be present at the inquest, but his identity was not made known until he presented himself.

Washburn, the second witness called to the stand, told of a minor collision with Haley in a traffic jam between Beverly and First streets on Vermont avenue, and his part in the fist fight that followed. He charges Haley with having assumed a vicious attitude, and with having called him (Washburn) "yellow" and "a cowardly ——." He denied, however, having struck the first blow, and maintains that he struck Haley only thre eor four blows in all.

The testimony of Washburn was substantiated by H. L. Claflin, son of Judge H. S. Claflin of Bakersfield, who, with R. McMechan, a stock broker, was a passenger in the Washburn car at the time of collision. Claflin separated Haley and Washburn.

Mrs. Haley, widow of the dead man, was the first witness to take the stand. Her testimony consisted of repetition of her husband's account of the affair repeated to her after Haley returned home from the encounter, and a statement as to the general health of the dead man at the time of the encounter.

Mrs. P. S. Cleveland, Glendale, and eyewitness of a part of the fight, was positive in her statement that Washburn struck the first blow after demanding of Haley three times "Did I run away?" Mrs. Cleveland further declared that Washburn was at fault in the collision which slightly damaged one of Haley's rear fenders.

Other witnesses called were McMechan and Robert B. Penman, 4067 South Main street. Penman declared that Haley was a larger man than Washburn.

None of the testimony adduced at the inquest indicated that Haley had been struck at any time by any other member of the Washburn party than Washburn, or that Haley was felled by Washburn's blows.

Questioned as to his failure to report the incident to police or to present himself at an earlier date, Washburn replied that he had regarded the affair as of such trivial importance that it had escaped his mind within a short time. His first knowledge of the tragic ending of the encounter, he declared, was Saturday morning when he returned from a trip to Bakersfield and read an account of Haley's death in The Times. He was uncertain then, he maintains, that Haley was the man with whom he had fought, and established it only through a thorough examination of the history of the case in The Times.

He took his case to Atty. Johnstone sometime Saturday afternoon, and has since been acting under Johnstone's instructions, he said.

Washburn is slight of build, shorter than Haley, and is not of muscular proportions.

The examination was conducted by Coroner Frank A. Nance, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison and Detective Lieutenant Stevens.

The charge of manslaughter will be filed against Washburn at once and his arraignment will take place soon.

After the encounter with Washburn, which took place shortly after 7 p.m., Haley returned to his home. An hour later a physician was called over Haley's protest when a pain developed in his head. He died at 3 o'clock Thursday morning.

Report of the autopsy surgeon, read by Coroner Nance at the inquest, showed death resulted from a basal fracture of the skull.

HOWLS RISE AS LICENSE FEES JUMP

Cost Doubled, Wails and Moans Fill Air at Bureau of Registration

The greatest aggregation of teeth-gnashers and hair-tearers in Southern California was seen yesterday in the local office of the Motor Vehicle Registration Bureau where prices on 1924 automobile license plates jumped 100 per cent.

March 1 saw the last of the $3 plates. After then the penalty was added. Yesterday the hard-working clerks under the management of H. J. Bernard were dishing out the automobile plates at $6 a pair, with a corresponding increase on all other types of plates.

After a comparative lull in the business during which the "manana" boys were thinking the thing over the bureau was swamped with customers, each clutching six bills in their fists where but three showed before.

The portly lady unsuspectingly shoved a five-spot at the clerk along with her old registration slip.

"That'll be $6," says the blonde behind the grating.

"I only want one set," says the lady.

"Yeah, but there's a $3 penalty."

DEPORTES

Basketball

Los Osos californios de Wight y los "Huskies" de Washington, se encontrarán mañana en la noche en el primer partido de una serie de tres, en la que se disputan el campeonato de basketball de la Conferencia de la Costa del Pacífico. Espérase que haya una concurrencia de más de 6000 en el auditorio de Oakland, donde va a tener lugar el encuentro.

Autódromo

Fred Lecklider, temerario corredor de Detroit y favorito de los aficionados del autódromo de Ascot, se mostrará de aquí en adelante tras el volante de un coche Miller de ocho en línea, copiado de algunos de los vehículos más rápidos de los autódromos de madera. Lecklider se estrenará con el nuevo coche, que ha sido recortado y adaptado a los virajes muy cortos de Ascot, la tarde del próximo domingo, y se liará con Sig Haugdahl, Leon Durrey y Fred Horey, en el match cuadrangular que se pospuso el domingo próximo pasado a causa de la lluvia.

Boxeo

El match Anderson-McLean parece ser uno de los mejores combates de pesoplumas que tenemos en perspectiva, y muchos promotores habrían celebrado tener ocasión de poner a estos muchachos uno frente al otro. La mayor parte de los críticos deportivos del Oeste Central que se encuentran aquí con los diversos clubs de pelota, irán al tablado para enviar a sus periódicos informes de primera mano sobre esta pelea, que es de vital importancia para aquella región del país.

NUMERO 194

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

El verbo "ocurrir" con que topamos en la primera frase de nuestro artículo vale, en la acepción allí usada, lo mismo que "pasar", "suceder", "acaecer", "acontecer", y es de frecuentísimo empleo en la conversación. La expresión inglesa "What is the matter?" se traduce por "¿Qué ocurre?", "¿Qué pasa?"; "What is the matter with you?", por "¿Qué le ocurre (pasa)?", "¿Qué le ocurre (pasa) a usted?".

A renglón seguido nos encontramos con la oración: "habrá que hacerse la cuenta de que son de una actualidad palpitante". Mucha gente de habla española dice impropiamente "hacer o hacerse de cuenta", en vez de "hacer o hacerse cuenta o la cuenta", como acertadamente escribió el articulista. La locución significa "figurarse" o "dar por supuesto" (to suppose, to take for granted), y acerca del frecuente solecismo que señalo dice lo siguiente el señor Cuervo:

"Hacer" admite muchos complementos con "de" en diferentes sentidos, como "hacer de madera", "hacer de gracia", "hacer de balde", "hacerse de nuevas", "hacerse de pencas", etc. De ahí "hacer de cuenta", por "hacer cuenta", frase en que "cuenta" vale propiamente "cálculo" o "suposición", y por consiguiente no admite tal particula, como lo prueban los siguientes pasajes clásicos: "Los lectores pueden 'hacer cuenta' que desde este punto comienzan las hasañas y donaire de Don Quijote y de su escudero" (Cervantes, "Quij.", pte. II, cap. VIII.); "Metéos en lo más dentro de vuestro corazón, y 'haced cuenta' que estáis delante la presencia de Jesucristo" (B. Juan de Avila, "Audi, filia", cap. LX.); "Si hasta aquí has errado, 'haz cuenta' que naces ahora de nuevo" (Granada, "Guía de pecadores", prólogo.); "Haz cuenta que rompió su lira Orfeo, —Su heroica trompa el grave Mantuano,—Y Séneca el coturno sofocleo." (Bart. León de Argensola, epist. "El título me das de tu maestro").

En el cuarto párrafo de nuestro artículo encontramos esta frase: "Se declararon amortizadas las siguientes vacantes". En el diccionario académico no encontramos la acepción que aquí tiene "amortizar", pues no nos da sino las siguientes: "Pasar los bienes a manos muertas que no los pueden enajenar, vinculándolos en una familia o en algún establecimiento"; "Redimir o extinguir el capital de un censo, préstamo, etc.". En la frase a que nos estamos refiriendo tiene la acepción, comunísima en España, de "suprimir una plaza, puesto o empleo", y así se dice que "el gobierno del Directorio ha amortizado y sigue amortizando multitud de cargos o empleos, a fin de aligerar el presupuesto de España". Una "vacante" no es otra cosa que un empleo que está disponible, ya porque es de reciente creación, o porque el que lo desempeñaba lo ha renunciado, ha sido promovido a otro de superior categoría, o ha sido destituído.

CHAUFFEUR ROUTS TRIO OF ROBBERS

Maid, Bound and Gagged, Rescued on Arrival of Employer and Driver

Three burglars were chased from the home of Mrs. Sally C. Clark, at 1501 Crescent Drive last night by Mrs. Clark and her negro chauffeur, Homer Dean, 1414 Hooper avenue, who returned to find Mrs. Clark's maid, Betty Watts, bound and gagged and tied to a bedpost.

The trio were ransacking the room in which the maid was tied when Mrs. Clark and Dean walked in. One burglar struck Mrs. Clark and knocked her down but she wrested a pistol from his hand. Dean fought the man and the other two intruders ran out the back way. The third burglar then fled.

Dean followed and the chase led out the rear of the house and around to Crescent Drive.

Near Sunset Boulevard and Crescent Drive the three men hopped into a parked machine. Frantic work to start the motor failed and they abandoned the machine.

Hollywood police answered the call and took charge of the abandoned automobile.

Miss Watts said she had answered the doorbell. One burglar brushed her aside and was followed by two more men. The trio then dragged her to a rear room, bound her with a sheet and gagged her with a necktie, she said.

NEW POSTAL CLERKS FOR OFFICE HERE

Fifty Additional Men to be Added; Order Brings Joy to Official

The application of Postmaster P. P. O'Brien for more clerks and carriers for the Los Angeles force has been granted, Postmaster-General New yesterday advised Senator Shortridge, according to dispatches from Washington last night. Fifty additional men will be added to the staff.

"That's the best news I've heard for some time," declared Postmaster O'Brien last night. "The way our work is increasing I figure we need about eight clerks and as many carriers added each month. We haven't had any additions to the staff since last July and we certainly can use them."

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. H. B. BEEBE

Funeral services for Mrs. Henriette B. Beebe, 73 years of age, a resident of Los Angeles for forty-four years, will be conducted at 2 p.m., Wednesday, from the funeral parlors of G. K. Willett, 731 West Washington street. The body will be cremated at the Rosedale Crematorium.

Mrs. Beebe died Sunday at her home, 1537 Maltman avenue, after an illness of more than a year. She was a pioneer resident of California, having come to the State in 1852, and to Los Angeles in 1880. She leaves her husband, George A. Beebe and two sons, William E. and Frank Beebe.

GIGANTIC RUM RING SMASHED

Eight Suspects Jailed, Huge Stills Are Seized

Gang's Books Show Weekly Business $100,000

A quiet investigation staraed by operatives of the District Attorney's office more than a month ago reached a spectacular climax Sunday morning in the arrest of eight men, the confiscation of more than $25,000 worth of bonded liquors and the seizure of five expensive automobiles and two of the largest stills ever found in Southern California.

The eight suspects, according to investigators of the District Attorney's office, are members of a rum ring extending throughout Southern California. Records seized by the investigators indicate that the asserted rum-runners did a business reaching more than $100,000 weekly.

The headquarters of the ring, the investigators declare, were in u public garage operated by F. Thorwald at 1880 Western avenue. Thorwald, they declare, is the brains and the executive head of the band.

ARRAIGNED AT BEACH

The clean-up, of the asserted band, which had been kept secret by the authorities, was disclosed when the suspects were arraigned before Police Judge Garrett of Santa Monica yesterday. They had been taken to the Santa Monica Jail as quickly as they were arrested so that the facts would not "leak" out and to prevent other asserted members of the band from being tipped off. All were held under $2500 bail each on charges of conspiracy to violate the Wright Act.

First results of the extended investigation came in the raid on the garage on Western avenue. There, the investigators said, they found Thorwald, Charles Ross, Walter Oats and B. R. Pelton.

Thorwald, according to the officers, drew a revolver but was quickly overpowered. In the garage the investigators said they found more than $10,000 worth of bonded liquors and five machines used by the band in transporting it.

LARGE DEALS RECORDED

It was here also, the investigators stated, they found the records of the band, showing weekly rum transactions in excess of $100,000. These also showed that the liquor was imported from Mexico and Canada, the investigators stated.

The other arrests followed in quick succession. Hurrying to Gardena, the officers raided the home of Jack Frost. There, they said, they found two 500-gallon stills operated by electricity, 5000 gallons of mash and a large quantity of moonshine. The stills were the largest ever found in the Southland, according to the investigators.

From Gardena the investigators proceeded to two houses at 627 and 630 South Alvarado street. In these two houses, they said, they found bonded liquor valued at about $15,000, and arrested F. M. Barnes, J. H. Burns and J. R. Bricker. The liquor was placed on trucks and taken to the County Jail and the prisoners removed to the Santa Monica jail.

VISITOR FEARS NEW WAR NEAR

German Court Predicts Fall of Europe's System

Henry Kessler Blames Ruhr Occupation Plan

Crisis May be Expected in Coming Months

Economic, financial and social collapse faces Europe, while the specter of a new war is growing ever more menacing, as the situation on that continent is viewed by Count Harry Kessler of Berlin, former minister of Germany to Poland.

The French occupation of the Ruhr and the Rhineland now amounts to virtual sovereignty in those sections, he says, and unless France can be induced to change her policy, he looks for an uprising of the Germans with possible support from the English whose economic condition as the result of the paralysis of Europe's chief industrial district is gradually becoming more intolerable, he says.

Count Kessler, now at the Alexandria, is here on a lecture tour. He will address a meeting at the Polytechnic Institute at Pasadena today on the future of Europe. He has appeared on the lecture platform in New York, Chicago and other eastern cities and delivered an address at San Francisco before coming here.

CLAIMS PERSISTED

"The French policy in the Ruhr and Rhineland provinces is wrecking Europe," declared Count Kessler. "France has finally achieved the complete domination of the Rhineland, an aim she has pursued for three centuries. The French began actively to press their claims in this direction in the fall of 1914, and they have persisted ever since.

"Their demands, which constituted one of the principal matters in controversy at the Peace Conference, were rejected by both President Wilson and Lloyd George. In spite of this, however, they have gone on and pursued a policy which has finally made them the absolute masters in the contested territory."

He suggested that a crisis will probably be reached in April when the agreement terminates entered into some time ago between the French government and the German industrialists, permitting the latter to operate under certain restrictions imposed by the French.

CONTRACT OPPOSED

"This agreement was made by the Germans to save themselves from bankruptcy," said Count Kessler. "I doubt if it will be renewed when it expires. I believe the industrial interests will prefer bankruptcy to a continuance of the plan under which they are now conducting their business."

Count Kessler said the Germans are waiting hopefully for the report of the committee under Gen. Dawes, which is now conducting an investigation of the German situation.

"It is the feeling in Germany that this report will furnish a remedy for the ills that now beset us," he said, "and it is a foregone conclusion that it will be accepted by the German government without question."

He suggested that in his opinion the only thing that might avert a final catastrophe would be pressure brought to bear on the French from America and England.

Warns Against Speculation in Burial Ground

"People intending to buy cemetery lots as a speculation should beware," said Real Estate Commissioner Keiser in a warning issued yesterday. "There are plenty of cemeteries for present needs and new ones are being started."

Mr. Keiser, who returned yesterday from a trip to the north, said cemetery salesmen are active in various parts of the State. He has not been able to find, he said, that such property had ever been resold to any extent with success, but announced he has information of hundreds of disappointed investors who have sought in vain for a chance to resell.

A hearing yesterday morning of complaints against the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Finance Company, selling agents for Valhalla Memorial Park, came to an abrupt ending when L. B. Youngworth, attorney for the complainants, sought formally to question members of the company. Atty. O. O. Clark, for the defendants, objected on the ground that he had not anticipated such a proceeding and had prepared no formal defense. At his request Commissioner Keiser continued the hearing until the 13th inst., at 10 a.m.

ROUND ONE
A PUNCH—AND JUDY

I remember the first look I took at the cubbyhole on the top floor just about wound matters up. The walls is papered terrible red, or maybe this rabbit hutch kind of blushed when the landlady called it a room. A faded rag carpet on the floor, a white-enameled cot like you get in the hospital, a chair not even fit to use as a weapon, a bureau which I bet come off the Ark, a picture of Theodore Roosevelt with the compliments of the New York Blade, a cartoon of a vase of roses in a gift frame, a window with a wide crack in the upper pane of glass—or else it was grinning at me: "Not so good, eh?"

Still, everything is as clean and neat as a new pin. But I can't sleep in a new pin. I'm looking for a out, when Mrs. Willcox, the kind of silvery-haired, sweet-faced old lady your grandmother was or is, takes things in hand.

"This here's seven and a half dollars a week with board—ahump—in advance," she says, and looks at me. I guess she must of heard me gulping. I had $8, even. "What did you say your name was?" she adds.

I ain't said nothing about my name, but I did now. "Gale Galen."

"Plannin' on stayin' in Drew City for a spell?" is the next question.

"That's up to Drew City," I says, telling the truth. "I—"

"What sort of business you in, Mister Galen?" she cuts me off.

The "Mister" tickled me. Why shouldn't it at 17. I bet the first time you was called "Mister" it tickled you, too.

"The business I'm in right now, Mrs. Willcox," I says, "is looking for a job."

"Ahump!" says Mrs. Willcox, plenty suspicious.

I leave her to be that way, for the reasons that I have already made up my mind that I don't want no part of that two-by-four room for seven and a half or for nothing at all a week. Even if I am a poor fish, I am no sardine. I like plenty of parking space. So I kind of moved to the door.

"I don't think I want to take—er—" I begin.

A door slams open downstairs with a bang, feet comes pattering up the two flights, a voice that made me snap out of it with a click calls: "Oh, mother!" and a minute later a million dollars' worth of girl yanks open the door, sees me, says, "Oh, I beg your pardon," and blushes into two million dollars' worth of girl.

"Land sakes, Judy, can't you ever come into the house 'thout bangin' the doors off?" says Mrs. Willcox, kind of peved. Judy shakes a head of hair that must of enraged a lot of her girl friends and shows me all her nice white teeth. Me? I'm double cuckoo. I don't know what it's all about till Mrs. Willcox coughs and it wasn't from no cold. I reached in my pocket and handed over all but four bits of my bank roll.

"I'll take the room, Mrs. Willcox," I says, pushing the money into her hand. "Eh—I want to see some people here and—eh—what time is supper?"

"Dinner," says Judy, her eyes twinkling at me, "is at 7."

"I generally always exchange references," says Mrs. Willcox, looking at Judy and frowning a bit. "And ——"

"That's all right," I says from out in the hall. "You don't need to give me no references, Mrs. Willcox!" and then, before she could say some more, I took the air. I had to get a job. Less than a hour later I landed one as soda jerker in Ajariah Stubbs' "Cash Beats Credit!" drug store. Seven a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and very few laughs.

That was six years ago and maybe you think that's a lot of memorandum about nothing at all to remember that long. You wouldn't think so if you could of seen Judy—that's Judith Willcox. It ain't the slightest trouble for me to remember every detail in any ways connected with me meeting her. I'll remember that right up to the time they send for the embalmer! Yet I'm no memory shark. I forget plenty things, as some of my many ex-bosses could tell you. They should—they told me—But certain things kind of stand out, things that I don't have to look back to, they're always as fresh and clear down to the smallest detail as if they happened yesterday. Like these—the time Dewey got rid of the Spanish navy at Manila Bay and I got rid of armfuls of special extras on a street corner in Boston, when I should of been in public school instead of being a studious pupil of 9 summers in the School of Experience . . . the time I fell off a dock into the harbor at the mellow age of 11 and find out I can't swim . . . a operation for aprendicjitis . . . the pay envelope from my first job . . . the first time I seen Judy Willcox . . . but that's enough to give you an idea of what kind of things sticks in my mind. I remember Dewey's sensational win because I get a nickel apiece that morning for penny papers, the flop into the harbor for the reasons that a cop pulled me out and gets both our pictures in the paper, the operation because I didn't have appendicitis, the pay envelope because I lose it, and the first time I seen Judy Willcox because she knocks me so dizzy I rush out of her mother's boarding-house without any hat and had to buy another one with my last half-dollar, on the account I'm afraid I can't get a job bareheaded.

Well, anyways, after a year I'm still on the wrong side of the counter, mixing a mean ice cream soda and shaking a wicked egg phosphate for old Ajariah Stubbs. I was clicking off 12 bucks the week and I had plenty responsibilities—I deliver in a flivver, prescriptions and ice cream. But I'd made up my mind I wasn't going to spend the rest of my life behind no soda fountain. I didn't do all my dreaming at night and I was determined that some day I was going to mean something.

What brings me to Drew City, in the first place, is the Jersey Central Railroad and a desire to see Jack Reynolds, which jerks soda with me in Boston before he goes back to his home town, this village thirty-eight miles from New York, where even the circus only stops for a day. Jack's real trade is being an advance agent for carnivals, and between seasons, why, he puts on a white coat and apron and slings soda.

You'd be surprised at some of the fellows you run across in the soda-dispensing game. While I was in it, I worked side by side with actors, chorus men, song writers, press agents, scrappers, fellows working their ways through college, ex-bartenders, etc., all, except the ex-bartenders, waiting for something to turn up in their own line. You know in the big towns a first-class soda jerk can knock off 18 to 20 bucks a week and a good head soda man which can also mix syrups can ask and get $25 to $30. Plenty of milk-fed private secretaries and law clerks gets far less.

Aside from the fly-by-nights, which only goes behind a fountain while waiting for a chance to do their real trick, there's thousands of fellows has made a first-class trade out of jerking soda. And to get the important money you got to know a whole lot more about the calling than just being able to put on a white coat and apron and saying: "Get your checks from the cashier, please!" Oh, my, yes! If you don't think so, try and get a job on a first-class fountain in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Chicago and hamlets of that size. You get put through a examination that would make Edison's foolish questions sounds like a kindergarten test and you got to be well heeled with references, don't think you don't.

You can tell a big league head soda jerk by the way he picks up a glass, but the acid test is what kind of chocolate syrup he can make in the summer and what kind of tomato bouillon he can throw together in the winter when hot drinks gets the call at the fountain. Plenty flavors can be bought in bulk, but no first-class fountain buys tailor-made chocolate. The most popular flavor of 'em all is always made personally by the head soda man and he takes as much pride in his chocolate as Dempsey does in his right hook. He says it with chocolate and he composes a mean syrup. You bother him when he's making up a batch and good-by job! Fountains is made or broke amongst soda jerks by their chocolate syrup and making it right is a sure enough gift.

Well, when I get to Drew City, Jack Reynolds has gone away a week before with some carnival, so my chances of busting head first into the theatrical business is all shot to pieces. I ain't got enough jack to get back to Boston, and New York frightens me in the short view I got of it changing trains. I don't even know a street address there and it looks so big and cold-hearted—everything and everybody rushing and tearing along with a kind of wild, worried look on their faces—well, it scares me stiff, no fooling! Then, like I said, along comes Judy Willcox, and I hang my hat up in Drew City and call it home.

At first I don't make the headway with Judy that I'd like to, and that's a fact. She was 16 when I hit Drew City and on her seventeenth birthday I gave her a gold-banded fountain pen with her initials on it. Judy got a total of nine presents for that birthday. Five of 'em was gold-banded fountain pens and I wish now I had gave her my present in cash and she could of got something she really needed—probably fountain pen ink.

ASSEMBLY PLANT MAY COME HERE

Gray Motor Company to Locate Establishment in Coast District

Establishment of an assembling plant for Gray motor cars may follow the visit here of F. L. Klingensmith of Detroit, president of the Gray Motor Car Company of that city.

Mr. Klingensmith, now at the Alexandria, formerly was an associate of Henry Ford, being vice-president and treasurer of the Ford Motor Company at the time of severing his connection with that corporation in 1921. The company of which he is now the head has had the Gray on the market for a year and a half.

"We are now making arrangements for an agency in Los Angeles and will push our sales on the Pacific Coast," he said. "I have been looking over the situation out here for some days and it is certain that we will erect an assembling plant somewhere in California this summer. We may decide on Los Angeles, though this is a point on which we have not as yet fully decided. This plant will be the supply station for the entire coast."

Prospects for continued prosperity in the automobile business were never better than at present, Mr. Klingensmith declared.

"There has been no slowing down in the activity that characterized business last year," he said. "Business has become so thoroughly organized that politics doesn't affect it to such an extent as was the case years ago."

The Gray Company is preparing to turn out 36,000 machines this year.

"We built 5000 cars in 1922, the first year the car was on the market, and 18,000 last year," he said.

"The improvement in roads is responsible for the trend toward lighter cars," he explained. "In our State of Michigan we have a network of improved roads connecting all the county seats. The same is true of the other Eastern States. With better roads the heavy machines of the past are not necessary."

VOTE RECOUNT STARTS

A recount of the vote cast in the Santa Monica election of December 3, 1923, at which a $1,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a municipal water plant and a $90,000 bond issue for a public library were voted, was started yesterday in Judge Sayre's department of the Superior Court. The suit to have the election declared invalid was begun on a technicality.

The new way to correct constipation

A perfect emulsion of Mineral Oil and Agar-Agar (Japanese Sea Moss) at last accomplished

AGAR-AGAR (Japanese Sea Moss) in combination with Mineral Oil has produced the ideal corrective for constipation that physicians have long desired. If you have any doubt as to the desirability of these remedies, it might be well to ask your doctor.

ALL laxatives and physics work on the same principle. They stimulate the intestines into action by drugs. After the first effect of these drugs is worn off, an increased dose is often necessary until finally the use of laxatives becomes a habit.

Laxatives may be violent like castor oil, salts and calomel, or milder like some so-called fruit and vegetable laxatives — but all laxatives "work" because they contain one or more drugs.

What physicians recommend

THAT is why physicians have generally recommended two harmless and drugless substances—Mineral Oil and Agar-Agar (Japanese Sea Moss) — to correct constipation. Both are purely mechanical means to stimulate peristaltic action. Neither is absorbed by the system.

Ever since these two substances were used, science has endeavored to combine them in a single emulsion. It was generally recognized that this combination would be the ideal mechanical way to encourage elimination of the waste products and poisons of the system, without the use of drugs.

The discovery of AGRILIN

AFTER more than three years of experiment, the physicians and research chemists of one of the leading hospitals of America finally produced an emulsion of Agar-Agar and Mineral Oil that successfully met all tests. In thousands of observed hospital cases, it produced uniformly good results. It was then decided to place this emulsion, called AGRILIN, within reach of everyone suffering from constipation by placing it on sale in drug stores.

What AGRILIN is

AGRILIN is a snow-white, creamy emulsion, practically without taste or odor. The Agar-Agar corrects the tendency of mineral oil to seepage when used alone. But it has an even more important function. Agar-Agar has the remarkable property of swelling or increasing in bulk.

This, in combination with mineral oil, softens and lubricates the waste matter and prevents it from becoming dry and compact. The colon is encouraged to natural action; particles adhering to the walls that do not respond to ordinary laxatives, are loosened and passed along by normal peristaltic processes.

Thus AGRILIN is purely a mechanical aid to the action of nature in eliminating waste matter and poisons, leaving the system thoroughly clean.

AGRILIN should find a place in every household. It may be given to small children or invalids with absolute safety. The best recommendation for AGRILIN is that it is absolutely harmless.

You may take it with full assurance that you are not forming a habit, or taking just another cathartic.

ORDERS OF COURT AIDE HELD VALID

Judge Crail Hands Down Opinion Upholding Action of Miss O'Keefe

Seeking to clarify the question of the legality of court orders signed by Miss Ann O'Keefe, who acted as commissioner of the Superior Court during last year while Judge Crail served as presiding jurist, the latter yesterday handed down a lengthy opinion quoting authorities by which he held all orders signed by Miss O'Keefe to be legal.

The dispute over the legality of the orders arose when Judge Crail was succeeded as presiding judge by Judge York. Miss O'Keefe at the same time was transferred to Judge Guerin's departments, where she now inspects pleadings in law and motion matters.

The opinion of Judge Crail was incorporated in the papers of the divorce case of Lillian R. Parnell against Michael Parnell. In this case the court held that an order calling for publication of summons and signed by Miss O'Keefe was valid, and accordingly ordered that a default be entered in the County Clerk's office. Judge Crail stated he would take similar action in other cases brought before him where the question of the validity of orders signed by Miss O'Keefe was questioned.

CRUSHERS ENRICHING CITY'S TILL

Crime Squad's Activity in February Brings Fines of $15,000, and Jail Terms

The city of Los Angeles was enriched $15,000 through the activities of the Crime Crushers, Chief Vollmer's invisible division, during the month of February, according to a report given out yesterday by Acting Captain Toomey, head of the division. This was the sum collected in fines in the police court from persons arrested by members of the Crime Crushers.

The report also shows that a total of 9371 days was meted out by police judges in an aggregate of judgments, while the suspended sentences totaled 10,970 days.

The total number of arrests made by the division was 840. Out of this number, forty-six were for burglary, sixteen for violation of the State poison law, twenty-eight for robbery, one for murder, 100 for violation of the liquor laws, 164 for drunkenness, 342 for vagrancy.

Comparative figures for January showed, it was pointed out by Capt. Toomey, that the invisible division is gradually cleaning out the crooks from Los Angeles' underworld. The total of arrests made in January was 1637.

Screen Actor Agency Locks Up Its Doors

Faced with probable revocation of its employment agency license by the State Labor Commission, the Screen Actors' Club Agency, 921 West Sixth, yesterday suspended business after locking its doors.

Dr. Louis Bloch, statistician for the Labor Department, is understood to have recommended revocation of the license following an investigation of the affairs and methods of business of this concern. It is charged by the Labor Department that the firm has violated various sections of the law in accepting indirectly registration fees and in transfer of interest in the concern.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—[Advertisement.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. CHALICE MAY BE HOLY GRAIL

Dimensions Same as Those of Passover Cup

Church Fathers' Portraits Seen as Genuine

Firm's Possession Causes Much Discussion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—Possibility that the Antioch chalice in the possession of a firm of orientalists of New York contains genuine portraits of the first church fathers of Antioch and Jerusalem, and of Jesus Christ, is opened up by the study of Rev. Dr. James Alan Montgomery, professor of Semitics at the University of Pennsylvania and Old Testament and the Philadelphia Divinity School.

Although some scholars, notably Dr. Gustavus A. Eisen of New York, have intimated that the chalice, which was discovered at Antioch a few years ago, and which bears the exact dimensions of the ancient Jewish Passover cup, have intimated that the cup may be the Holy Grail, that view has generally been discredited.

STORM OF DISCUSSION

However, a storm of discussion has arisen in archeological services over the authenticity of the cup. Dr. Montgomery was first inclined to the conservative view that the cup was a product of the third or fourth centuries. His opinion, however, has changed. Dr. F. J. Foakes Jackson of Union Seminary has likewise joined the ranks of those who believe the cup to have been a product of the first century.

And now Dr. Montgomery, by identifying the symbol of an eagle on the cup with a Syrian cult of the first century, may have removed the greatest obstacle for believing the chalice to have been a product of the early Christian church.

The chalice, which is of silver, has an outer and inner cup. While the inner cup is quite plain and rests within the outer protective cup, the latter is ornately adorned.

Two figures of the Christ are represented on the cup. In the one figure he is a youth, on the opposite side of the chalice he is the man. Toward the two figures in an attitude of worship are carved the figures of ten early Christians.

FIGURES IDENTIFIED

Dr. Eisen in his first studies of the cup identified them with the twelve apostles. Dr. Montgomery at first suggested they may represent the tribes of Israel, but both suggestions were never accepted generally by scholars. Between the figures is interwoven the tracery of a vine, a common symbolism of the early church and figuring also in the didache or teaching of the twelve apostles, a work generally ascribed to the opening years of the second century.

But the stumbling block to the early origin of the cup was the figure of an eagle suspended over a basket of loaves beneath the feet of the Christ. Since 1917 it has generally been supposed that theeagle represented the protection of the Roman Empire under Emperor Constantine, which was attained in the fourth century, and therefore the chalice could only be later in Christian interest and could not possibly be identified with either the Grail or with the reproduction of the faces of the first fathers of the Lord.

OBSTACLE REMOVED

Dr. Montgomery's contribution to the study, however, it seems, will wipe out the difficulty of identifying the eagle with the Roman aegis.

Tonight Dr. Montgomery said:

"A Syrian cult thrived about Antioch in the first century of the Christian era, and came into contact with first Christian converts. Of that we are certain from the studies of Prof. Franz Cumont.

"The cult died out early with the rapid spread of Christianity. While it was a pagan religion, it had a lofty idealism. Inscriptions under the feet of the eagle have been found, where offerings were made to Theos Hyphistos, or to the highest god. It was a monotheistic development of an old Syrian religion.

"At the same time we know from the writings of Methodius, an early Christian apologist, that the eagle was a Christian symbol. Sometimes it was used to demonstrate the idea of immortality and, again, eternity.

USE OF EAGLE EXPLAINED

"The eagle lives to a great age, and some ancient writers used it as a figure to indicate the renewal of youth, much as the phoenix was used later to express the same idea. In that way, placed under the figure of the Christ, as the pagan symbol, it could mean the supremacy of the Christian gospel. But the idea that it represents the Roman Empire does not appeal to me to be a plausible conjecture."

Dr. Montgomery said the supposition that the figures on the cup were taken from originals was purely conjectural, and not to be taken seriously into consideration, although the possibility remained open.

BITE OF SAUSAGE ENDS DINER'S LIFE

PAXTON (Mass.) March 3.—A large bite of sausage ended the life of Henry Wall, 50 years of age, of Spencer. He was found dead in the home of Charles Hoyle.

THE REAL Theodore Roosevelt

AS TOLD IN THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF

Maj. Archie Butt,

Aide and Intimate of "T. R."

Copyright, 1924, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

CAPT. BUTT TO HIS SISTER-IN-LAW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23, 1909.

My Dear Clara:

Friday, that is, last night, we had another large dinner at the White House of over thirty covers, and the President was apparently in good humor again. After dinner the women went into the Green Room to drink coffee and gossip, and the men into the private dining-room to drink liquors and to gossip also. The President was at the large table with the German Ambassador on his right and Senator Carter on his left. I gathered a small table in the corner with Stumm, Prittwitz of the German Embassy, Billy Phillips and Straight and one or two foreigners without any special attributes to remember them by.

During the dance the President occasionally came to the Blue Room to receive with Mrs. Roosevelt and was certainly not at ease. Finally he said:

"I am going to my study, but if Senator Clark of Wyoming comes in I wish to know at once."

It was a half hour later when Senator Clark came in and as soon as I presented him to Mrs. Roosevelt I sent a junior aide to notify the President that Senator Clark had come.

PRESIDENT WALTZES

The President came down, passed in and out of the rooms, waltzed once with Mrs. Richardson, once with Miss Ethel and then "chanced" to run across Senator Clark. They talked in the Green Room for a few minutes, and then I saw the President take him by the arm and lead him away. I presume to his study. Later in the evening, when he appeared, he was his old self again. He joked, petted his wife's hand, and he and Alice sat in the Blue Room and laughed and talked for a half hour.

"The dance was not quite as brilliant as the first one. I may mention in passing, but far nicer than the second.

Well, to continue to camp on the President's trail: When I reached the White House office this morning at 9:45 he had not come in, and only Assistant Secretary of State Bacon and I were waiting for him. When he did arrive it was with a rush, and we stood ready to see if there was anything he wanted and to leave as soon as possible. He made us both sit down until he had looked over his engagements and then said:

SENATE SHOWS HAND

Do you know, I am glad I learned to play poker when I was young. If you two do not know poker, learn it even if it costs some money, for it may stand you in good stead some time. The Senate through Clark laid down its hand last night, and I am inclined to think my bluff went. However, I am inclined to keep my pistol ready, for sometimes after the cards are on the table the stakes are still in danger.

"I have really had a very disagreeable two days. The Senate called for certain papers in the Bureau of Corporations this week and on Thursday ordered Herbert Knox Smith to transmit all papers on a certain subject in his office. He comes to see me and to tell me that most of the papers were given in a confidential way; that if they were made public no end of trouble would ensue. I ordered Smith to get a decision from the Attorney-General that these papers should not be made public, and yesterday the Committee on Judiciary of the Senate summoned Herbert Knox Smith before it and informed him that if he did not at once transmit these papers the Senate would order his imprisonment at once or the committee would. As soon as he reported this to me I ordered him in writing to turn over to me all the papers in the case, so that I could assist the Senate in the prosecution of its investigation.

PLEDGES GUARDED

"I have those papers in my possession, and last night I informed Senator Clark of the Judiciary Committee what I had done. I told him also that the Senate should not have those papers and that Herbert Knox Smith had turned them over to me. The only way the Senate or the committee can get those papers now is through my impeachment, and I so informed Senator Clark last night.

"The Senator informed me that the Senate was only anxious to exercise its prerogatives and that if the papers were of such a nature that they should not be made public the committee was ready to indorse my views. But, as I say, it is just as well to take no chances with a man like Culberson, who is behind this thing, so I will retain those papers until the 3rd of March at least. Some of these facts which they want, for what purposes I hardly know, were given to the government under the seal of secrecy and cannot be divulged, and I will see to it that the word of this government to the individual is kept sacred."

We did have such a nice dinner this evening at the White House. The President and I were the only men, and the women were all intimate friends of Mrs. Roosevelt.

HAY LETTERS

The President had to go to another dinner at the Shoreham at 10, given by the New York delegation to Vice-President-elect Sherman, but we had about an hour all together in the library. We all sat round in a circle and Miss Tuckerman began by saying:

"Mr. President, tell us some State secrets."

"Emily," he said, "I have never been asked in quite so open a way before to betray my country, but go ahead. I will answer any question which you are a mind to put."

She did not know what to say at first; then, noticing that her hand rested on three volumes of letters which the family of John Hay has had printed, she asked:

"What do you think of these letters?"

"The only ones which are of any interest, namely these connected with his son's death, ought not too have been printed, and the others are all childish and inane."

I, who never thought Hay a big man, got in by saying that these letters (I had only looked over them) gave an argument to those who did not rate Hay very highly to convince other people of the fact. "Exactly," said the President. "There is not one letter that will add to his reputation, and most of them will detract from it."

TELLS OF CORRUPTION

Mrs. Hopkins asked: "Mr. President, do you think he was a great Secretary of State?"

"No, he was never a great Secretary of State, and as an executive he was a complete failure. I could never get him to remove a Minister or Consul who was a grafter or a ninny, but he would remove the very best men in the service if a Senator asked it for political reasons, and then try to square his conscience over it later by abusing the Senator to me. I could never get him to act. I had to send——out to the East to find out the facts about the corrupt Consuls there, and even then the whole trouble was further added to by—'s accepting a tiger skin from one of them and testifying that it had been put in his trunk by mistake.

"Jackson was another brilliant light whom I found there. Hay rated him very highly, and I accepted his judgment until one day at dinner I heard Jackson say that he regarded Holland as the best country on the globe to be stationed if one had a rank under that of Ambassador. I expected some profound reason for it and asked for it.

ANSWER WRECKS CAREER

"His answer was that one could get to the opera or a ball in Paris, Berlin or Dresden in some few hours—I have forgotten how many. Think of it! Of course, he wrecked his career then and there, and I have continued to transfer him until now I have him shelved in Persia, where he gnashes his teeth and howls to me to promote him to civilization again.

"I do not believe to strongly in civil service in the diplomatic corps, for somehow a man gets tainted who stays too long and really loses his proper perspective of things at home.

"I am glad Griscom is coming home. Most of them sooner or later put up a bluff by saying, as poor Tower did, that he felt he should be relieved—I knew what else was coming, so I relieved him before he could get it out. What they like to do, all of them, is to say they think they ought to be relieved, but that they will remain as a sense of duty.

"I always have to laugh when I think how the Emperor left both Tower and Griscom hanging by the heels when they both reported to me that he was opposed to receiving Hill and desired Tower to remain. Tower, not being as wise as Griscom, put it in the newspapers, and so when I asked through Speck Sternberg if Hill was persona non grata the Emperor denied it, and Griscom's face was saved only because he had the wisdom to keep out of print."

EARLY MISSION PARK'S CENTER

Seventeen-Century Ruin Has Historic Value

Built by Jesuits, Restored by Franciscans

Attack by Apaches Chapter of Its History

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Tumacacori National Monument embraces ten acres of land in Santa Cruz county, Arizona, about forty-nine miles south of Tucson and nineteen miles north of Nogales. On the tract is located an ancient Spanish mission ruin, dating, it is thought, from the latter part of the seventeenth century, built by Jesuit priests from Spain and operated by them for nearly a hundred years. The most authentic information is that this mission, known as the Mission San Jose de Tumacacori, was founded by the Jesuit priest, missionary and explorer, Father Eusebio Francisco Kino, about 1691.

After the year 1769 priests belonging to the order of Franciscan Fathers took charge of the mission and repaired its crumbling walls, maintaining peaceable possession thereof for about sixty years. In the early part of the nineteenth century the mission was attacked by Apache Indians, who drove the priests away and disbanded the peaceable Papago Indians residing in the vicinity of the mission. When found by Americans, about the year 1850, the mission was in a condition of ruin.

The ruins, as they stand, consist of the walls and tower of an old church building, the walls of a mortuary chamber at the north end of the church building, and a court or churchyard, surrounded by an adobe wall two and one-half feet thick and six feet high.

The walls of the church building are six feet thick, built of adobe and plastered both inside and outside with lime mortar an inch thick. The inside walls of the main church building received two coats of this plaster, a first or inner coat being of a rather coarse character, and the finishing coat being of a very fine, hard and lasting character. The dome over the sanctuary and the belfry tower are constructed of burned brick, in which respect the construction differs from other early Spanish missions. Inside the dimensions of the church are eighteen feet wide by seventy-five feet in length. The part used for the altar is situated at the north end. It is eighteen feet square, surmounted by a circular dome, finished on the inside with white plaster decorated or frescoed in colors. The plaster and decorations are in a good state of preservation, but the altar is entirely gone. On the east of the sanctuary there is a sacristy, sixteen by twenty feet and twenty feet high, covered with a barrel-vaulted roof built of burned brick, supported in the center by an arch. The sanctuary and sacristy are the only parts of the mission which are now roofed over. In the south end of the church there was a choir loft carried on an arch. This loft and arch are now broken down. The outside wall of the north end of the church building is decorated with white plaster studded at regular intervals with clusters made of fragments of broken slag and broken brick.

OF BURNED BRICK

About twenty-five feet north of the church building and in the center of the churchyard there is a circular mortuary chamber. The wall is three and a half feet thick by sixteen feet high, built of adobe, surmounted on the top with a row of ornamental cornice brick (made of burned brick.) The chamber has one entrance. The walls were originally decorated on the outside with white plaster studded with fragments of red brick.

The entrance to the church is at the south and has an arched doorway. To the east of the entrance there is a room about eighteen feet square, with a winding stairway inside leading up to the belfry. Access to the belfry is gained by means of this old stairway. This room is surmounted with the belfry tower, which is constructed of burned brick. The walls supporting the tower are adobe. Through action of the elements the church, appurtenant buildings and inclosing walls were in a very bad state of ruin when the monument was created. Most of the roofs had long since fallen in and portions of the main building had become undermined. Since that time, as rapidly as limited funds have permitted, the mission has been placed under roof and in good state of preservation by Frank Pinkley, superintendent of southwestern national monuments.

TOWNS ASSIST

In this work Supt. Pinkley has had financial assistance from the Arizona Legislature, the chambers of commerce of Tucson and Nogales and other organizations. In its present condition the mission is equally as interesting as any of the famed California missions and historically important to the student of the early history of the State.

The State highway between Tucson and Nogales passes the mission and is a good automobile road. Tucson is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad and the Bankhead and Old Spanish Trail highways. Nogales is the terminus of the Southern Pacific Tucson-Nogales branch. There is auto-stage service between Tucson and Nogales and the round trip to the monument can be made from either city in a day.

NEW TURN IN GAS ROW AT LONG BEACH

Manufacturers Seek to Have Funds Diverted for Harbor Improvements

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 3.—A new angle in the gas controversy was introduced today when a movement was started by the Manufacturers' Association to bring about the transfer of $3,000,000, realized by the city through the sale of bonds for the purchase or construction of a municipal gas plant, to the harbor fund for dredging and other improvements in the harbor district.

The association, which is opposed to the purchase of the Southern Counties Gas Company's plant or the construction of a new plant, advocates the diversion of the money derived from the gas bonds to the harbor fund and proposes that the question of the transfer be put before the voters. That such an action is entirely legal is the assertion of Albert H. Edmond, head of the Manufacturers' Association, who declared 'that the question has been submitted to legal authorities.

Instead of going into the retail gas business the city should tie up the gas company in a contract that would insure Long Beach gas consumers a rate for a number of years as low as that now prevailing, according to the association's plan. By such a move the city would put an end to existing litigation that has grown out of the City Council's attempts to go into the gas business, it is pointed out, and would release some $3,000,000 of gas money for improvements in the harbor district. The city is facing a $6,000,000 bond election for harbor improvements.

The grand-jury report charged needless waste of district money and improper handling of district affairs. The chairman referred to special cases of inefficiency in the district, operations which, he declared, he had been powerless to remedy.

PORT EXHIBIT SPACE TAKEN

Industrial Exposition of 1924 Bids Fair to Eclipse Previous Efforts; Entertainment Enlivened

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 3.—Virtually all exhibit space has been reserved for the 1924 harbor industrial exposition, which will be given in the municipal auditorium here the 24th inst. to April 3, inclusive, according to an announcement by exposition officials today.

Nearly 300 of the largest industries in the Southland will exhibit their products at the annual industrial classic. The displays will run the gamut from needlework and candy bars to motor boats and grand pianos.

Because of the tremendous throngs that visited the exposition last year, the time has been extended to ten days instead of six, as in preceding years. Sunday will be an "off day" at the show. Officials predict a record-breaking attendance.

Entertainment features are to be better, costlier and more numerous than in any past year, according to the exposition management. Several bands and orchestras will vie for musical honors. In addition there will be professional entertainers, vaudeville acts and a number of special attractions on an elevated runway extending the length of the auditorium.

As in other years, the "bally-hoo" atmosphere is to be strictly eliminated. Shows and attractions for which an admission is charged will be confined to the Pike outside the auditorium.

PASADENA, March 3.—Under the auspices of the jubilee year committee of the Chamber of Commerce, an exhibition of camera studies taken by Mode Wineman, well-known Pasadenan, will be opened to the public tomorrow afternoon in the Carmelita Park exhibition building.

This exhibition as planned by the Chamber of Commerce will be one of the outstanding events of the 1924 jubilee year celebration, of which all of Pasadena is taking a part.

The exhibit will be free to the public and has no commercial aspect, inasmuch as none of Mr. Wineman's camera studies has ever been offered for sale. He is truly an amateur photographer, taking pictures solely for the love of art and for the interests of the nation's great parks.

CRIME GAIN SEEN DURING PROHIBITION

Police of Washington Report Increase Much Greater Than Population's

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Prohibition has failed to put an end to crime in Washington, it is shown by statistics compiled by police officials and made public yesterday by Maj. Daniel Sullivan, superintendent of police.

The compilation of arrests on all charges from 1910 to 1923 shows that, although Washington's population has increased only 32.17 per cent since 1910 arrests in 1923 for serious crimes showed an increase of 107.47 per cent over those in 1910. Crimes against morality increased as did murder, manslaughter and thieving.

Arrests for violation of the prohibition laws themselves last year totaled 13,044. Arrests for drunkeness, which dropped considerably in 1918, have gone steadily upward since then and last yeqr numbered 8268, an increase of 121.20 per cent over the arrests made in 1910.

Prohibition, police officials said, has added materially to the work of the police department, has brought into being a new type of criminal, who has the support of persons in the highest stratum of society, and has been responsible for many crimes other than the violation of the liquor laws.

Maj. Sullivan refused to comment on the statistics. They were not compiled, he declared, to prove any preconceived idea, nor was it a condemnation of the prohibition laws.

Arrest for nonsupport of wife and children showed a decrease of 89.76 per cent, incorrigibility a decrease of 56.27 per cent and cases of indigent or dependent children a decrease of 56 per cent.

TWO SLASHED AFTER PRANK

Workmen's Playfulness With Oil Lands Father and Son in Hospital, Assailant in Jail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

UPLAND, March 3.—Two men were seriously wounded this morning, one may die and a third is in the City Jail facing a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, which may be changed to manslaughter as the result of a fight at the plant of the Liberty Groves Operating Corporation on East Nineteenth street, which started in an apparently harmless joke.

John Williamson is suffering from a punctured right lung and other deep knife wounds and his 17-year-old son is severely cut on the mouth and neck. V. L. Hicks, accused of wielding the knife, is the man in jail.

The trouble is said to have started Saturday afternoon when a gang of workmen was engaged in cleaning out smudge pots. Some one is reported to have daubed a fellow-workman in the face with oil and the fun is said to have continued innocently until Hicks, taking exception to the actions of Young Williamson, is alleged to have knocked him down, giving him a black eye and smearing oil in his hair.

This morning the elder Williamson went to Hicks and took him severely to task for attacking his son. Words became heated and Williamson is reported finally to have struck the other in the face, whereupon Hicks drew a knife and jumped on his adversary.

Hicks is reported to have had the father down and plunging the knife into him when Young Williamson took a hand and, attempting to wrest the knife from the hands of his father's assailant, was badly slashed across the lips and on the back of the neck.

The two Williamsons were rushed to the San Antonio Hospital, where the father was found to be in a serious condition and his case was reported grave tonight. Hicks is being held without arraignment to await the outcome of Williamson's injuries.

CAR THEFT RING SCHEME NIPPED

Trio Taken in San Diego for Investigation

Three Fine Machines Held for Identification

Wholesale Disposal Plot Thought Killed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—What is believed by local police to have been a scheme to market stolen automobiles here and elsewhere in Southern California was revealed here today, when Chief of Police James Patrick arrested two men and a woman and recovered three expensive cars, said to have been stolen in Kansas City.

Investigation of the attempted sale of a car with altered engine numbers led to the discovery of a letter to a San Diego woman, asking her to advertise for the sale of the automobiles. This aroused the suspicions of both the local police and the Department of Justice and a thorough inquiry of the matter was started.

It was found that the three cars, two of them Cadillacs, one practically new, had been stolen in Kansas City, Mo. Harley King, Mrs. Lena King and James Cranford were placed under arrest during the investigation.

Chief Patrick said that the persons arrested in the case would be turned over to the Federal authorities for prosecution under the Dyer Act. It is believed by the police that other stolen cars would have headed this way from the East had not the three "pathfinders" been seized.

It is estimated that a crowd of more than 100,000 persons will be present the 16th inst. to witness the start of the flight.

TWELVE LOTS PURCHASED BY SCHOOL TRUSTEES AT BRAWLEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRAWLEY, March 3.—Twelve lots adjoining the site of the elementary school grounds here have been purchased by the school trustees to provide additional playground facilities for the pupils. The deal, whereby the school board takes over the property, has been pending for five years and represents a consideration of $8600.

It was proposed to buy the property five years ago, but opposition developed among the taxpayers and the transaction was held up. An overcrowded condition in the elementary schools has caused the trustees to plan additions to the present buildings and this fact brought the prolonged deal to a close.

President H. B. Griffin of the board of trustees declared the purchase to be a bargain for the school district, and necessary at this time.

BORDER CLOSING TO HURT CASINO

Calexico Line to be Barred Early Each Night

Federal Order Expected by Customs Official

California Residents Vote Approval of Plan

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, March 3.—An announcement from Washington that the United States customshouse will be closed at 9 o'clock each evening, beginning probably next week, has caused much agitation among American proprietors of resorts in Mexicali. While no official word of the proposed change in order has been received by Hugh Shepherd, inspector in charge of the customshouse here, he said he expected the official order at any time.

"If put into effect the new order will be a great help to customs inspectors," said Inspector Shepherd. "It will give them shorter working hours. I do not believe the closing of the line at 9 o'clock will work any particular hardship on Imperial county business houses."

OWL TO BE HIT

The places to be affected by the new order if carried into effect will be the big gambling casino of Allen, Beyers and Washington, known as the Owl. This place recently was opened to the public and represents an investment of more than $250,000. The owners pay a license of $1000 monthly to the territorial government of Lower California for the exclusive gambling privileges in the Mexicali district.

Practically their entire source of income is provided by the dollars contributed to the various games operated in the big building, the money coming mostly from Americans from the California side of the line. On any Saturday or Sunday night the place is crowded almost to the doors and on other nights scores may be seen playing continually until after midnight.

CAFES TO SUFFER

Several bars and cafes where liquor is sold have been opened in the last year or two at considerable expense to cater to Americans, many of whom dined regularly at these places because of their opposition to the Vosted Act. Dining in Mexicali before it is not only uninteresting but lacking in thrills or excitement of any sort, these cafes are expected to suffer from the closing of the chain across the international line here. Several of the cafes have dance floors and jazz orchestras which the proprietors have installed in order to attract the American trade.

Bankers, county and city officials, business men and employers of labor in this county expressed pleasure at the new closing order.

Elsinore Land Trusts

A REAL ESTATE SYNDICATE

Being a real estate syndicate, it is the surest, quickest way to make the biggest profits in real estate.
—It has under option, 2,000 acres at Lake Elsinore, over 80% of which is under irrigation, closely adjoining the property on which the Southern California Athletic and Country Club is spending $1,000,000 for recreational purposes.
—It has a big demand for its lands in four distinct markets.
—It gives the strongest possible assurance of a three-to-one return on your syndicate interest.
—It is a trust estate, giving you unusual safeguards.

LAKE ELSINORE, located within a 2½-hour motor drive of Los Angeles, on the inland route to San Diego, has long been one of the most famous health resorts in the west because of its mineral springs. It is noted too as an agricultural section, its citrus fruits, walnuts, deciduous fruits and other products attaining a rare degree of excellence.

Two big events are coming to pass at LAKE ELSINORE which give this beautiful valley a position of unequaled advantage—

1. The establishment of a great country club, three 18-hole golf courses, one 9-hole course, polo field, mountain trails and water sport facilities.
2. Organization of a large irrigation district that will extend water to several thousand acres of rich new land.

Management

The management of Elsinore Land Trusts devolves upon a group of exceptionally capable, trustworthy men, well-known in Southern California business and real estate circles. The advantage of their service in this capacity will accrue through their skill in subdividing, their intimate knowledge of the various real estate markets, and their ability to derive the largest possible returns consistent with a prompt liquidation of the trust.

These Are The Trustees:

EDWIN BERGSTROM, President—Capitalist, engineer, architect and builder of long experience in and about Los Angeles.

ROBERT A. CRAIG, Vice-President—Engineer and investment broker of Los Angeles, formerly City Manager for Santa Barbara, Cal., and Phoenix, Ariz.

H. C. FERAUD, Secretary and Treasurer—Director of a number of prominent California corporations; vice-president of Southern California Rock & Gravel Co., and formerly Vice-President and General Manager of the Union Rock Co.

ROY C. SEELEY—Realtor and investment broker of many years experience in and about Los Angeles and Southern California.

E. J. DEL PORTE—Is President of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, and has had long, practical experience in the real estate business and the problems of subdivision.

NEWLIN & ASHBURN—Attorneys for Elsinore Land Trusts, with offices in Title Insurance Building.

The combination of brains and experience represented in these trustees, together with a substantial incentive, assures the Elsinore Land Trusts efficient management and a prompt, profitable liquidation of the trusts.

Every acre under option in Elsinore Land Trust No. 1 is being rendered more and more valuable by the activities of the Country Club and through the formation of the new irrigation district, ample water has been provided for every acre that will be sold to the public.

You can see now, just why this property will sell in four markets:

1. As three, five and ten-acre farms and orchards.
2. As country club estates with high restrictions.
3. As canyon cabin and lodge sites, with varying restrictions.
4. As tracts which independent real estate operators are already vigorously endeavoring to secure for sub-division purposes.

Join This Real Estate Syndicate for Large QUICK Profits!

The 2,000 acres of land in Elsinore Trust No. 1 will be bought by the syndicate at an average price of $312.50 an acre and should re-sell at an average of $1000 net after all necessary costs of improving, subdividing and marketing have been met. This estimate is based on an appraisal by eight dependable, well-informed men, who were decidedly conservative in their attitude.

Elsinore Land Trusts No. 1 is divided into only 1250 beneficial interests, each giving an undivided ownership in the entire 2,000 acres AND AN EQUAL INTEREST IN ALL THE PROFITS ACCRUING TO the syndicate. They cost $500 each and you can secure as many as you desire. Just three, at a cost of $1,500 should bring you a return of $4500!

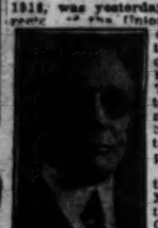
KEOWN ELECTED UNION DIRECTOR

Treasurer is Named to Fill Important Post

Operating Officials Promoted to Executive Board

Concentration of Authority in New Policy



R. J. KEOWN

R. J. Keown, treasurer since 1914, was yesterday elected a director of the Union Oil Company of California, taking the place of J. E. Fishburn, resigned. The change took place at a meeting of the board of directors of the corporation.

In addition to the election of Mr. Keown to the board, Chester W. Brown, E. I. Dyer and C. W. Ralph, who were elected directors at last week's annual stockholders' meeting, were placed on the executive committee. The executive committee now comprises nine members: W. L. Stewart, E. W. Clark, W. W. Orcutt, L. P. St. Clair, R. D. Matthews, A. B. MacBeth, Chester W. Brown, E. I. Dyer and C. W. Ralph.

Mr. Keown came to the Union as traveling auditor in 1907, being the only marketing station auditor the company had at that time. In 1909 he was appointed cashier of the San Francisco office, which included jurisdiction of all branch offices north of the Tehachapis. After four years in this position he was made assistant treasurer in 1913, the latter step being followed five years later by his election to the position of treasurer.

Action of the board of directors of the Union Oil Company in electing three of its new directors to the executive committee is looked upon as a distinctly progressive step by those in touch with the company's organization. The present executive committee, which is the actual directing force in the corporation, includes eight operating officers of the company. The president, executive vice-president, vice-presidents and comptroller have always been on the committee. Yesterday's decision places the operating officials in charge of exploration, refineries, research and engineering, and of sales and transportation also on the executive committee.

Of the present members of the executive committee, W. L. Stewart, president, W. W. Orcutt, vice-president, E. W. Clark, executive vice-president, R. D. Matthews, comptroller, are the oldest members. Mr. Stewart first became manager of the executive department of the company in 1903; Mr. Orcutt has been on the executive committee since 1908, while Mr. Clark and Mr. Matthews date their memberships on the committee to 1914. L. P. St. Clair became a member in 1921, the same year A. B. MacBeth was elected. C. W. Brown, E. I. Dyer and C. W. Ralph, while just placed on the executive board, have been with the Union Oil for years. Dyer dates his service to 1906, Ralph to 1911, while Brown is one of the veteran oil men on the coast, having worked for the Union as early as 1895.

PROFESSIONAL SELLING DRIVES PRICES LOWER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Cotton contract prices broke sharply in today's early trading on the local exchange after having opened moderately better than Saturday's finals. The decline, which was due to professional selling and the uncovering of stop-loss orders, was halted only when a recession of 66 to 75 points for the near months had been established and the ensuing bull sport turned the list up again. Sentiment became more cheerful as it was found that the 25-cent level was not an immediate prospect and local trade bulls took contracts on the way up to the close, which was 9 to 23 points net higher, except for October, which ended 11 points off.

Spot cotton closed at 25.50, up 25 points.

Bank Clearings Lead San Francisco; School Savings Top the Nation; Gum and Fish Stories

BY CHAPIN HALL

For the first time in the history of Los Angeles bank clearings, the clearinghouse announces that for the week ended February 28, this city passed San Francisco. The total clearings here were $132,704,000 compared with $132,400,000 in San Francisco, a gain of .2 per cent.

This city is gradually encroaching upon the traditional supremacy of the Bay City in total bank clearings, and on several days last year succeeded in passing the San Francisco mark, but has never until last week topped the week's total. San Francisco's leadership in this respect is generally attributed to the fact that it is a Federal reserve city, and all banks throughout the State including Los Angeles institutions maintain balances there.

SCHOOL SAVINGS WIN

Thrift is now a part of the curriculum in the elementary schools of the Los Angeles city school district, and the campaign under the direction of A. J. Gray, supervisor of the Los Angeles Banks School Savings Association, is bearing a golden fruit.

Mr. Gray yesterday prepared a table which shows the very fine constructive work which is being done in Los Angeles and the local association has a legitimate right to "point with pride" to the fact that the average school savings in 114 cities in the United States where the plans is in active operation amount to $3.61 per pupil per annum, while the Los Angeles average is $10.77.

The following statement is prepared by the associatio as of February 20. It indicate that 41,517 elementary school pupils have on deposits nearly $500,000 an expansion in eight months from $0,921; a growth in total deposits from $232,541.55 and in average account during the same length of time from $7.51:

GUM CHEWING

The United States spends $1,000,000 a week for its chewing gum, and the habit is rapidly extending to other countries, according to the Department of Commerce, which says that good salesmanship, judicious advertising in the foreign field, and thorough investigations of foreign markets through direct representatives have been prime factors in the world-wide use of chewing gum. The ability with which American manufacturers have tackled foreign selling problems may be gleaned from the fact that gum wrappers are printed in eighteen different languages. Thus, gum for China has the individual packages put up in wrappers, the contents of which are described in Chinese; that for Japan is lettered in Japanese, etc.

In the phenomenal progress of American industrial development during the past half century, the manufacture of chewing gum from chicle constitutes an interesting chapter. This business dates back to 1869, when, it is stated, the original industry was begun on an outlay of $55. In that year an American inventor while making an unsuccessful attempt to vulcanize the sap of the sapota tree for use as a rubber substitute discovered the similarity of chicle to spruce and cherry gums, the main chewing gums hitherto known. After experimentation, he quickly recognized the complete adaptability of chicle as a base for chewing gum.

CREDIT SITUATION

On the Pacific Coast California and Oregon show less purchasing than a week ago with a slight increase in Washington, according to the weekly report of the Credit Clearinghouse. The decline throughout the country equals 2.6 per cent as compared with the preceding week.

All sections contribute to this decline, the largest decrease, equal to 4.4 per cent, being in the north agricultural section. The East comes next, with a decrease in purchasing equal to 3.0 per cent. The Pacific Coast and mountain sections record a decrease of 2.8 per cent. The middle agricultural section shows a decrease of 2.4 per cent. The smallest decrease, 2.0 per cent below the preceding week, is registered in the south agricultural section.

In contrast to this decrease in purchasing, there is a marked improvement in collections, the Pacific Coast and mountain sections making a particularly good showing. There is still some slowness in the middle agricultural section.

FRESH FISH! HUH!

Comes now a publicity director (that's what they call 'em in the financial district) who goes back 2,000,000 years to get a start for his wash-day story. It is difficult for Los Angeles financiers or investors to think in terms of less than six ciphers, which probably accounts for his decision to place the plot beyond the recollection of even the oldest original settler. Anyway, here's the yarn, even to the retention of his "approximately." In case some interested reader wants to know how long an "approximation" of 2,000,000 years may be, he is respectfully referred to the author, or Frank Pettingell or some one with a better memory than Trade Talk:

"Stevens, Page & Sterling have framed in their offices a very interesting fish fossil, said to be approximately 2,000,000 years old, obtained from the diatomaceous earth deposits near Lompoc.

"Recently, in connection with their offering of Celite Company 7½ per cent preferred stock, the salesmen were taken on a trip to Lompoc to look over the quarries of the Celite Company. This fish fossil was found by one of the members of the party at that time. According to geologists, the fossil is probably 2,000,000 years old, or of a time when the country around Lompoc was divided into small fresh water bays.

"The diatoms, which later formed the diatomaceous earth, were, when living, the green scum on the floors of the fresh water bays. These bays were filled with many thousands of fish that came in during the spawning season and were caught by an earth temblor and buried."

YOUR INCOME TAX

BY JOHN G. HERNDON, JR.

[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

In the article appearing under this heading under date of January 30, 1924, there was discussion of the controversy which had arisen in the matter of placing the income of taxpayer, who died during the calendar year, on an annual basis for the purpose of determining his tax.

Since that article was written the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, has announced that no appeal will be taken from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit in the case of Bankers' Trust Company vs. Bowers, and that there will be an amendment to the regulations which will conform with the opinion of the court.

As was pointed out in the article appearing under date of January 30, the Secretary of the Treasury has recommended to Congress the incorporation in the new revenue measure of a provision that the income of decedents dying during the taxable year shall not be placed upon an annual basis. It is of particular interest to note that the court held in the case mentioned above that the returns of decedents and their estates cover an entire year and not a fractional part, since they reflect the entire income received by the decedent and by the decedent's estate during the year in question.

As a result it is not necessary to reduce the exemption of a married person whose annual income would have run in excess of $5000 had he lived thoughout the year, but who actually received less than that amount up to a date of his death. A taxpayer, who at the date of his death was married, or was the head of a family, is therefore entitled to the $2500 rather than the $2000 exemption if the actual net income he received from the beginning of the year until the date of his death was not in excess of $5000.

This new rule becomes retroactive as far back as 1921. Claims for refund should be duly filed without unnecessary delay and it is not necessary that payment should have been made under protest in order to secure a refund through the department. There is some doubt, however, whether a refund could be secured by suit unless payment had been made under protest.

The regulations recently were so amended as to provide, according to Treasury decision 3492, that a case will not be reopened when it has been closed by final decision after the taxpayer has had an opportunity to appeal as provided in the foregoing tax law. The rule there stated, however, excludes from its consideration those cases which are materially affected by a change in the regulations or by a final decision in another case by the Commissioner or by the courts. In the case at hand there is a material change brought about by the regulations and by a final decision by the Circuit Court and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

If the estate of the decedent has been closed and the beneficiaries have received the assets, it will be proper for them to file a claim for the refund of the tax overpaid by the executor or administrator of the decedent taxpayer's estate.

It is particularly to be borne in mind that the change in the regulations will not include the case of living taxpayers who of their own volition make application for permission to to file a return for a period of less than twelve months in order to adjust their income-tax period from a calendar year to some new file a return for a period of fiscal year basis, or from one fiscal year basis to another or form a fiscal year basis to a calendar year basis. In all of those cases where the return is to be filed for a period of less than twelve months, the income is to be placed upon an annual basis just as before.

This provision will make no difference, however, in any way in the case of a corporation, except to the extent of determining whether it is entitled to the whole or part of the $2000 specific exemption authorized by law to those corporations whose income for the particular taxable year under consideration is not more than $25,000. Because of a special provision of law with regard to corporations whose income is between $25,000 and $25,250, the rule may be briefly stated that in the case of a corporation whose monthly income exceeds $2104.17 there is no necessity to place the income upon an annual basis, if it is remembered that it is not entitled to any specific exemption.

TAX EXEMPT IN CALIFORNIA

Application will be made for the certification of these bonds as a legal investment for Savings Banks in the State of California.

The following points upon which we base our recommendation of these bonds have been briefly summarized from the President's letter:

The bonds will be a direct lien upon all the property of the company now owned or hereafter acquired.

These bonds are issued to provide capital for addition and extension to the company's system.

The present value of the company's properties is substantially in excess of its total outstanding bonded and other indebtedness and the par value of all outstanding stocks.

The company owns in excess of 46,000 acres of real estate, conservatively valued at $7,500,000.

The commodity handled by the company is a necessity of life for which no substitute will ever be found.

The larger part of the company's property is of such a character that it is subject to very slow depreciation.

The company serves in its territory without competition and no competition is possible.

There is so little change from time to time in the method of handling water that the company's investment is negligibly affected by the element of obsolescence.

Further issuance of bonds under the Unifying and Refunding Mortgage, except for refunding underlying liens, is limited to a par amount not exceeding 75% of the cost of plant extensions when net earnings for twelve consecutive months out of the preceding fourteen months shall have been not less than one and one-half times the total interest on all bonds of the corporation outstanding and those for which authentications may have been requested.

No more of the First Mortgage 5½% bonds may be sold to the public and when and as available they must be deposited under the Unifying and Refunding Mortgage. At the conclusion of this financing there will be $4,932,100 First Mortgage 5½% Bonds deposited under the Unifying and Refunding Mortgage, which is 32.8% of the authorized total of those bonds.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Unsettled Market
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, March 3.—Receivership proceedings against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company unsettled the industrial section of today's bond market, while reactionary tendencies developed in general investment issues on the renewal of the soldiers' bonus hearing at Washington. Closing of the Argentine loan syndicate, with a sharp break in the 6 per cent bonds and the call for payments on the Japanese loan subscription also were credited with exerting a depressing influence.

Selling pressure was exerted against a wide variety of railroad and industrial issues. Sugar and rubber company liens and speculative railroad bonds were the heaviest losers.

Liquidation of United States government issues was inspired by uneasiness over the possible passage of the bonus legislation.

Following are closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange, furnished by Logan & Bryan, 628 South Spring street:

"All hands, reef topsails, ahoy!"

This is the order that was sung out aboard the old-time sailing vessel at the first signs of approaching storm. True, the captain might have kept her under full sail and made port. But caution is a great virtue in a captain. And "caution" is a quality not to be despised in the man who controls the financial fortunes of his family.

The well secured bond gives safety of principal and fixed return. It is by all odds the best investment for those who cannot afford to take risks.

We will be very glad to tell you more about the principles of bond investment and to recommend specific issues suited to your needs.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Goodyear Tire and Rubber's performance in pushing through to a new high for the year at 91 was the only bright spot in yesterday's rather gloomy market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The oils were susceptible to selling pressure and finished at fractional losses.

In further discounting of the Congressional efforts to attack Standard of California titles the stock slipped back a full point, closing at 61½. General Petroleum common lost ¼ at 42¼ and Shell Union receded the same distance to 18. United Oil declined ⅛ point to 28⅝.

Richmond Consolidated was active in the mining list, selling at 14 cents. Yellow Dog Extension sold at 23 cents. Telluride at 19. Gold Dust at 4 and Oatman United at 6 cents.

First National Bank advanced 2½ points to 380. Southern California Edison 7 per cent preferred was quoted at 104.

Union of California and General Petroleum issues were in demand during the bond call, selling at about ¼ up. Some buying occurred in Los Angeles gas bonds.

COPPER MARKET WEEKLY REVIEW

Several Issues Drop to Low Point for Year

Passing Anaconda Dividend a Decisive Factor

Exports Holding Up; Arizona Shows Her Faith

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
(Editor Arizona Mining Journal)

The feature of the past week has been the breaking of the market for copper shares, due to the passing of the Anaconda dividend. Copper issues broke from 1 to 4 points and several of them took their low points of the year.

Omission of the Anaconda dividend was attributed to the inability of North American producers to operate at a satisfactory profit with copper metal selling around 13 cents. It was pointed out that while copper consumption had been unusually heavy, the price has been kept down by the heavy imports of the red metal from Africa and South America, where production costs are low.

It is possible to look for other reasons than the low price of copper, for the action of Anaconda in passing up its dividend, as the records for 1923 show the cost of producing copper at the Anaconda properties to be 10.9 cents per pound and 1922 was not in any way considered a good year for low costs.

While it is not evident at the present time, there is something in the wind other than high costs that has caused the dividend to be passed by and the earnings for the quarter passed to surplus. In view of the balance that the copper industry stands in today, i. e., the close margin between production and consumption, the fluctuation in the copper shares was not as great as might have been expected and the fact that the market was lower only from 1 to 4 points indicates a considerable stability.

It was noticeable also that the passing up of the dividend did not have a perceptible influence on the price of copper, which has maintained along 13 1-4, 13 3-8 and 13½, with futures running steadily at 13½ during the past several weeks. The Anaconda omission was offset by the declaring of the Kennicott regular dividend and an increase in the price of the metal that day, which formed an excellent support for a falling market.

EXPORTS HOLDING UP

Copper exports are holding up well. Shipments for the last four months total 535,000,000 pounds, average of 209,000,000, highest four months in the history of the industry. Foreign shipments have averaged approximately 80,000,000 pounds a month in this period, making average of domestic shipments for the last four months 129,000,000 pounds, highest consecutive four months in the history of copper.

In spite of the apparent troubles with the copper industry, Arizona led all other mining districts in important construction during 1923, which shows the faith of the producers in the future of the industry.

The projects of the past year have been: one new smelter and two concentrators of 5000 tons capacity; the smelter being that of the Magma Company and the concentrators being those of the New Cornelia and Copper Queen. There are other large projects, such as the Porphyry shaft project of the Inspiration, calling for an expenditure of about $2,500,000, the increase in the power plants at the International smelter to 25,000 kilowatts, the $500,000 improvements at the Calumet & Arizona smelter, the $1,000,000 crushing plant of the United Verde, the remodeling of the Phelps-Dodge Morenci concentrator and the Ray Consolidated concentrator at Hayden.

It has been noticeable that the recent fluctuations in copper issues have affected the Arizona stocks less than others and one of the Arizona stocks, the New Cornelia, was not caught in the slump.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS REVIEWED

Tax Legislation Reduced to Basis of Compromise by Game of Putantake

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"Radical blocks in Congress have demonstrated their power and any tax measure which becomes a law, instead of being wholly wise or sound, appears certain to be a compromise. As a partial offset it seems assured that the radicals will be unable to put through any of their dangerous bills.

"With many industrial companies, the most important question is the degree of competition. The leading sole leather company in 1923, a year when boot and shoe production made a new high record, showed a large deficit. In rubber tires the margin was thin; and so is it in textiles. Margins have also suffered in petroleum products, wheat, cattle, copper and shipping.

"Nontaxable bonds, in which there is now so much interest, cannot be used as an instrument for tax dodging; and their existence does not materially reduce the revenues of the Federal government. Even if they were all made taxable forthwith, the consequent increase in these revenues would probably not exceed $61,500,000 since the amount of such bonds in the hands of the public is only about $12,300,000,000."

CHERNOVETZ RUBLE AT PREWAR VALUE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, March 3.—The Russian Chernovetz ruble has reached the value of the prewar ruble. All the Moscow banks are selling the Chernovetz ruble at two to the dollar and eight rubles, sixty kopecks to the pound. In both cases they are charging a 5 per cent premium over the official rate of the Chernovetz, which is two rubles eleven kopecks to the dollar and nine rubles, seven kopecks to the pound.

Chapter 2

THE LATEST METHODS—FOR A.D. 1790

Young Alexander Hamilton, first Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, occupied that great position 134 years ago. He installed a complete set of books. They were right up-to-date—then He put in the latest book-keeping methods—then. A double-entry system.

Most men, like the ages, change slowly. Forty-seven men since his day have occupied the seat vacated by Hamilton. A new science of accounting has come along. All modern business organizations use it; they cannot get along without it. But the government of the United States hobbles along under the old system of book-keeping.

A modern system of keeping accounts must have two objects constantly in mind:

(1.) To furnish an open, clear and concise record of all financial transactions, so that the people may always have accurate information as to the real condition of the public treasury and of each transaction, and

(2.) To furnish the means of holding the disbursing officer to a faithful discharge of his duties.

In the days of Hamilton the second function was primary. The double-entry book-keeping, plus a searching voucher system, was adopted. It was careful and met successfully the second of the objects of good book-keeping. But the first object, which, so far as the people are concerned is by far the more important, has ever been seriously neglected.

Complaint has been made of this weakness from time to time for more than fifty years, but up to 1921 nothing was done to remedy the condition.

SIX BIG WEAK SPOTS

It is true that in 1911 President Taft created the Commission of Economy and Efficiency to inquire into the condition and methods of government accounting and finance. Dr. Frederick A. Cleveland, a recognized financial expert, was made chairman. The commission made an exhaustive study of the situation. They saw the weak spots and did not hesitate to state them. What was wrong with the government's accounting methods, anyway? Six shortcomings.

(1.) The government of the United States had never had a budget.

(2.) The government of the United States had never had a balance sheet.

(3.) The government of the United States had never had an operating account which showed the surplus or deficit of operating expenses.

(4.) The government had never known how it stood financially.

(5.) The government had never had any means for reviewing its contracting and purchasing relations.

(6.) The government of the United States had never had the information necessary for considering questions of economy and efficiency.

This amazing revelation of Dr. Cleveland was given out in 1911: Thirteen years have passed since then. The great war, bringing in its train the greatest financial load ever carried by the Treasury, has come and gone.

ENTER THE BUDGET

This is 1924. Still no balance sheet; no operating account; no method for determining how the government stands financially.

The Commission of Economy and Efficiency made its report and recommendations and subsided into oblivion.

But we have saved one piece of financial machinery that may prove to be worth its weight in gold. It may be the beginning of better days.

Ten years after this great Cleveland report was issued there was established, in 1921, in the Treasury Department, the Bureau of the Budget, with Gen. Charles Dawes as first director-general.

Even this important step forward would not have been taken had it not been for the tireless work of the Institute for Government Research under the very careful and able leadership of Dr. W. A. Willoughby. This is a private organization of citizens who for years have tried to give the government every assistance in laying the proper foundation for this fundamental and important next step.

Willoughby deserves special mention. He is a bulldog genius. He never despaired. He had brains, experience, tact, resourcefulness, aggressiveness. He prepared the ground well. He even wrote four books (two were written jointly with his distinguished brother, W. W. Willoughby), on the subject of government budgets.

He had a vision. He never quit. He never lost hope. To such men—the constructive geniuses of our history—monuments of public gratitude will some day be raised. If we can afford to erect monuments to heroes of destruction, why not ever greater ones to heroes of construction?

MODEST STEP FORWARD

But to return to the budget bureau of 1921. Mark the date. It will be famous as the beginning of a new era in our financial history.

In a modest way it was a step forward in government accounting. It was at last to recognize in our life the function of "open informational accounting" referred to as No. 1 of our objects. Its introduction has cleared the decks for more competent and less wasteful examination of appropriation bills by Congress. It has done something along the line of co-ordinating government purchases. It has, for the first time in our history, taken vast chaotic figures of the Treasury Department and shaken them down into classified totals that begin to tell something. Already it has effected modest savings and certain economies.

On July 1, 1922, the director of the budget bureau laid down a uniform classification of accounts for the several departments. This work was all prepared by the Institute for Government Research. From these records, the annual summaries of 1923, of 1924 and of 1925 have already been made. From these records the Bureau of Government Research, in co-operation with the Treasury Department, is now at work preparing the first comprehensive government balance sheet ever compiled. It is nearly completed.

We have only made a start. It seems criminally late to begin. Billions of dollars of the peoples' money have already run over the financial dam. But the important thing to remember is that the beginning has been made. And it is in the right direction, a forward step.

CONGRESS HAS DECISION

I say that because the budget law prohibits any department head appealing from the decision of the budget bureau directly to Congress. In case of a dispute as to appropriations between, let us say, Secretary Work of the Interior Department and General Lord, director of the budget bureau, Secretary Work may appeal from the decision of General Lord directly to the President of the United States. But Secretary Work cannot appeal to Congress. Of course, Congress itself may either increase or decrease. With Congress rest final power.

There is no question that definite constructive forces are already at work, which will bring about changes for the better. These forces, first, will deal with the strict technique of accounting methods. But they will reach further. They will penetrate to the very foundation of our government financial structure.

And they should. No organized business in the world is so bewildering, so far reaching, so vast, as that of the United States government. Throughout our whole history our government books have been kept accurate. This was accomplished in the kindergarten days of national finance. The average man employed by Uncle Sam is as honest and as efficient as the average man employed by private business. Make no mistake about that.

But the far more important object of furnishing an open, clear and concise record of all financial transactions, so the people may have accurate and up to the minute information as to the actual condition of our government as a growing concern, is a new step for America. That step is now being made. The ground work is completed. The superstructure, under the inspection of Willoughby, Brown, Lord & Company, is slowly rising. It is extremely interesting because it is nonpartisan.

In our next article, we will see just what the Bureau of Budgets has done, and is trying to do.

Washington Is Grain Factor; Gains in Wheat

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, March 3.—Developments at Washington were the dominating influence in the wheat market, which closed ¼@⅝c higher, in the face of a decline of ⅛@⅜c in corn, ⅛@⅛c in oats and ⅛@⅝c in rye.

The trade assumes that an increase in the tariff on wheat is certain, and there were reports that a bill would be introduced into Congress to create a revolving fund of $150,000,000 for the purchase of breadstuffs and commodities in this country by Germany and Austria. The money is in the hands of the enemy alien property custodian. The plan was said to have the unanimous approval of the agricultural committees of both the House and Senate.

May wheat went to a fractional premium over July, against a discount of ⅛c recently, and closed at 1.11⅛@1.11⅜, with July 1.11⅛ and September at 1.11⅛@1.13. The latter sold up to 1.13¼ early, equaling the highest price of the crop. There was considerable buying here against sales at Winnipeg to close spreads, and the difference widened to 9 cents, compared with 6¾ cents a few days ago. Interest in the market, however, showed an increase.

Supplies of wheat on ocean passage increased 6,400,000 bushels for the week, and are 62,656,000 bushels, against 58,568,000 bushels last year. Liverpool finished unchanged to ¾d higher, the latter on October.

A decline of ¼@⅜c in the basis for cash corn in the sample market, with local pressure, resulted in a lower range, and the finish was within a fraction of the low point. May closed at 81¼. July at 81¾ and September at 81⅝@81¾. An increase of 2,652,000 bushels in the visible, making the total 13,808,000 bushels, compared with 27,529,000 bushels, had some effect on values.

Trade in oats was not large and the market easy. There was considerable comment on the relatively low price of Canadian at Winnipeg and it was said that some Canadian was being sold to New England, duty paid. Receipts of 264 cars were the largest in some time. Sales of 190,000 bushels were made to go to store.

Rye was dull and easier on scattered selling. There is little domestic or export demand for the cash grain.

FORTUNE FOR YOU IN THIS MAMMOTH PROJECT

This is an invitation to you. An invitation for you to join in a great new enterprise—the development of a 3075-acre townsite with its surrounding agricultural community. If you have from $250 up to invest, GET THE FACTS AT ONCE, for this is a proved profit opportunity if there ever was one! Fortunes are being made in real estate in the city and now there is a strong development in farm properties. SPARRLAND is one of the choicest properties of its kind in the Southland today. It will sell like wildfire and the profits accrue correspondingly fast to those who become "partners" in the syndicate developing it. Put your money to work!

The Staff

W. S. SPARR—Owner; head of the Sparr Fruit Co., owner of Sparr Heights, 1500-acre residential city north of Glendale; 26 years with an unblemished reputation in L. A. business world.

BARNUM-WALTERS CO.—Sales agents for SPARRLAND. Long record of success in gigantic land development. Responsible for $2,000,000 sales in Sparr Heights during past year.

FRANK P. COOPER, Fiscal agent. Widely known throughout California and the nation for successful direction of sales; former president, Majestic Supply Co., Interstate Highway Service Co., North American Service Co.; past president Illinois Sate Society, So. Calif.; widely connected financially.

C. B. BOWERS—General sales manager. Mr. Bowers and his staff of capable men are responsible for the record sale of 180 acres adjoining SPARRLAND. He promises similar records in your syndicate's activities.

TOM KILLIAN — Advertising Counsel. Mr. Killian's advertisements, written for scores of local subdividers in the past two years, have sold more than a hundred million dollars worth of property.

C. W. HESS—Poultry Expert. Mr. Hess will direct the instruction of settlers in SPARRLAND and help them make "contentment" profits in this new community.

W. H. HENDERSON — Chief Engineer. Under Mr. Henderson's direction SPARRLAND is being rapidly divided into its various selling units. He has an international reputation in his life work.

O. K. KELSEY—Superintendent. Mr. Kelsey has been in charge of the Sparr Ranch for ten years. He will have complete superintendence of the development work.

Proved :-: :-: Profits!

SPARRLAND—in a few words—consists of 3075 acres six miles this side of Riverside. Over 600 acres is in full-bearing citrus trees right now. Seventy-five acres is laid out for the townsite of SPARRLAND, right on the Union Pacific's main line. The rest will be divided into small farms—poultry, grapes, citrus, figs, etc., and also is included a COUNTRY CLUB with a golf course and a gun club. Improvements are beeing installed—there is an ABUNDANT WATER SUPPLY—a very big item in farm lands—a school on the tract and a high school 15 minutes away.

180 Acres Sold In 3 Weeks!

Before inviting the general public to participate in THE W. S. SPARR REALTY SYNDICATE, we decided to PROVE THAT SPARRLAND property will be in brisk demand. We took 180 acres adjoining SPARRLAND and placed it on the market February 10, as small poultry farms. ALMOST EVERY FARM IS SOLD TODAY! People have simply rushed to buy them—they will do the same in adjoining SPARRLAND because farm property is in DEMAND and your PROFITS will come back! It's wanted, it's needed and SPARRLAND will be especially in demand because of its development, its SUPERB location, its UNPARALLELED SOIL and its super-abundant water.

Come to our offices today! Find out just what you can do in this mammoth project to make your share of the profits that will begin to pile up immediately. Or if you can't come in RIGHT THIS MINUTE, phone for an appointment or send the coupon at the top of this ad. THIS is YOUR opportunity to get in on 1924's realty fortunes. Don't let it slip through your fingers! Come in today—phone—write—or wire, for fullest details.

Profit Facts

Mr. Sparr proves HIS faith by putting up fully-paid land worth at wholesale at least $800,000.

An estimate retail price of $3,000,000 has been put on the property.

Only $250,000—with a large part of it already subscribed—is required for this syndicate. This small "capitalization" will keep individual profits large. Farm property in So. Cal. is disappearing rapidly. Subdividers are selling it up. Lack of water makes much of it of little view. There will ALWAYS be a sturdy demand for land like this—at price. 3,075 acres of land are your security.

YOUR MONEY is returned to you FIRST. Only then is there a profit division—after you get your investment back!

First unit of SPARRLAND will soon go on the market. Capable board of control insures rapid sales.

All monies handled by a leading bank and disbursed by them, insuring safety.

Every last thing possible done to be able to present you a proposition which YOU WILL BE PROUD AND HAPPY TO ASSOCIATE WITH.

No one too humble—no one too big to come into the syndicate. There is PROFIT FOR ALL AND we want as many boosters as we can get. INVESTIGATE TODAY!

BY ROBERT J. FRITCHARD

The Union Oil Company's Callender No. 3 in the Domingues field was put on production yesterday for the third time, according to official reports. During the first few hours the well was said to have flowed at the rate of about 900 barrels per day, but according to drillers a small bean was used and a larger production is considered possible. The product is said to be 32.5 degrees gravity and free from water.

Callender No. 3 is 3832 feet deep and was the Union Oil Company's second producer in Compton, blowing in unexpectedly several weeks ago with a flow of 2200 barrels, but was killed after about ten days when it was found to be making water. It was brought in a second time, and sanded up, and had to be recemented.

Crews are drilling out the Union's Carson No. 1 and Hellman No. 1, according to official reports, which assert that tests for water shut-offs in these two wells will be made tomorrow.

To Drill Out.

The Union Oil Company started drilling out the plug in its Rosecrans well at Athens-on-the-hill last night, according to officials of the company. This is the second attempt to get a water shut-off in this well. It was after the first cement job, when the crew was making a shut-off test, that the well made its first flow of oil.

Leasing continues brisk in the neighborhood of the Union's Athens-on-the-Hill well, according to reports from the field. The Shell Oil Company is credited with having closed, in the past few days, a lease on 20 acres just south and west of the Superior's Sandburg well, and to have paid a cash bonus of $2500 an acre for the property.

The Peerless Oil and Gas Company with headquarters in Indiana, Pa., is reported to be among the most active of the smaller companies in the field and in the past week is said to have closed deals on a total of 75 acres surrounding the Rosecrans well. The Pennsylvania company is now also active at Torrance.

Start New Wildcat

Making the third well to be started north of Torrance in the past five months to test out the theory that a parallel structure exists about a mile and half north of the Torrance structure, the Chansler-Canfield Midway Oil Company is completing a rig on its Francis lease 600 feet south of One Hundred and Ninetieth street and just west of Western avenue.

The two other wells drilled in this territory by the Petroleum Midway Company and Rosenberg Oil Company, are both down 4500 feet and, according to representatives of these companies, have not yet encountered an oil sand. The Rosenberg well is north of One Hundred and Ninetieth street and a few hundred feet west of Western avenue and the Petroleum Midway's Lewis well is about three-quarters of a mile due west of the Rosenberg rig.

The Chansler-Canfield Midway interests have 800 acres under lease in the Francis tract and the decision to drill a test well in spite of the unencouraging showings in the other two wildcats is said by officials of the company to be due to an unwillingness to surrender such a large lease without definitely proving or disproving its possibilities.

Near Completion

The Gilmore Oil Company expects to place its Smith well on the west side of the Signal Hill field on production during the week. It is reported by officials of the company. The hole is down about 2500 feet. It is reported, and it is said to be in 87 feet of sand.

Officials of the Gilmore Oil Company report that plans are under consideration for the inauguration of an extensive drilling program on the company's holdings in the Midway fields.

Cemeted Again

The Oakridge Oil Company has completed the third cement job on its Rossi well in the northwest extension of Santa Fe Springs, and still expects to made a producer, according to official reports. The latest cement job was put in at the same depth as the other two, somewhere about 4700 feet, it is said.

The Oakridge Company's Gage well and K. B. well in the same general district are drilling ahead at 1100 and 950 feet respectively, it is reported.

Near Oil Sand

The Tejon Kern Oil Company, in which W. G. McAdoo, Jr., is interested, in the Wheeler Ridge field, is drilling in shale at about 2270 feet, officials of the company report. It is said that the log of the well correlates closely with the Standard Oil Company's producers about one-half a mile north and that productive formations should be encountered in the near future.

Goes On Pump

The National Oil Company is placing it well near Peck and Anderson streets, west of Cherry street in the Signal Hill field, on the pump, according to company officials. The well is down about 4600 feet, it is said, and has been swabbed for several days without success. According to drillers a considerable quantity of drilling water has been forced into the oil sand, and when this is removed by means of the pump the well is expected to flow.

Four New Wells

The new week in the Signal Hill field opened with four new producing wells and a wealth of activity that promises many new producers before next Saturday. The new wells of Sunday and Monday added a total of 3500 barrels to the daily production of the field.

The wells are the Fisher No. 6, flowing 1750 barrels; Shell Stratton No. 2, yielding 1000 barrels; Union Community No. 5, flowing 900 barrels, and Jergins City No. 8, with a small unestimated yield.

Fisher No. 6, located in the Lovelady district, was drilled to 5258 feet and flowed 875 barrels in twelve hours. The cut was less than six-tenths of 1 per cent. The well is described by operators as a satisfactory completion of a deepened producer in the area where the Marine No. 7 and other wells have been carried to the deep sands.

The Shell Company's Stratton No. 2, on Cherry avenue, was drilled to the 4947-foot level. It flowed eighty-one barrels in two hours and is on production for the first time.

The Union Oil Company completed the Community No. 5 at Walnut avenue and Crescent street, with a daily flow of 500 barrels from the 5745-foot level. The well is on the 200-acre Community lease developed by the Union north of Creston street, between Walnut and Cherry avenues.

Jergins City No. 8, the fourth of the new wells, started flowing into the sump Sunday with a small yield. The well is on city-owned lands.

The Pan-American Company has run in 4½-inch casing at the Anderson No. 3, and will try for production soon. This company cemented the Betz No. 2 yesterday, and will try for production at that well within a week or ten days, it was said.

Service Stations

Plans for the establishment of a new chain of service stations in Los Angeles are being considered by the White Star Oil and Refining Company, according to official reports. The plans contemplate the erection of forty stations, of which five are now under construction, it is said.

Oil Exports

Shipments of petroleum and its products from Los Angeles during the month of February totaled almost 7,000,000 barrels, it is reported by the Marine Exchange of the Chamber of Commerce. The exact figures are 6,824,131 barrels, of which 5,057,989 barrels were crude oil, 1,246,774 were fuel oil, and the remainder gasoline, kerosene, Diesel oil and distillate.

The larger proportion of the shipments was destined for ports on the Atlantic Coas tand the Pacific Coast, less than 1,500,000 barrels being consigned to foreign ports.

New G. P. Camp

The new camp of the General Petroleum Corporation in Kettleman Hill is almost completed. The first well has been started and has reached a depth of more than 300 feet, with 24-inch casing. It is reported that the company will drill more than a mile deep if necessary to thoroughly test the property.

MONEY MARKET IS REASSURING

Volume of Banking Credit at Its Maximum Now

Assets Are Liquid With Few Frozen Loans

Lower Rates Not Needed to Stimulate Business

The volume of banking credit in the United States is greater than ever before, and more than sufficient for every legitimate business requirement of the country, according to The Mechanics & Metals National Bank of New York. At the same time that bank does not look for any consequent decline in money rates. In its March business letter to customers, the bank says:

"Among most assuring factors in the current situation is the condition of the money market. With business moving at a healthy pace credit is available in sufficient supply for every legitimate business need. Credit accommodations are large, and there is an absence of the frozen loans that characterized our credit structure a few years ago. Not only are banks individually in an excellent position in most parts of the country, but the Federal Reserve System shows remarkable strength.

"Analysis shows how wide is the margin between the lending capacity of the Federal Reserve banks and their present ratio of loans to reserves. According to the most recently published statement, the total gold reserves of the Reserve system are more than $3,125,000,000. There is also a very large amount of gold held in individual banks and carried in the pockets of people, principally in the form of gold certificates. Adding all of the country's monetary gold together, upward of $4,000,000,000 gold is available to broaden and multiply the power of the Federal Reserve assets.

"It will be readily seen from this that the banks are not utilizing all the credit which they could extend. At the same time, however, it is not to be concluded that an active competition among banks to make loans, or an era of lower money rates, is in sight. There has lately been discussion regarding a reduction in discount rates, but while it is true that we now have a tremendous reservoir of credit, it is also true that it is being carefully administered, and that no changes will occur save after the most thoughtful study of all that is involved.

"That any reduction is necessary at the present time to stimulate business is a view that can hardly be maintained. All proper business requirements are being met without stint; there is no shortage of credit; rates are at a level which is not burdensome to legitimate business. Lower rates might tend to overstimulation and unwarranted expansion. To be sure, there is much credit power in the gold now contained within the United States. It can support a vast expansion. But after all we are not assured of a permanent possession of the gold we now possess, and should conditions presently lead to a flow toward Europe, any credit built up on the present inordinate balances might have to be curtailed. And apart entirely from the insecurity of our gold balances, it must be recognized that cheap money, making easy an expansion of business along untried and hazardous lines, is something the country ought not to be brought to face."

WARNS OF HARM TO OIL INDUSTRY

I. W. Fuqua Sees Menace in Hasty Laws

Developments at the Capital Cause Alarm

Radical Legislation Would Cripple Business

A warning against hasty or ill-considered regulatory legislation touching the oil industry has been sounded by I. W. Fuqua, president of the California Petroleum Corporation, who sees in the development at Washington the forerunner of an attempt by radicals to enact measures aimed at control of the industry, which in Mr. Fuqua's opinion would result in serious harm, not only to the industry itself, but to the general industrial and commercial fabric of the country as well.

Mr. Fuqua asserts in support of his contention that the conduct of the petroleum industry is far different from, and more hazardous and dependent upon individual enterprise than any other industry, and that as a result any legislation which would tend to limit or unwisely confine individual enterprise in the industry would result in a diminution of the petroleum supply which would in turn eventually seriously embarrass other lines of business.

BUSINESS UNCERTAIN

"Because of the constant flow of unusual and confusing problems that are peculiar to the crude petroleum industry, the business has, from its beginning been the subject of violent and destructive attacks from extraneous influences which are due largely to a lack of complete knowledge and understanding of the risks and hazards involved in the discovery and production of oil," says Mr. Fuqua. "There is no industrial path so beset with obstructions, so surrounded with uncertainties, so involved in complexities, and so sure of positive losses and failures, as that branch of the industry which is constantly engaged in the search of crude petroleum.

"The physical problems of the producer are not superficial or imaginary; they are real trying ones that require the most modern skill and the utmost of pioneering courage, tempered with the patience of Job. The geological studies, the application of the personal and mysterious hunch, the unexplained feeling of this or that, the final decision in selecting prospective locations and properties, the ever important factor of finding and employing no other than courageous capital, the careful and important study of formation penetrations, the loss of a large number of prospective wells, with the cost thrown in for good measure, and the bringing in of a wild-cat well over there and not here, are just a few of the Waterloos and winnings that run in the normal course of the business."

INDIVIDUAL ELIMINATED

These are conditions which can be successfully met only when individual enterprise is fostered and encouraged, Mr. Fuqua asserts. He contends that one of the first effects of legislative restrictions would be the disappearance of individual companies in a series of mergers and combinations, which would be forced by reason of the impossibility of existing alone under such restrictions. The consequence, according to Mr. Fuqua, would be a let-up in the hazardous and unprofitable business of seeking for new fields, with the result that as soon as the present producing areas are drained, a petroleum famine might occur.

"In order to justify the employment of competent and reliable service and sufficient capital to deal with the pioneering and abstract phases of the industry," he says, "it is important that a price and profit structure be based and maintained on economic principles involving production costs, undeveloped but reasonably assurable supply, settled production, regular and prospective consumption, and accumulated stocks. The petroleum industry is no exception to the general rule in the matter of profits—profit averages are essential in stabilization—profits must be had in proportion to the risks and hazards involved, and anything less in the matter of prices and profits would mean, as it always means in the business today and out of the business tomorrow. The individual, corporate and general public interest has become so interrelated with the industry as to make it doubly important that every effort be made on the part of both producer and consumer to support an economic balance of petroleum products for consumption."

INDUSTRY CLEAN

For these reasons Mr. Fuqua believes that legislators and others in authority should consider carefully the relation of the industry to other industries, and should guard against unwarranted assumptions in dealing with measures which might wreak untold harm to the welfare of the petroleum industry and the general prosperity, in the mistaken attempt to remedy evils which are by no means as universal as certain radicals would indicate. He says:

"The scandalous developments in Washington have no bearing on, nor are they directed at the honesty and integrity of the oil industry as a whole. The business is clean, aboveboard, and on official record many times during the last few years, when repeated municipal, county, State and Federal examinations have been made without fear or favor.

"In the searching investigation that is now being conducted, the industry is being purged of any and all unconventional methods not befitting the past or present history of the business and disclosing the unfairness, disloyalty, and insincerity in the profession, as well as out, which was and is, more of a shock to the oil fraternity as a whole than to the public at large."

Going to a room to see her sleeping child, Mrs. A. W. Barry, 866 North Oxford avenue, last night came upon a burglar rifling a dresser. She screamed and he jumped out of a window, taking $75 worth of jewelry.

ESCAPE IN WRECK

Five Motorists Are Unhurt When Automobile Overturns

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, March 3.—Although the machine in which they were riding overturned when it skidded on the wet pavement, five persons including F. A. Henderson, principal of the Orange High School, escaped unharmed late Saturday when they were returning from the Orange-Santa Barbara basketball game at Los Angeles.

The accident occurred on the Bastanchury Hill, just before reaching Fullerton. A machine ahead stopped suddenly and in attempting to avoid a collision, Henderson put on the brakes.

SCHOOLS TO BE USED TO MAKE FILM

Permit to Screen Play "Dollar Down" is Granted by Board

Permission to use the schools in the making of the film "Dollar Down" was granted by the Board of Education at the regular meeting last night. This is a human interest picture of American school life in which Miss Ruth Roland and Tod Browning will play the leading roles. A careful survey of the story was made by Mrs. George H. Clark, a member of the school board; W. R. Morehouse, president of the Los Angeles Banks' School Savings Association and Charles H. Deppe, president of the savings division of the national banks, who spent a part of yesterday morning at the studio.

Vierling Kersey, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, reported that the students at Wilmington Park school should be provided with some properly safeguarded crossing in going to and from the school, which is almost entirely surrounded by railroad tracks. Mr. Kersey recommended that an overhead or subway crossing be provided as the children now frequently crawl under freight cars in order to reach the school grounds.

Mrs. Susan Dorsey, City Superintendent of Schools, returned yesterday afternoon from a two weeks' absence in the East. She attended the convention of Department of Superintendents of the National Education Association held at Chicago, at which more than 1000 superintendents were present.

Fullerton Men for Chapman as Vice-President

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FULLERTON, March 3.—Supporters of Charles C. Chapman for the Republican nomination for running mate for President Coolidge met tonight and appointed a committee of five to draw up by-laws for a Chapman-for-Vice-President Club for Orange county. The committee consists of F. L. Ainsworth, Orange; J. S. Smart, Santa Ana; R. T. Davies, Fullerton; Charles Eygabrod, Anaheim, and J. J. Conrad, Huntington Beach.

The local club proposes to start a State-wide organization to push the candidacy for Chapman before the State primaries May 6, next. The committee will meet again in a few days and elect a chairman and start an active campaign, it was stated.

The meeting tonight was presided over by L. F. Coburn, Orange county chairman of the Coolidge-for-President Club. Mr. Coburn declared that it would be to the advantage of both Coolidge and Chapman to have separate organizations. Later, he suggested, the two organizations might join.

Wets Wire Quiz to Men in Race for Presidency

Telegrams asking President Coolidge, Senators Johnson, Underwood, Ralston and Copeland, Gov. Smith of New York and John W. Davis, possible Presidential candidates, whether they favor change in the Volstead law to permit light wine and beer, were sent yesterday from the Biltmore headquarters of the Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment. They were signed by William H. Matson, head of the California division.

The association, which has announced a mass meeting at the Hollywood Legion Stadium, yesterday made a statement of its aims.

"We are going out with the sole aim of putting in Congress men who will work and vote for modification or repeal of the Volstead Act," it was stated.

The mass meeting is to be addressed by Dudley Field Malone, Rev. Wyndham Heathcote of New Zealand, and others.

The importance of the electrical profession was also mentioned with the disclosure that the number employed in that line in Los Angeles totals 30,000.

Appointment of committees was a feature of the business session. Bert E. Smith was named to head the publicity committee.

SETTING FOR MARDI GRAS BALL READY

Social Event Sponsored by Artists is Tonight at Ambassador

Finishing touches by the deft hands of Southern California artists have been placed on the costumes and decorations for the first annual Mardi Gras des Artistes ball, which will hold sway at the Ambassador in a brilliant setting tonight.

It is to be a carnival of revelry and merrymaking to usher in the beginning of Lent in the early hours of Wednesday. The ball is being sponsored by artists who aim at bringing art and its patrons together and for this purpose more than 2000 invitations are said to have been accepted.

A moving stage is to be wheeled into the hall tonight and a series of entertainments performed upon it. Other novelties are also promised. To make the occasion the equal or better of both the fiestas of early California days and those which have given Paris so much of its name is the avowed purpose of those who have planned the ball.

Southern California artists who painted the pillars for the ball are Jack Darcy, Frederick J. Schwankovsky, Jr., Desmond V. Rushton, Ben Berlin, Mr. Genurs, Douglas Donaldson, William Mortensen, S. McDonald Wright and King Grassman.

Funeral Rites Are Today for M. C. Nichols

Funeral services for Melvin Clark Nichols, 55 years of age, a resident of Hollywood for twenty-five years, will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. today from the home of his daughter, Mrs. B. W. Riley, 1815 North Kenmore avenue. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

MELVIN CLARK NICHOLS

Mr. Nichols died Sunday afternoon at his daughter's home, where he lived, after an illness of several weeks. The pioneer had been informed by physicians some time ago that he had no chance of recovery, but was cheerful to the end.

He was born December 26, 1839, in Bainbridge, N. Y., and in 1863 married to Mary Dutton in Tioga, Pa. Moving to the Middle West, he became identified with the construction department of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which he helped to build across the continent. He was also a member of the famous vigilantes of his time.

Later Mr. Nichols entered the insurance business. For several years before his death he had not been actively engaged in business.

Mr. Nichols's wife died in 1922. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. B. W. Riley and Mrs. Charles J. George, both of Los Angeles.

Dale Burgess Drops Dead in Seattle Hotel

Dale Burgess, well-known member of the toy manufacturing firm of G. E. Dalton & Co., while on a business trip for his firm, died suddenly of apoplexy at a Seattle hotel yesterday.

Mr. Burgess, who was 43 years of age, lived in Alhambra and had a host of friends there and in Los Angeles. He came to California from Iowa about thirty years ago and after living for ten years at Colton, came to Los Angeles with his family.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bessie Burgess; a son, Wallace; a sister, Mrs. Hope Hoffman, and a brother, Fred Burgess, both of whom reside in Los Angeles. He was a member of the Monterey Park lodge of Masons. Funeral service plans have not been completed.

SUPERVISORS RECEIVE PLEA FROM HOBSON

SUM OF $5000 IS ASKED TO AID CAMPAIGN AGAINST DRUGS

The Board of Supervisors took application of Capt. Richmond P. Hobson, head of the Narcotic Education Association, for an appropriation of $5000 to aid in the expenses of an antinarcotic week. The money was to be used for printing pamphlets. Deputy County Counsel Kline ruled that the Board could not make a direct appropriation for such a purpose, but could permit the association to aid the County Health Officer.

Miss Elizabeth Mann, a trained nurse representing the American Narcotic Crusade, objected to an appropriation, saying the county should spend its money rescuing addicts, and suggested a hospital for the treatment of addiction.

Diesel

THE new monarch of industry. Diesel revolutionizes power production. Diesel is the perfect power unit. Steam and gasoline engines are doomed—made obsolete. DIESEL IS KING.

Throughout the world the wheels of industry are being belted to Diesel engines. We foresaw this—six years ago. With scant capital we commenced to manufacture Diesel engines at Oakland. Today our immense plant, valued by bank appraisers at $1,599,436.06 represents a return of more than twenty dollars on every dollar bill we originally put up. Here amid scenes of feverish activity, you can see the mammoth Diesel engines we are building for Standard Oil Company; Mallory Steamship Company; Port of Portland; Yuba Manufacturing Company (Hammond Consolidated Goldfields of Alaska), and others. Here you can talk with the numerous engineers and mechanics who have helped us in the past few years to build Diesel engines worth more than $6,000,000 for the United States Government, the Golden Gate Ferry Company, and other interests.

Now then, do you want Diesel dollars every year? Do you want fat dividend checks at stated intervals for the rest of your life?

Remember the countless millions of dollars paid out to men and women who had the courage and foresight to bank their savings early on the telephone, telegraph, automobile, wireless, and other vital contributions to civilization.

You know, yourself, that every great industrial development must be financed by the public. The Diesel engine is no exception. With plenty of capital we should make tremendous profits in the future—even more than we have in the past. The more money we have on hand the more men we can employ—the more engines we can build—the quicker we can deliver—the more money we can make. That is why we are willing to share with the investing public the rewards of our success. We now have contracts on hand for nearly $500,000 worth of Diesel engines but we require capital to cope with the rising flood of new orders.

It will pay you to look into this unique money-making opportunity. In a record-breaking campaign for funds, investors on the ground at San Francisco and Oakland have entrusted hundreds of thousands of dollars to us. We are confident that Los Angeles, too, will snap up the comparatively few shares to be offered here. Lose no time—resolve right now to know the facts.

STORM BEACHES BOAT

Efforts at Long Beach to Float Launch "J. B."

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 3.—Boatmen were still striving today to release the launch J. B., which with the Moose Second, was blown on the beach opposite the bamboo slide in the pleasure zone yesterday during the wind and rainstorm. The Moose Second has been floated, but the J. B. still remains in spite of all efforts to release her.

Thousands of visitors to Long Beach were interested spectators to the wrecking crew's efforts to put the fifty-foot launch back in the water. Damage to the boats was estimated as about $2000.

Man Has Miraculous Escape

I am sure I never could have survived an operation." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. MRS. BUSH TELLS OTHER WOMEN

How Pains in Side and Dragging Down Feelings Were Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Massena, New York.—"I had terrible pains in both my sides and a dragging-down feeling that affected me so that I could hardly walk, and I got run-down. A friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it and I have taken it with the best results. I do my housework and also some outdoor work on the farm. The Vegetable Compound has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough. I am perfectly willing that you should use these facts if my letter will help other women who still suffer."—Mrs. DELBERT BUSH, R. F. D. 1, Massena, N.Y.

The spirit of helpfulness shown in the letters we are constantly publishing is worthy of notice.

These women know by experience what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do. Your troubles are the same as theirs.

If you have pains and a dragging-down feeling and are nervous and irritable, profit by Mrs. Bush's experience and give the Compound a trial.

OPERA SEASON IS HAILED; BILTMORE THEATER OPENS

Mary Garden Is Sensation in 'Cleopatre'

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The dazzling climax of the musical season has been reached. The Chicago Opera Company, foremost among the lyric organizations of the stage that engages in the hazards of a transcontinental tour, is now shedding the full resplendence of its mise-en-scene upon Los Angeles audiences, and a short, but star bedecked group of performances will adorn the next two days.

The full grandeurs of the opening were enjoyed by throngs of music lovers last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. Despite a late curtain that rose shortly after 9 o'clock. They renewed pleasures that have been denied them for two years in the majority of instances, for it is that long since the Chicago (it is now the Chicago Civic Opera Company) last visited the western shore. They thrilled again as they have always thrilled at a production that has for its chief attraction that ever-fascinating and inevitably daring Mary Garden.

"Cleopatre," with Mary Garden—that was the premier bill. Cleopatra and Mary Garden were made one through a score written by Massenet, through a libretto by someone whose name does not perhaps matter, and through the glamour of spectacular investiture and stage effects that only a major and endowed association can attain.

ELITE AND MUSICAL

Notwithstanding that it had to wait nearly forty minutes for the first curtain, the house was alive with expectancy as soon as it was apparent that the performance was

'Sally' Triumphs in Premiere Offering

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Those dear poetic girls, Thalia and Melpomene, gave a great reception last night!

A most brilliant affair it was, and all in honor of the opening of the new Biltmore Theater and the arrival of the tuneful "Sally," with Leon Errol and the adorable Shirley Vernon and our comic friend of yore, Walter Catlett, in the leading role.

The Biltmore is a gem. Just one peep into this twinkling blue-and-gold fairyland of theaterdom last night, with its brilliant throngs, and we felt that we had at last caught up with ourselves theatrically, after having for several years, in true artist fashion, been merely dreaming of a new and elegantly appointed stage theater, while the picture magnates took all the honors for building beautiful playhouses.

MEANS GREAT DEAL

The Biltmore stands for more even than comfort and elegance, and beautiful productions. According to Manager Smith, it means that we are to have long runs of eastern productions, just as is the case in Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia; and more, it means that New York productions that heretofore have not visited this city because of the expense of the long jump, will now come West. "Sally" is to run only two weeks, but "Lightnin'," which is to follow, has been secured for a several weeks' engagement.

It looked at the opening of this playhouse as though every jewel in the city had decided to make a night of it. Throngs crowded the handsome foyer below stairs and the large, luxurious lounge and promenade above stairs. The lighting is soft and restful, making youthful beauty more lovely, and softening the years on older feminine faces as box and loge and parquet parties visited each other between acts.

A sort of two-ring circus it was, too, if the fashionables will pardon me—that opening, for the audience could look at the show and the show could look at the audience, since may well-known picture stars were present. Charlie Chaplin, Tom Mix, Mabel Normand, Larry Semon and scores of others were in the audience.

MARILYNN HAPPY

Marilynn Miller was there—and wasn't she just too sweet for anything to Shirley Vernon, who followed Marilynn, you remember in "Sally," back in New York, and who did so well in the role that anybody with a less sweet disposition than Marilynn would certainly have been jealous.

Jack Pickford and Marilynn sat with a holding-hands expression on their faces, Marilynn no doubt feeling that she was far more fortunate in being happily married than just going on with a mere career. Not, of course, that she has given up that career. With the idea of playing "Peter Pan" under her curls, how could she possibly envy anybody?

In the audience, too, were celebrities from the writing world, from society and the realms of politics.

And there were aristocrats, representatives of old families, who have rarely ventured out to the theater since the opening of the Mason, just twenty years ago, when E. H. Sothern, a handsome and slim young star, gave us the sonorous romance "If I Were King."

Some of the women were debutantes then; whose hair is silver now—some of the men were young and ambitious lawyers, doctors, politicians; all comfortable and a

BACHELORS FLIRT WITH CUPID AT MARDI GRAS

Brave Leap Year Dangers in Annual Ball; Decorations and Costumes Present Scene of Beauty

BY JUANA NEAD LEVY

The ballroom of the Biltmore last evening was the scene of one of the loveliest affairs ever given in Los Angeles, the annual Mardi Gras ball with which the Bachelors entertain every year just preceding Lent, honoring their many friends who have showered courtesies upon them during the year.

Cavaliers danced with peasant maids, courtierres paid homage to stately dowagers and dainty maids, princes and peasant, troubadour and toreador, Cossack and diplomat, Chinese mandarin and Italian organ grinder with his monkey on the silver chain, in Pierrot and Pierrette, all were there and if one had eyes sharp enough one might have discovered little old Dan Cupid with his bow and arrow hidden behind the tall grasses and ferns, ready to send his dart, to deplete the ranks of the bachelors and add to those of the benedicts.

THE OFFICIAL FAMILY

The "official family" of the bachelors this year includes: Alexander Macdonald, Allan Morphy, A. J. Salisbury, Jr., Gabriel Duque, William R. Miller, Reese Llewellyn, Gurney M. Newlin, Robert H. Parsons, William T. McFie, Jr., George S. Ennis, David Brant and Richard M. Griffith.

Assisting were Mrs. Ernest Albert Bryant, Mrs. William A. Brackenridge, Mrs. James Calhoun Drake, Mrs. William May Garland, Mrs. Frank S. Hicks, Mrs. Joseph M. Hixon, Mrs. Granville MacGowan, Mrs. Dean Mason, Mrs. Eugene O. McLaughlin, Mrs. John Barnes Miller, Mrs. Daniel Murphy, Mrs. Lee Allen Phillips, Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers, Mrs. Joseph Francis Sartori and Mrs. Russell McDonnell Taylor. Among the many noticed on the ballroom floor were:

Mrs. Russell McDonnell Taylor was a violet seller in short frock of lavender satin with dainty white lace apron and cap. She wore a lavender wig and carried a basket of violets.

FLOWER COSTUME

Mrs. William May Garland was in a flower costume of orchid tulle over white satin, with moss rosebuds festooned on skirt and bodice. A close-fitting cap of moss rosebuds with deep purple velvet ribbons completed the costume.

Mr. Garland wore a lavender Pierrot costume with huge pompons.

Mrs. Mary Wilcox Longstreet wore an evening gown of black velvet.

Mrs. James Calhoun Drake wore an evening gown of black.

Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers represented a black narcissus in gown of black jets and tulle with white bobbed wig, and Mr. Rogers was in full dress costume of the English Hunt Ball.

Mrs. Secondo Guasti was a Spanish lady in black lace skirt with Spanish shawl of white, richly embroidered in gay flowers. Slippers and hose of black and a high Spanish comb and roses in her hair completed the costume.

Mrs. Dean Mason was a colonial dame in costume of black lace over pompadour satin, with white wig, and Mr. Mason was a Turkish gentleman of high rank.

Mrs. Barbee Simpson Hook was a rose vender in gown of American Beauty satin with white lace apron and cap. She wore a wig of American Beauty shade and carried a basket filled with American Beauty roses.

Russell McDonnell Taylor was in full dress costume of an English Hunt Ball with black trousers and scarlet coat.

Mrs. Eugene O. McLaughlin wore a Spanish costume of turquoise blue with white Spanish shawl, high Spanish comb and lace mantilla draped over it and she wore clusters of pink geraniums in her hair.

Mr. McLaughlin was a foreign diplomat.

Miss Hortense McLaughlin was dainty as a Russian peasant maiden, and Miss Cecile McLaughlin was a colonial damsel in white satin gown with slippers and hose to match. She wore a powdered wig.

Richard St. John was an East Indian.

Mrs. Lee Allen Phillips wore a white satin Russian costume. Trimmings were of jewels, pearls and turquoise with white marabout fur.

EXQUISITE SNOW MAIDEN

Miss Bernardine Murphy was exquisite as a snow maiden. The bodice was of glistening white tricolet over white satin. Silver gauze with brilliants and pearls were evident. The skirt was of satin shaded from an ocean green to pure white and was covered with silver frost and white marabout fur. The head-dress was an exquisite creation of brilliants and she wore a cape of soft marabout fur.

Miss Leontine Bayer was a Spanish dancer in frock of cerise satin trimmed with garlands of hand-made roses in cerise and purple tones. She wore a black patent leather hat with roses on it.

Mrs. Howard Scott Dudley was an Egyptian lady in black and

YOU CAN'T DEPEND ON 'EM

Sheik Rediscovers That Women Vary, But Too Late to Aid Him Much in His Sad Plight

The best-laid plans of Carl Pittman and his lawyer went agley in just seven minutes by Judge Keetch's watch yesterday, and Pittman will never have any confidence in the fair sex any more. Nor in his ability to influence them. It might be said Pittman, who once aspired to be known as the Sheik of Glendale, is offa women for life.

Pittman was accused of stealing an automobile which he had rented from a Glendale parking station. For what purpose he rented the car did not come out in testimony, but it is a well-known fact that some kind of a gasoline-propelled vehicle is almost indispensable to the career of a sheik.

"This'll be easy," Pittman told his lawyer when the case was called. "Just get a lot of women on the jury. You know I'm rather a good-looking chap and there's something about me they can't resist. The more women on the jury the nearer I'll come to an acquittal. With one on the worst I can get is a disagreement.

The lawyer took Pittman's word for it and set to work accordingly. Male talesman after male talesman was excused on one excuse or another or challenged eight jurors wearing skirts were in the box and only four men.

"We've run out of challenges," the lawyer whispered to his client. "Eight is the best I can do for you."

"'S enough," replied Pittman confidently. "I got 'em going already."

THE FINAL BLOW

And he smiled toward the jury box in his best manner. He continued to smile all during the testimony and all during Judge Keetch's charge. He grinned when the jury filed out.

Seven minutes later the jurors filed back into court.

"What did I tell you?" Pittman said, nudging his attorney.

"Have you agreed upon a verdict?" droned the clerk.

"We have," replied the foreman. "We find the defendant guilty of grand larceny as charged."

Pittman will be sentenced Thursday.

LABOR MEN FACE EXPULSION

Federation May Oust Thirty Radicals Taken in Raid; League Revealed as Revolutionary

Thirty persons identified as officials and members of local trade unions are facing expulsion from the American Federation of Labor as a result of the raid made Saturday night on headquarters of the Trade Union Educational League, it was learned yesterday. Proceedings along this line will be instituted within a few days, an official high in the ranks of the trade unions declared.

The thirty persons were taken by Detective Lieutenant Luke Lane, head of the Wobbly Squad, and ten police officers, in what was described as the most important raid upon extreme radicals made in Los Angeles in many years. They constituted, as the mass of Communist evidence confiscated in the raid seemed to show, the most militant element in the A.F. of L. and had been carefully selected to inject the Communist program into the union ranks for the purpose of gaining the balance of power in the A.F. of L. and for affiliating it with the Red International of Labor Unions and, eventually, to use it as a weapon for overthrowing the United States government.

FOUNDED BY FOSTER

The Trade Union Educational League, according to "Amalgamation," one of the pamphlets published by the league, was founded by William Z. Foster, frequently referred to as the most dangerous radical in the United States, and is a revolutionary organization. In the official program of the league, the following statements are published:

"The league subscribes to the formation of a worker's republic.

"It advocates the dictatorship of the proletariat. To this end one of its chief aims is to propagate revolutionary ideals among the masses.

"The league gives its heartiest support to soviet Russia.

"The building up of a militant labor party is one of the most im-

TODAY'S BIBLE TEXT

HOW EXCELLENT is thy loving kindness, O, God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shall make them drink of the river of thy pleasures.

FIVE DEAD IS TRAFFIC TOLL

Many More Injured in Accidents Yesterday in and Near Los Angeles

Five persons dead and five injured is the toll of traffic accidents in and near Los Angeles.

C. W. Stover, 43 years of age, of the First Lutheran Church of Redlands and his daughter, Ruth, 7, were instantly killed when their automobile was hit at Colton Crossing last night by the Santa Fe State Limited. The latter, mangled, were brought to Los Angeles on the private car of the Southern Pacific.

Mrs. Stover, only slightly hurt, was taken to the Receiving Hospital suffering from shock. The other daughter was being attended at Puenta for a broken leg and other injuries.

STALLED ON TRACK

The automobile was stalled on the tracks after it was said to have run onto the track following a wide turn. Mrs. Stover and the 4-year-old daughter jumped and shouted to Mr. Stover. Both victims were sitting in the front seat.

The others killed in accidents are:

Fred Miller, a butcher employed at a Los Angeles Harbor market, run down by an automobile yesterday morning at the port.

John W. Laxson, resident of the Community Auto Camp at Glendale, killed when his machine crashed into a concrete pillar on a street in Glendale.

Troy Conner, 39, employee of the State Hospital at Norwalk, killed near Downey in a collision of his automobile with a truck.

ANOTHER BADLY INJURED

In the automobile-truck crash near Downey in which Connor was killed, Clarence Moore, also employed at the Norwalk Hospital, was badly injured. Moore said

PLAN DRIVE TO REGISTER VOTE

Four Party Chairmen Unite in Urgent Appeal

Los Angeles County Lagging Behind in State

Vigorous Campaign to Start at Friday Luncheon

With Los Angeles far behind the other counties of the State in registration of those eligible to vote, the four political parties, through their county central committees took steps to launch a vigorous drive for 100 per cent registration.

Invitations to attend a registration luncheon at the Clark Hotel next Friday noon at which David B. Lyons, registrar of voters of Los Angeles county will preside, have been sent to more than a hundred representative organizations, educational, commercial, civic, moral, fraternal and religious.

The invitation which is signed by the four chairman declares that "This is a patriotic, as well as a civic duty and your organization is invited to send its president or his representative to attend this luncheon—help to place Los Angeles county where it rightfully belongs, the banner county for registration in California."

TEXT OF APPEAL

The statement from the four county central committeemen follows:

The growth of Southern California has been a marvelous phenomena. It is the subject of comment throughout the entire country. However, the proportionate growth in influence commensurate with our great growth in numbers will not be felt unless our true status is expressed by our registration of voters, and the subsequent vote cast at the polls.

On May 6, every voter in this State will be afforded an opportunity to express preference of the candidates to be nominated for the Presidency of the United States.

No citizen of the community eligible to exercise the right to vote should neglect to fulfill this very simple, yet all important duty.

Our government is, after all, the people of the nation, and when the people fail to exercise their individual rights, the government ceases to function to the extent of this failure.

REGISTRATION DUTY

The registration of voters is not a partisan matter but a civic and patriotic duty.

In order to vote at the Presidential primaries every citizen must register before April 5th, as all 1922 and 1923 registrations became invalid on January 1st, 1924. Party affiliation must be stated at time of registration in order to vote at the May 6 primary.

Registration before April 5, entitles all citizens to vote at all elections held before January 1, 1926.

John B. Elliott, chairman Democratic county committee.

Harold H. Story, organizer, Socialist party.

J. C. Bell, chairman, prohibition party of Southern California.

Ralph Arnold, chairman, Republican county central committee.

CAPTURE BURGLAR SUSPECT IN HOME

A burglar was captured by Ramon Payan and Augustine Villa yesterday at their home at 2114½ Central avenue and was held until the arrival of police from the University Division. The prisoner gave the name of Sam Cann, 47 years of age, of 646 East First street. He is held for suspicion of burglary. After the two men had overpowered the intruder they found a child's penny bank and $19 belonging to Payan on his person, the police learned.

SECOND TUNNEL CASE WON

Supreme Court Decision Leaves City Free to Force Rapid Completion of Traffic Bore

The Supreme Court yesterday decided the remaining Second-street tunnel case favorably to the city of Los Angeles. Dispatches from Washington said the Supreme Court ruled that Federal courts were without jurisdiction in the matter of disputed assessments of property owners of Second street, Los Angeles, who had held that the costs of the tunnel should be paid by all taxpayers of the city.

The city government had won victories in all the lower courts.

A contrary decision would have forced the city to return $1,000,000 collected from the property owners in the assessment district and the refund would have had to be taken from the general tax fund.

There is another advantage to the decision. Acting City Attorney Whitehead said that it placed the city in a position where it could now force J. A. Hill, the tunnel contractor, rapidly to complete the work on the tunnel, which has been cut through, but not yet made ready for traffic.

The litigation against the tunnel assessment was made in two actions, one by Ann O'Donnell and another by Willard H. Stimson. When decisions favorable to the city were made in the lower courts, they appealed to the highest court, attacking the validity and the constitutionality of the assessments. A few days ago the Supreme Court dismissed the case brought by Ann O'Donnell because of an irregularity in the appeal. The decision yesterday applied to the Willard H. Stimson case. Both cases were identical in their nature.

The city's case was argued ten days ago at Washington by City Attorney Stephens and Assistant City Attorney Lucius P. Green.

LABOR PLOTTERS FACE EXPULSION

portant necessities of the labor movement.

"The Trade Union Educational League demands and is working for the affiliation of our labor movement to the fighting organization of the world's workers, the Red International of Labor Unions."

NOT LEGITIMATE

In a chapter on "league organization," the pamphlet states the league's method of organizing the "militants" in all mass trade unions to carry on the Communist educational work in the various industries of the country.

But, according to J. S. Horn, secretary of the Los Angeles Central Labor Council, the meeting of the Communists last Saturday night was not a legitimate meeting and had no connection with the American Federation of Labor.

"It is a dual organization of 'Reds,' who are seeking to destroy the American Federation of Labor by a process of boring from within," Secretary Horn told officers of the Wobbly Squad yesterday.

Secretary Horn was present during the sifting of the mass of Communist evidence at Central Station, where he consulted with Detective Lieutenants Lane and Hynes and representatives of the District Attorney's office, and identified many of the Communists arrested as being members of various trade unions of the A. F. of L.

"WHO'S WHO" GIVEN

"Who's Who" of the radical division at Central Station reveals, among those arrested, Emanuel Levin, member of Office Employes Union No. 12168, A.F.L., as the leader of the Communist movement in Southern California and as the head of the Worker's Party in California; Dave A. Gorman, member of Electrical Workers' Union No. 86, A.F.L. and former member of Central Labor Council, as the active leader in the T.U.E.L. as well as a member of the Communist Party of America; Claude C. Showpn, business agent for Paper Hangers' Union No. 1063, A.F.L., as the former head of the T.U.E.L. and one of the most active Communists in Southern California; Edward N. Diebler, secretary of Carpenters' Union No. 426, A.F.L., as an active Communist; Julius Roose, secretary of Carpenters' Union No. 1976, A.F.L., as active Communist; Morris Biell, secretary and manager of Ladies' Garment Workers' Union No. 52, A.F.L., as the leader in the present garment workers' strike, and more than a score of other prominent union officials identified as active leaders of the T.U.E.L. and other Communist movements.

AGITATION CAUSED

Rumblings of the forthcoming expulsions from Labor Temple caused considerable agitation among the arrested persons yesterday. One of them, M. D. Litman, visited The Times' office and protested against the published report that the raid was made on a "secret meeting."

Litman, after reminding the reporter who had written the account of the raid that other reporters had been shot for lesser offenses, declared the raided meeting was not a secret one and that it was open to the public. His statement was contradicted by the records of the Communist organization in the possession of the police. In the minutes of the executive committee meeting on January 19, 1924, a recommendation was made and concurred in, to wit:

"That a Sergeant-at-Arms be elected to admit no one except members unless vouched for by at least one member of the T.U.E.L. to admit them to the T.U.E.L. meetings."

Litman, according to Detective Lieutenant Lane, is a Russian, a bookkeeper and stenographer, a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Mission Lodge, No. 415, A.F.L., carrying B.R.C. card No. 415, a member of the T.U.E.L. and of the Workers' Party.

at the Downey Hospital where he was taken that they had been blinded by lights of an approaching car and did not see the truck's tail-light. It was thought Connor was hurled against a telephone pole. Moore was suffering from cuts, bruises and possible internal injuries. The dead man was removed to the Miller undertaking establishment in Downey.

The Glendale fatality was caused, according to the wife of the dead man, by blinding headlights of another car. Laxon lost control of the car and it struck a pillar, she said. Mrs. Laxon and Mr. and Mrs. John Kellogg, who were riding in the machine, escaped injury. Laxon's body was removed to the Kiefer & Eyerich undertaking establishment.

K. V. Mathews, 35, chaplain at Fort MacArthur, received slight injuries when struck by an automobile when alighting from a street car at Twenty-third street and Pacific avenue. The machine was driven by L. W. Gregory of El Segundo, the police stated. The injured man was removed to the Fort Hospital. Gregory was not held.

Mrs. F. M. Farrey, 48, 446 West Ninety-First Place, Los Angeles, received severe bruises and cuts when a car in which she was riding was hit by a car driven by R. J. Pierce of Moneta, the police reported. She was removed to her home after treatment at the Wilmington Emergency Hospital.

HEARD IN ADDRESS BY STUDENT BODY

Dr. Aurelia H. Reinhart

"The Function of the University" was the subject of an address given by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhart, president of Mills College, to the students of the University of Southern California at a special assembly yesterday morning in Bovard Auditorium. She also spoke at the $200-plate luncheon which was was given at the Biltmore by prominent society women for the benefit of the woman's building fund at the University of Southern California.

In her assembly address Dr. Reinhart compared the European universities with those in America and gave examples of the conditions that existed in some of the colleges in Germany and Austria. She explained the remarkable efficiency of the American universities and said that it was their duty to furnish the American public with a more cultural side of life.

Pacific Electric Given Permit to Operate Busses

Permission was granted by the State Railroad Commission yesterday for the Pacific Electric Railroad to operate a motor-bus line between Los Angeles and Santa Monica, according to dispatches received here from San Francisco.

According to the statement of officials of the railroad here, it is hoped to have the bus line operating in time to handle the summer crowds to the beach. Twenty-five-passenger busses or larger will be used. A forty-five-minute service will be given to start, and later will be increased.

The proposed route of the bus line was outlined as follows: From West Boulevard and Sixteenth street along West Boulevard to Pico, down Pico Boulevard to Ocean avenue, Santa Monica, and north on Ocean avenue to Utah street.

A schedule of fares was announced as follows: One way, 35 cents; round trip, 60 cents, with a minimum charge of 6 cents for rides between fare breaks, or points in different zones. Special rates will be available to those who wish to purchase books of tickets, which will be divided into six classes to suit the needs of the purchaser.

Expert, Studying Silk Field, Gets Aid of Chamber

Another important step toward making Los Angeles a great silk center has been taken by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Dr. George P. Clements, director of the department of horticulture and agriculture of the chamber, announced yesterday.

The board of directors of the chamber has indorsed the recommendation of the agricultural and horticultural committee that the chamber's moral support be proffered J. A. Nour, international authority on sericulture and the silk industry.

Dr. Nour, who as a student with Pasteur, noted scientist, is accredited with having at one time saved the silk industry to France. He has been making a survey of Pacific Coast States and conducting a series of experiments relative to the silk industry here.

He has discovered that the Antelope Valley offers every qualification both in soil for the production of the mulberry and climatic conditions necessary to the safety and health of the cocoons. The local Chamber of Commerce has pledged its support to the movement to make the Antelope Valley a silk-producing center.

Selection of Coote Jurors Is Completed

Selection of a jury to try A. W. Coote, former stock broker charged with the embezzlement of funds entrusted to him by clients, was completed at a late hour yesterday and the case was continued by Judge Hahn until today for opening arguments.

Coote was tried for the first time several months ago but the jury was unable to reach an agreement. The brokerage firm which he headed went bankrupt last year to the extent of several million dollars.

Attorneys Rush, McDaniel and Peirne are acting for the defense and Dep. Dist.-Attys. Becker and Van Cott are prosecuting.

RED LINE WINS UNION FIGHT

Highest Court in Land Refuses to Review Suit in Which Brotherhood Was Enjoined

Efforts of professional organizers to unionize the employees of the Pacific Electric Railroad received a final and permanent quietus when the United States Supreme Court refused to review a case brought to it by railroad brotherhoods, according to dispatches from Washington yesterday.

The Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Railroad Trainmen sought to have the high court review the case in which an injunction was granted by the local United States court restraining the brotherhoods from attempting to unionize the Pacific Electric employees. The Supreme Court refused to review the case.

RESULT OF 1918 STRIKE

According to Frank Karr, vice-president and chief counsel for the railroad, who handled the company's case with Oscar Lawler, the case grew out of the strike of Pacific Electric employees in 1918. At that time the company obtained a temporary injunction restraining the brotherhoods from efforts to unionize the railroad employees. The injunction was granted by Judge Bledsoe of the United States District Court. The next day the strike collapsed.

The brotherhoods appealed to the United States District Court of Appeal at San Francisco, which court sustained the order of the lower court granting the temporary injunction.

The case then came up for trial on the issues involved before United States Judge Rudkin, who was sitting as a visiting judge in the local Federal court in the early part of 1924. The case was decided in favor of the Pacific Electric. The brotherhoods appealed the case to the District Court of Appeal which court sustained the lower court a second time.

LAST CHAPTER WRITTEN

The brotherhoods then appealed to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of review. The last chapter to the case was written yesterday when the Supreme Court refused to review the case.

In the opinion of Mr. Karr, the decision gives the Pacific Electric one of the most sweeping victories in the long fight against the unions. By the terms of the injunction, the brotherhoods are prohibited from coming on the company's property and attempting to unionize the company employees. The injunction even goes so far as to prevent the union agents from approaching the company's employees going to and from their work and intimidating them in their efforts to induce them to organize unions.

SEEK FUNDS FOR SCOUTS IN CAMPAIGN

Better Camp in Hollywood Hills Aim of Those Aiding in Drive

A campaign to "back the Boy Scouts" was inaugurated at the Biltmore Hotel at noon yesterday when business men and prominent women started an organization to raise $100,000 needed for the improvement of the Scout camp in the Hollywood hills and the maintenance of the troops for the coming year. Nearly one-fourth of this amount was pledged at the luncheon and a canvass for the balance will be made during the four days of the 11th to 14th inst., inclusive.

It was announced that while Los Angeles has one of the most efficient Scout organizations in the country, it is one of the smallest in point of numbers. There are only twelve troops with a membership of practically 2000 boys. Thousands of other boys who have eagerly awaited enlistment have been denied the privilege because there has not been sufficient money to pay the expense of Scout training.

Los Angeles District Council will direct the fund-raising campaign, and for that purpose has opened headquarters in the Biltmore. Officers of the council are: President, Malcom McNaughten; vice-president, H. F. Huntington; treasurer, Charles H. Toll; secretary, J. E. Jardine. Capt. Edward A. Salisbury was named campaign chairman, and George F. Bradley, Robert A. Heffner and Malcolm McNaughten appointed "generals." These three "generals" will each command ten "captains," each of whom, in turn, will direct ten "lieutenants." These 333 workers will comprise the field force that will canvass the business district during the four days of intensive money raising. Others of the committee will look after the residential district.

Two Youths Are Denied Trial by Juvenile Court

Declaring that youths accused of committing major crimes are "unfit subjects for the Juvenile Court," Judge Archbald of the Juvenile Department yesterday remanded to the Superior Court two young men charged on three counts with burglary.

The men are Roy Douglas, 18 years of age, and Charles Clyde Edkins, 18. According to the juvenile probation officer's report both suspects came to Los Angeles recently from the East, met in a poolroom and entered a life of crime. They are charged with burglarizing two automobile filling stations and a grocery store.

They were first arraigned in a criminal department of the local Superior Court but were transferred to the Juvenile Court on account of age.

In remanding them to the Superior Court, Judge Archbald pointed out that hundreds of major crimes have been committed in the last year by youths between the ages of 17 and 20 years of age and that due to the seriousness of the charges, he said, suspects of these ages should be given jury trials and dealt with accordingly.

Pick Publicity Director for Charter Drive

The organization of a committee, with W. T. Bishop of the Chamber of Commerce as chairman, to handle the publicity campaign for the proposed city charter, is about completed. The following executive committee has been named to take over active management: W. D. Longyear, F. R. Feitshans, Mary Workman, A. B. Hassler, Dora S. Stearns, Mrs. R. L. Craig, Hal Roach, Paul O. Hoffman and William Mead.

The executive committee will meet Tuesday afternoon, the 11th inst., at the Chamber of Commerce, when plans will be completed which are expected to carry the new city charter at the election, May 6.

WESTCOTT FORFEITS BAIL

Charles Westcott, motion-picture cowboy, failed to appear when his bail of $3000 was declared forfeited. He was accused of attacking Olive Fern Elliott. George Lenhardt, asserted friend of Westcott, faces a charge of attempted bribery growing out of the case, it being charged he tried to bribe Miss Elliott to exonerate Westcott.

NEWS STORY OF CONTEST TAKES PRIZE

Announcement Made in Washington Star Best Printed in Week

In a recent contest the Washington (D. C.) Star gave a prize to the news articles announcing the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution as the best news story of the week.

This National Oratorical Contest, dealing with the Constitution of the United States, is being conducted simultaneously throughout all the secondary schools of the United States. Hundreds of high schools and approximately 10,000 high school pupils in California have enrolled as contestants for the supreme honor of representing the Pacific Coast at Washington on June 6, and of competing for the $5000 in prizes offered there. The news story published in Washington, which won the Washington Star's "Best News Story Contest," is typical of the spirit of enthusiasm with which the contest is being welcomed.

"The story plainly states the unselfish purpose of the scheme, the absolute fairness of its provisions, the clear directions for the contestants and the nation-wide scope of the plan.

"The proposal will aid greatly in giving incentive for written and oral composition. As students we need live subjects dealing with community interests for written composition, and we also need to appreciate the nature and function of the oration. We need to be taught to organize our thought in a form suitable for earnest and direct appeal to an audience.

"In addition to meeting these needs, the article offers a plan for the improvement of the speech of the high school pupils of the United States. The evils of speech defects, vulgarity, profanity, slang and careless utterance must be checked and the purity and dignity of the English language preserved.

"Finally, the theme itself of the proposed oration holds the attention of the reader. As future citizens we need to study our Constitution and be able to interpret it clearly and forcefully to our associates. No one can estimate the wide effect of this contest in disarming the increasing enemies of the republic and in developing fearless young men and women who will stand up with pride and defend the ideals of our country.

"This article satisfies me because it proposes with clearness a perfectly fair, well-organized and nation-wide plan for an oratorical contest; gives incentive for written and oral composition; encourages public speaking, and above all, promises to produce a more patriotic citizenship for America."

SINGER PRAISED BY FRENCHMEN

Artist's Rendition of Numbers Please

Finish Advertising Item Read at Noontide

"Quality not quantity" prevailed at The Times radio station yesterday. Due to the observance of Lent right the studio concentrated on the noontide program and succeeded in giving radioland a hour's treat that was both entertaining and instructive.

Floyvane Thompson, mezzo-soprano, delighted the listeners-in with a choice selection of classical numbers in French and English. Although Mme. Thompson is best known for her interpretations of concert numbers, her melodious voice adapted itself beautifully to "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

Many letters of commendation have been received at the studio concerning the work of Mme. Thompson. Louis Sentious, Jr., of the Consulaire De France, expressed his warm appreciation of the numbers in French, mentioning especially "Madelon" and "Chanson." Another letter of appreciation received from a Red Cross soldier who is sick in a hospital here in Northern California, thanked Mme. Thompson deeply.

FEELING EXPRESSED

Howard Tarmon, always a favorite at KHJ, brought a choice selection of popular numbers. Mr. Tarmon seems to put an unusual degree of heart power behind his voice and into the rendition of his songs.

Merle R. Miller, manager of the Better Business Bureau, was not able to be present to give his weekly talk on "Truth in Advertising," but was represented by Perry Walker, who read the thirtieth number of the series of better-business talks. This feature of the radio program is receiving a great response from the general public, it enables the buyer to better understand the reputable business houses in their efforts to give their customers honest values. Mr. Cheney's talk on the advertising value of automobile tires ought to enable the motorist to protect himself against unethical practices of tire merchandising.

"CANNED FOOD WEEK"

"Canned Food Week" was observed by KHJ in an address by Allen Cutler, president of the Canners' Association. He is scheduled to give a series of these talks during this week.

During March the matinee programs on KHJ are to be furnished by the Southern California Music Company under the direction of Blanche Devereux.

URGES TRAFFIC SURVEY

Bogardus Proposes Council Pay $20,000 as Half Cost

President Bogardus of the Board of Public Utilities yesterday appeared before the City Council's Finance Committee and urged that the committee recommend the appropriation of $20,000 to pay half the cost of a comprehensive transportation survey of the entire metropolitan district, the county to pay an equal amount.

"How do we know," asked Finance Committee Chairman Mushet, "that if we order the survey made the people will vote the $100,000,000 necessary for subways?"

"I am confident that once we have a definite plan and program of betterments to meet our needs," said President Bogardus, "that the improvements can be financed either by municipal bonds or by the street railway companies or by private capital advanced to the city government. We must have transportation facilities."

"I agree with you," said Councilman Mushet. "Something must be done."

The committee took the matter under advisement.

Two other suspects picked up by the police were turned loose because they could not be identified. Wood was tried the first time in Judge Hahn's department. FARMER GRADUATES ARE TOLD TO SHAVE

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL DEAN ALSO TELLS STUDENTS TO KEEP DIARY

STATE COLLEGE (Pa.) March 3.—Shave twice a week, knock off farm work an hour earlier Wednesdays and all of Saturday afternoon, mingle with experienced farmers in the community and keep a diary.

These were the outstanding points of advice given to the class of sixty-five agricultural short-course students, who completed their two months' training here, at their farewell dinner by R. G. Bressler, vice-dean of the Pennsylvania College agricultural school.

"You should keep a diary," Mr. Bressler said, "and jot down your feelings when dad says you can't go to the ball game or picnic," Bressler continued. "Twenty years from now you can look up that old diary and think twice before refusing your own son permission to take the flivver and go to a dance."

MONEY-LOSER GETS MYSTERIOUS LETTER

WOMAN SAYS SHE'LL RETURN $6400 DESPITE MATE AND DAUGHTER

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—"I have found your money and will bring it to you. My husband and daughter won't let me do it, but by the help of God I will."

This mysterious letter, signed "Mrs. Flanigan," was received by Christian Donch, a real-estate dealer, in response to an advertisement for the return of $6400 lost by a young widow in a Market-street store on Friday.

The money was lost in the waiting-room of the store by the widow, whose identity is withheld, and she asked Mr. Donch, who has offices in the Real Estate Trust Building, to advertise the loss. The receipt of the letter today was followed by two interrupted telephone calls by the "Mrs. Flanigan," who said she would return the money and then suddenly hung up the receiver.

Mr. Donch refused to say why the widow was carrying that sum about with her. He said the money came to the widow in a legacy.

POLICE FINES DROP

Report For Courts in February Shows Smaller Total

Fines and bail forfeitures collected through the seven departments of the Los Angeles Police Court fell off $22,134 during the month of February, it was revealed in a report given out yesterday by Chief Bail Clerk David Martin. Clerk Martin's report showed that $105,535 was collected in January while for February the total was only $83,401.

The opinion was expressed by court officials that the decrease was due to the new system in the traffic bureau of not requiring motorists to put up bail on first offenses against the city traffic legislation.

MEXICAN BIRTH RATE TOPS ARIZONA'S LIST

SMALLER GROUP APPROACHES NATIVE WHITE ELEMENT IN MONTH'S TOTAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 3.—That the Mexican birth rate in Arizona is much higher than in other white elements of the population is shown by late statistics. In a single month the native white babies numbered 344, while those of Mexican parentage were 301. In another month the ratio was 292 to 282.

The last census showed a native white population of 213,350 and only 78,099 individuals of foreign birth. Yet the births relatively were the same in number from the two major elements of population.

The births for the past year aggregated 7401 and the deaths 4959. Seventy-six pairs of twins were reported, but no triplets, of which there were two sets in the previous year. At least two families were recorded as having more than twenty children. During the year 3844 boys and 3657 girls were born. The January ratio showed an even larger male majority, 412 boys and 333 girls.

Three days ago Chief Williams received word from the Beaver City authorities stating that Phillips had again escaped and asking the local police to watch for him. He will be started for Beaver City again in a few days, where he is wanted on charges of white slavery and jail-breaking.

It has been discovered that nearly $1,000,000 worth of standard bourbon whisky has been removed from a government warehouse in Chicago without the knowledge or consent of the authorities. Some thrifty soul must have a trained thirst.

THE YOUNG IDEA

Pasadena is rather proud of the fact that its citizens are paying a higher per capita tax for the education of the young than any other city in the country. The taxpayers are coughing up more than $24 a head for the upkeep of the Pasadena schools.

THE WRONG IDEA

There are more Italians in New York City than there are in either Naples or Rome. Which is another reason why the Goddess of Liberty should keep her eye skinned as to the European invasion. We do not need armies of immigrants piling up in our cities.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

The British Parliament has passed a bill which vastly extends the franchise for women. It permits females to vote at the age of 21. Heretofore they have not been allowed the ballot unless they confessed to thirty years and lots of women hate to grow that old.

GOING UP

Now the barber shops are beginning to hang out the sign that the minimum charge is 50 cents. The gent who merely wants a quick shave is expected also to absorb half a dollar's worth of tonsorial conversation. No wonder so many humans are working under the rule of safety first.

THE POUND OF FLESH

An eminent Italian scientist mourned the death of his pet dog in a striking manner. On the day of the funeral of his loved one he bought a pound of meat for every dog in town. In this way the memory of Fido was sweetened in the breast of every other canine in the community. Possibly some of them did not know what it was all about, but they were all in receptive mood and felt better for the ceremony.

THE RIGHT CUE

In the recent tournament for the billiard championship one of the performers used a battery of five cues in making the various shots which came to him. The old-time expert had but one cue and slept with it chained to his wrist. But the modern champions find that a stick that is good for masse shots may not do well for the long drives—also that a cue for the delicate nursing game may not be best for heavy draws. The day may come when our crack performers on the green cloth will need a caddy when they are working in form.

THE UNEASY MONEY

Counterfeiting Uncle Sam's paper money is becoming a rather common and profitable industry in Germany and other European countries. American money of any kind is so much in demand that it is taken almost without question in any city in the world. At the same time, foreigners are not sufficiently familiar with it to be readily able to distinguish the good from the bad and are therefore easier victims than our home folk. Crooks who are able to turn out a plausible imitation of our $10 note are able to make a killing in Paris or Berlin. But who wants to take marks for change?

PLAYING PEEKABOO

Possibly Senator Lenroot was sarcastic when he suggested the creation of a general committee on scandals to mop up and classify the gossip which is undermining official Washington. It is certain that if the attention of all the solons is to be directed at the alleged frailties of their fellows there will be no time for the business of the public. The creation of a joint gossip commission—to be made up of equal parts of Congress and the Old People's Home—would permit the handling of the scandals by experts and at the same time release a large number of Senators for other duties. Possibly it would be well to establish a scandal-sifting bureau as a part of the government machinery. It should necessarily be nonpartisan and a couple of lady experts should be included in the membership. According to Hoyle a skirt makes a good scandal-sifter. As the situation stands peekaboo is becoming the national game at Washington, D. C.

DAWES GROWS OPTIMISTIC

Speaking to a representative of the Associated Press in Paris last week, Brig.-Gen. Dawes uttered the first optimistic sentiment that has come out of Europe in many months. He expressed the belief that the ground has been prepared for a settlement of the thrice-vexed reparations question.

According to Brig.-Gen. Dawes, the occupation of the Ruhr has brought economic distress alike to Germany and France; but, while doing a great deal of harm, it has not been without fruitful results. "If the French were not in the Ruhr," he said, "we experts would not be here." These words were said in a meeting of the international committee and were quoted by Premier Poincare in an address before the French Chamber of Deputies.

Asked to explain, the American expert said that the Ruhr occupation had made the Germans realize that they must pay up to their capacity, which it appeared they had not intended to do until the French entered the Ruhr; also the French occupation of the Ruhr had brought the French to a realization that occupation itself could not produce reparation payments. The French are receding from their demand for enormous immediate sums and are prepared to consider easier terms of settlement than before they entered the Ruhr.

In other words, the Germans have learned that they must ultimately pay, and the French that they must give Germany a chance to recuperate and must accept such payments as Germany can make without starving her own people.

German children are dying by the thousands, and the French find that their own tax burden has been increased enormously by the Ruhr venture. The French franc is following the trail of the German mark; and some economic settlement must be made to prevent economic disaster.

It has been a hard lesson for both peoples; and both should have known a year ago that the Ruhr occupation could benefit neither. Through suffering, however, one acquires wisdom. Brig.-Gen. Dawes is now hopeful that the object lesson has been sufficiently impressive and that both the French and the Germans will be willing to follow the advice of experts who are actuated only by a desire to ameliorate the condition of both peoples.

Before Germany can pay she must be permitted to operate her industries unhampered by outside interference. She must be allowed to develop her industries and her commerce. Attacks on German unity must cease. Her creditors must co-operate with her in place of plotting to restrict and ruin her.

On the other hand, the German people must understand that the Versailles Treaty is something more than a scrap of paper. They had signed an agreement to pay and they must honor their signature.

Armed might will collect nothing for France. Her armies will not succeed as collection agencies. Her display of force during the last year has awakened a distrust that will not slumber for perhaps a generation. Her petulance and her arrogance have done her a vast amount of injury in the eyes of the world. She has lost sympathy and prestige; for, in the words of former President Wilson, France "made a mockery of the Treaty of Versailles."

All that, however, relates to the past. What has been written, alike by France and Germany, cannot be erased. But the world must go on. Europe must look to the future and leave to time, the great healer, the task of wiping out the memory of a bitter past.

The French franc will not come back to par until Germany comes back. If Germany falls lower the franc will follow the downward course. The restoration of France is inescapably united to the restoration of Germany. The Rhine binds them together, it does not separate them. Neither can escape from the natural conditions which have made them neighbors and interdependent.

In an industrial age it is not possible for one people to prosper through the enslavement of another. Neither Germany nor France showed a scrupulous regard for the Treaty of Versailles. Both have learned, to their enormous economical and financial loss, that two wrongs cannot make a right. Sobered by experience, it is now possible that they will listen to disinterested counsel. The voice of the expert may now rise above that of arrogance and cries of revenge. Justice moves slowly; but her step is impeded by any people at their peril.

HOPE FOR MEXICO

The occupation of Tuxpam by Federal forces and the decision of the Mexican government to thoroughly clean out that district are important news to all Americans interested in Mexican oil. For the Tuxpam district has been about the most lawless place in Mexico. Gen. Manuel Larraga has been a menace there for years. Unidentified "revolutionists" murdered five men in the Penn-Mex terminal at Tuxpam Bar in 1921, stole 60,000 pesos and demanded monthly ransom of 10,000 pesos there and at Molino, south of the Tuxpam River. They later compelled the International Petroleum Company to shut down several wells, held an entire camp of forty-one employees of the Cortex Oil Corporation for ransom, took 50,000 pesos on "forced loan" from the International and caused several other companies much annoyance.

If the Federal forces now thoroughly clean out the Tuxpam district, as they promise to do, conditions there will be better than for twelve years.

The occupation of Tuxpam signifies resignation of the last hope of the rebels to secure control of the oil fields. With Tampico, Tuxpam and Vera Crux in Federal hands all the ports of the oil country except Puerto Mexico are safe, and the latter cannot long hold out. All the terminals, or sea-loading stations, pipe lines, tank farms and refineries are protected and nothing is to be feared except a little jungle banditry.

The moral effect of this is bound to discourage revolutionists throughout the republic. There can be little doubt that the plan of the De la Huertistas was to gain control of the oil fields and the enormous revenues therefrom and so finance their revolution. All Mexico knows that the monthly oil export taxes have been of tremendous importance to the Mexican government, and knowledge that the revolutionists at first held all the great oil territory except Tampico city and the Panuco field along the northern edge of the State of Vera Cruz undoubtedly was inspiring to would-be revolutionists elsewhere. Now the fact that the rebels have been driven out of all that important territory and have no hope of such sinews of war is bound to make their allies in other States lose enthusiasm.

This revolution was well planned and effectively launched, starting with control of Guadalajara, the second city in Mexico, on the west, a band of southern States always ready to rebel against anybody and the world-famous oil fields on the east. It may, therefore, be an indirect blessing to the republic as a demonstration of the folly of rebellion under the new order of things in Mexico. In the meantime, the blessings of prosperity which are likely to follow peace in Mexico will have done away with much of the discontent which is fertile soil for revolt.

PRESERVE WESTLAKE PARK

Action was well taken by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association in protesting the proposed erection of a fire-alarm station in Westlake Park. At Westlake the people have a beautiful and convenient breathing space that, with the march of stores and shops and skyscrapers, has already become a central park of the city.

Early advance in the building activities that are sweeping forward from the Courthouse to the sea emphasizes the necessity of preserving for the public, intact and unimpeded, the remaining open spaces where the citizens can still obtain surcease and relief from the bustle of business and the roar of the streets.

The cost of purchasing any new land for public-park purposes is every year more nearly prohibitive. It is improbable that another such park as Westlake will ever be created for the free enjoyment of rich and poor alike so close to the center of the city. Wherefore it behooves us to hang on for all we are worth to the inestimable blessing already vouchsafed us.

A fire-alarm station in itself will not deprive the citizens of much of the open space, measured merely in square yards, occupied by the green lawns, the refreshing water and the noble trees of this popular resort. But it will set a dangerous precedent. It will be the advance guard of an ever-growing army of demands for more building sites till all that will be left of the present Westlake Park will be the wet area only suitable for boats.

More fire-alarm and more police stations are a crying need in a city growing as rapidly as the city of Los Angeles. But it is poor economy and worse taste to cut up the pleasure grounds of the people to accommodate any municipal departments. Westlake and Lafayette parks are twin jewels in the crown of La Reina and we should not dim them or sacrifice them, even to the necessity of her fast-growing stature.

There are plenty of locations for all needed buildings. Spare us our public parks and breathing spaces.

CABBAGES AND KINGS

George Bernard Shaw has made the discovery that all the really warlike people in the world are vegetarians. It seems that there is nothing like nibbling at a lettuce leaf or gnawing away the edge of a bean to fire one with a hankering for homicide.

If vegetarians are truly bloodthirsty people, as Shaw avers, it must be the extreme monotony of the diet that makes them so. While there is no doubt that green leaf and other vegetables are all full of vitamines and will fill up the system with friendly bacteria, it takes a very skillful culinary artist to concoct a palatable meal from them alone. The lady who had inadvertently married a vegetable hound, unless he is also a raw-food enthusiast, has "bit off a mouthful," as the old saying goes. She will probably spend her days envying the fortunate female who can flip a few pieces of stewing meat into a fireless cooker and spend the day down town nosing out good bargains, confident that her problem of "feeding the brute" is solved to the satisfaction of everyone.

The vegetarian's spouse must be a combination chemical expert and chef de luxe as well. And now the noted G. B. S. avers that he will be a fighter, too. Writers of advice to women should warn their readers against green-food cranks; in the light of this news they will be happier with a carnivorous gentleman.

WOMEN IN IRONS

The market page tells that the sale of electric curling irons has been boosted 150 per cent through the persistence of the bob-hair passion. This in spite of the fact that the beauty shops do not run heartily to the electric curlers themselves. But home curling seems to have taken the place of home brewing as the fifth industry of America and women who never wielded a flatiron in their lives are eagerly seizing anything that looks like a curler.

THE SAGE OF CALABASAS

The owner of a brand new car gets more advice from friends than the mother of a brand new baby.

"Put a little castor oil in your gasoline," advises the first man. "Don't use castor oil—use cylinder oil," says the second. "Put in a full quart to five gallons." "No, a pint is plenty," says the third.

"Don't run her over twenty miles an hour the first 500 miles," advises the fourth. "That's all bunk—you can put her up to thirty-five without hurting," says the fifth. "I wouldn't run her fifteen if I were you," the sixth counsels, warningly.

"You'll spoil the finish if you let dust stay on it," says the seventh. "Wipe it off with a soft cloth." "Never use anything but a wet chamois on your enamel," warns the eighth. "Turn the hose on it and give it a good soaking," says No. 9. "Have it umsterized," says No. 10.

"Use the crank when she's new and stiff and save the battery," Friend Eleven insists. "Your generator probably charges too fast at first," declares Friend Twelve, "keep your battery run down or she'll overheat."

And so it goes. "Use heavy oil—use light oil;" "use eastern oil;" "no, western is better;" till the poor new owner begins to wonder whose car it is.

The joke is that babies are probably better standardized than are cars, and everybody knows they are variable enough. There are probably more different opinions on how to treat a new car than on any subject under the sun.

RIPPLING RHYMES

IN FEBRUARY

When the priceless snow is drifting and the sky is bleak and drear, it's consoling and uplifting to reflect that spring is near. Just a few short weeks of weather of a cheap Alaska brand, then the birds will sing together songs we all can understand. I have worked the paying teller till my bank account is gone, putting coal down in the cellar, piling cordwood on the lawn; there are moments when I'm sadder than a voter ought to be, for the blast bites like an adder and the breeze stings like a bee; but I brace up shortly, saying, "It is idle to repine, for the hens will soon be laying and the good old sun will shine. It is idle to be jawing, spring is knocking at the door and my ears will soon be thawing and my nose will not be sore." I denounce the weather wizard in unmeasured terms and tones, when he sends the whooping blizzard and I fain would break his bones; but he soon will be relenting and he'll send the helpful breeze, and the roses will be scenting every wind that sweeps the leas. Let the bitter storms be pelting, still I'll gambol, smile and sing; while my whiskers are a-melting I will look ahead to spring.

BRITISH SEEK AMERICA

BY EUGENE J. YOUNG

With the upsets of political factors in Europe and the approach of critical elections on the continent there are plenty of problems to engage the attention of the student of world affairs. One set of circumstances, of the utmost importance to the United States, is being obscured in the clouds of controversy raised over some of the others.

A new movement is under way by the Free States of the British Empire to put themselves into close touch with the Washington government. They are again pushing the project of having at the American capital their own diplomats, who will be independent of London's Embassy in carrying on negotiations with our State Department.

The United States and the British Empire are the two most powerful elements in the world today. Any strong shift of influence which strengthens one and weakens the other is a matter of first importance. And the present effort of the Free States to come into direct contact with America is of such a shift, as I have pointed out before to my readers.

What Free States Are Doing

Ever since the imperial conference in London last October observers have been watching for action by the Free States. The British at that time reaffirmed the right of Canada to have its separate envoy at Washington and also conceded the equal rights of the "nations within the empire" and the rights of these "nations" to make treaties with other nations in matters affecting themselves. For months nothing was done because none of the Free States took the initiative. Now there is activity from several directions, as witness:

(1.) The Irish Free State, which had waited for Canada to move first, became tired of inaction. It found a chance to raise the issue because it had no separate place on the American list of quotas for immigration. All the other Free States have their quotas. Ireland has now asked for hers. She assumes it is necessary to negotiate this matter directly with Washington. Therefore, she has asked that the United States accept a diplomatic envoy from Dublin.

(2.) This request has been put up to the London government. It has taken the position that Canada should be the first to have such an envoy. Therefore, there has been pressure from Dublin and elsewhere on Ottawa for action by Canada. Premier Mackenzie-King, who has long been diseased from pressing his "nation's" rights, has taken up the matter seriously with a view of appointing a Minister—or Ambassador—in the near future.

South Africa Takes a Hand

(3.) Gen. Smuts, the Premier of South Africa, is raising the question in his own way. Through London a demand has been made by Secretary of State Hughes that the "open-door" policy shall be applied to the former German Southwest Africa, which was absorbed by the South African Free State. Gen. Smuts holds the answer to this demand is not one which can be made by London, but must come from South Africa after consultation with the other British "nations." He refused to go to the Washington Arms Conference because the invitation was sent through London, and he is now pressing the same point of view.

(4.) Egypt, which ostensibly was given its freedom, but which is still under control of British troops, has already sent its envoy to Washington and this official is actively engaged in interesting our government in the affairs of his country with the view of lining us up against any attempt of the British to force favors to themselves or to withdraw the concessions of freedom.

(5.) The Indian Legislative Assembly, by an overwhelming vote, has demanded a "round-table" conference, with all elements represented, to decide what shall be done to satisfy the people. The least that is asked by the factions making up this majority is equality for India with the other "nations" of the empire. That equality must be granted or a great explosion is likely. If it is granted, then India will want her diplomat at Washington.

Gravitate to Our Orbit

It is not to be supposed, of course, that the British "nations" want representation only at Washington. Once they get the principle established they will send their diplomats to other capitals. They already have their envoys in the League of Nations.

But the choice of Washington for the crucial test is no accident. It is the evidence of the gravitation of the British "nations" into our orbit. As Smuts once expressed it, we are regarded as the big brother of the democracies of the world; and the young democracies which have sprung from the same source and are emulating our example want to align themselves with us in our world policies.

Ireland's motive, in particular, is plain. She wants this country to be her defender in case a reaction should come in Britain and an attempt be made to take away her liberty. There are powerful elements in England and North Ireland who resent the present conditions. There are strong elements in the military who feel their country is menaced by having across the channel a people who might be unfriendly in war. Outbreak of disorders in Ireland would give an excuse for reoccupation.

Under present conditions the United States would not be in position to intervene if Britain should take such a step. But if Ireland had an envoy of her own in Washington he could ask for intervention against an attack on the independent nationhood of the country and we would have the right to act.

South Africa seeks the same advantage. Australia, with her fear of Japan, wants to be included in our defense of the "open door" and status quo in the Far East. And all join with Canada in wanting to share in the advantages we can come from the use of our wealth for world development.

Tut Figuring in Politics

A curious feature of this [illegible] situation is the shrewd use being made of the long-dead Tut-ankh-Amen as a factor in political propaganda. We have been deluged with details of what seemed to be a petty row over the spoils of the tomb of a dead monarch; but those who have watched the development of affairs in Egypt have realized that beneath this controversy was running some shrewd manoeuvre of another nature.

Tut brings to mind the days when Egypt was a great empire, free and powerful. After [illegible] centuries Egypt again is [illegible] free. But the world, its mind centered on more important things, has paid little attention to the fact. Suddenly, through the [illegible] over the tomb, attention has been focused on the fact that Egypt is an independent government at Cairo. Most cleverly it has been brought out that there is still a serious controversy over the [illegible] British garrison (which is ostensibly guarding the Suez Canal) over the British claims for special rights and over the sovereignty of the Soudan territory.

Internally, the Egyptians have been roused to recall the memories of past greatness and invited to rally around the leaders who proclaim that Egypt can once more be great. For the moment at least a wave of patriotism has swept over the country.

This patriotism centers around a person who is a bitter enemy of the British. Zaghloul Pasha, leader of the Nationalist party, was repressed during the war, imprisoned at Malta, where he was sent to get to the Paris peace conference, exiled later to an equatorial island, taken to Gibraltar after his health was apparently shattered, and released last year when it seemed he could never again take an active part in politics. But he recently overwhelmingly carried the recent elections and he is now premier. It is he who is taking an interest in the Tut tomb to divert attention and making his country really independent.

Upset in India

The upset in the Indian Legislative Assembly has astonished even those who knew what changes had taken place in that country. After the election of last fall I wrote "there is no native party intent upon any part of the present system of government," but gave the opinion that the imperial authorities would be able to control the Assembly by a combination of the [illegible] appointed by the government and various moderate elements. Other commentators proclaimed the opponents of the government would be in a hopeless minority.

Yet the vote on adoption of the resolution for a "round-table" conference (which was the main plank in the platform of the extremist nationalists) found only 484 members opposing it out of a membership of 1400. The government naturally has the support of only a handful of those elected. Which does not cannot rely on the backing of a party. And the imperial authorities now have been plainly told they can get support from the moderates only by putting India on an equality with the other Free States.

A great drama that is being played out in the steady shifting of the British Empire as its various "nations" seek their own diplomats out to serve their own ends a tremendous result will have taken place; a great shifting of world power will have been accomplished. As the forces shaping America will benefit by this process, gaining the backing of the English-speaking nation which England will lose.

Had Its Uses

The world made a mistake in getting rid of the old-time hell. It was the best deterrent in the book; if not the most reasonable, the truest and most effective. When men refuse to be good the best remedy is to give them hell vigorously. Many a woman who has been given hell with sufficient promptness has been reasonably satisfactory.—W. Howe's Monthly.

SONG OF QUEEN AVERIL

I have grown old in spring's return,
And now spring comes like winter grey,
In a young world; yet warm in me burn
The morning fires Love in youth's day.

I have grown old; the years
look on me
With sighs, and wonder once was fair;
And whisper one another,
she?
Did summer ever
ter hair?

"Ah! she is old; yet she was young;
Yea, loved as we have men tell
How bright her beauty
every tongue,
And how a knight
loved her well.

"Yet Love grows old young and warm;
His leaping fires ashes fall;
Shall we, too, wither storm,
And wander thus,
and frail?"

Love grows not old,
though youth dies
And bodily beauty flower;
Though all things spring and Love's fire burns

MILK QUALITY IS EXCELLENT

Low Bacterial Count Here Shown by Tests

Average Dairy Score Given as 95 Per Cent

First Examination of Year Held Satisfactory

The milk supply of Los Angeles at the present time is of excellent quality and of low bacterial count, according to the results of the test made conducted this year by the City Board of Health. The tests were in charge of Dr. M. A. McDonald, market milk specialist representing the State; Carl E. Tegner, of the dairy department, University Farm, Davis, Cal., and E. J. Pierce of the Dairy Division, U.S.D.A., Salt Lake City.

The average score for dairies was graded as 95 per cent, including the grades of certified, guaranteed, pasteurized and grade "A" raw milk. The samples were judged according to items as follows: bacteria, 30; flavor, 15; sediment, 10; butter fat, 5; solids not fat, 15; acidity, 5, and appearance of bottle, 5.

The scores for dairies were announced by Chief Milk Inspector William Veit as follows:

H. Kinney, secretary to Mayor Cryer.

INFALLIBLE SKIPPER CALLS

Famous Transport Captain Travels 2,000,000 Miles in Fifty Years Without A Wreck

A famous skipper, who holds the enviable record of having followed the sea for fifty years and traveled 2,000,000 miles about the seaways of the earth without having figured in a single wreck or serious accident, came to Los Angeles Harbor yesterday. He is Capt. C. F. Williams, commanding the United States Army transport Cambral. Capt. Williams also holds the distinction of being one of the Army Transport Service's "Three Infallibles."

Capt. C. F. Williams

Twenty-six years ago, when the war with Spain opened, the American Army suddenly found itself without sufficient ships to transport an expeditionary force of 200,000 men to Cuba and Porto Rico. It bought from England what were then the three finest steamers of their type afloat, the transports Buford, Thomas and Logan. The three best merchant skippers the Army could find were placed in command. They were Capts. Williams, Hall and Scott.

STILL ON BRIDGE

Today all three are still commanding United States Army transports. Capt. Williams has the Cambral, considered the finest of the entire transport fleet; Capt. Hall commands the Thomas, and Capt. Scott the Grant. In twenty-six years no one of the three has missed a voyage or suffered a serious accident to his ship. Hence the 'Three Infallibles."

Capt. Williams is a down easter—from Gloucester, Mass. He learned the seafaring game aboard with Gloucester fishermen and his first deep-water voyage, back in 1875, was aboard the full-rigged ship Stamboul. Ten years ago he moved his family to Los Angeles, and although this dean of salt-water men has seen most of the world's beauty spots, he says Southern California will be snug harbor for him when he leaves the bridge.

HOLDS MEDALS

Capt. Williams holds numerous medals, citations and commendations for service in both the World War and the war with Spain. He led the convoys that took the American Expeditionary Force to Siberia and in 1920 his ship, then the Logan, was selected to transport from Vladivostok to Trieste the 2000 Czecho-Slovaks who had fought their way across Siberia to freedom.

Yesterday's call aboard the Cambral was Capt. Williams's first visit to this port in his entire career. The Cambral, en route to New York from Honolulu, put in at Los Angeles Harbor to load eight giant Davis-Douglas bombing planes, consigned to the Army Air Service at New York.

She also took out 100 army and navy passengers in her first cabin, in addition to 400 troops, loaded at Fort MacDowell.

EXPECT PORT ROW ACTION

Mayor Said to Be Ready to Take Stand Today on McKee; Council Fight Seen

Mayor Cryer plans to take action of some kind in the harbor mess today, according to a report circulated at the City Hall yesterday. Political supporters of Edgar McKee, president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, are said to have assembled sufficient strength to block the removal of McKee by the City Council.

Today will also see the opening of the grand jury investigation of harbor affairs; the inquiry to be conducted by Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Dep. Dist.-Attys. Richardson and Shelley and G. E. Nagel, foreman of the grand jury.

McKee, the reports said, has been advised to stand pat; that Frank Reese, City Hall lobbyist and friend of McKee, has been active in the latter's behalf.

This McKee's friends deny.

Five votes are necessary in the Council to sustain the removal of McKee by the Mayor. Councilmen who have been in touch with the Mayor on the harbor situation admitted recently that while McKee's removal would have been easy a week ago, there is some doubt of the reaction in the Council now.

Officially, the Mayor is still making a personal investigation of charges against McKee and of his general fitness to be head of the important harbor commission. The Mayor's friends are known to have advised him that the responsibility for retaining McKee in office will be left with the Council, should the Mayor ask for his removal, and that the Councilmen who do not support the Mayor will have to carry the load on their shoulders should further disclosures come from the grand jury investigation.

While the Mayor is struggling with the harbor mess at the City Hall, the grand jury today will begin to hear testimony of witnesses summoned by Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley. Among the first witnesses will be police officers who investigated the story told by Capt. Lewis Hansen that he had been forced to give McKee a suit of clothes and had been asked for a "fifty-fifty" split of land commissions.

According to Dist.-Atty. Keyes more than 200 witnesses will be called during the investigation, which will last for weeks. Every angle of the harbor operations will be looked into and all leases, permits and other officials business of the harbor board investigated. Bank accounts, bank books and official papers have already been ordered before the grand jury by the county authorities and personal accounts of some of the persons involved will be placed before the investigating body.

New and important information regarding a number of deals which have a direct bearing on the charges being made against the management of the harbor was placed in the hands of Mr. Keyes yesterday and investigators were detailed to the new angles. "We are very much pleased with the manner in which our case is developing," stated Mr. Keyes late yesterday afternoon.

Stating that the present grand jury is anticipating a program of outstanding benefit to the community, G. E. Nagel, foreman of the body, yesterday outlined his plans and asked support of newspapers and newspaper men in making the work of the jury as successful as possible.

His request was made at a luncheon attended by newspaper men and officials who will be connected with the grand jury in their work during the year. A program of co-operation was worked out and the newspapers were thanked for the aid extended heretofore in disclosing instances of graft and abuse.

"I believe the newspapers can be of great benefit to us in bringing before the public the constructive work that the grand jury does," said Mr. Nagel yesterday. "I wish to have it understood that the present grand jury will be glad to give information through the proper channels as to the work that is being done. Co-operation and publication of the facts at the proper time will do much to make our efforts successful."

Specific mention yesterday was made of the asserted harbor graft inquiry to be taken up by the jury at their meeting today. Mr. Nagel stated he wished to make the findings of the jury public that the community might profit. He also thanked The Times for information furnished and assured the gathering that the grand jury would be glad to accept and investigate at any time any information brought to its notice.

Those attending the meeting yesterday were Mr. Nagel, Gavin Witherspoon, secretary of the jury; Dep.-Dist.-Atty. Conner Richardson, mentor-in-law for the body; Dept. Dist.-Atty. Shelley, in charge of the harbor board inquiry; Ben Smith, official shorthand reporter of the grand jury, and newspaper men.

NAB BROTHERS AS SUSPECTS

Two Believed Implicated in Seattle Robbery Taken Following Chance Discovery

A suspicion that two men they saw getting off a street car at Sixth street and Broadway Saturday afternoon were pickpockets yesterday led Detective Lieutenants Reed and Shaffer to the capture of Harry and John Thompson, brothers, wanted by Seattle for implication in the robbery of a Western Union Telegraph collector of $7500.

When the detectives first saw the two men on the street car they said they suspected that they were pickpockets. Working on this theory, the detectives followed the pair to a room near Eleventh and Hope streets where they were living. Yesterday Detective Sergeant C. J. Waechter of Seattle, learning from an underworld tip that the two suspects were in Los Angeles, arrived here with their pictures.

Waechter happened to meet Detectives Reed and Shaffer as they passed in the hallway at the Detective Bureau. Waechter had the pictures of the two suspects in his hands. Reed immediately recognized the photos as those of the two suspects he and his partner had followed home Saturday. A few minutes later the three detectives had the Thompson brothers in custody.

The robbery of the Western Union collector occurred in Seattle October 2, last year. The collector and paymaster had just left the main office of the company in the heart of Seattle and were accosted in a hallway at the rear of the offices, by four men. After robbing the two of the money, the bandits escaped in an auto. A short time afterward Seattle police arrested two of the bandits, Burt Jacob and Ray Henagin.

"Button, button, who's got the button?" Ponjola, multitudes of them in stripes, in blocks, in checks and in circles.

Scattered over the silk and wool crepe surface, buttons—thousands of velvet buttons—have made of Ponjola a new vogue in silks.

The artful oddity of Ponjola suggests at a glance the Personality gown in the straight, tubular silhouette or the seemingly two-piece suit-dress combination.

In the gleaming, glorifying beauty of Chim-Ring the prints take on an artful appeal that is compelling and insistent to even the most fastidious women.

In the rich softness of the Chim-Ring background the posteresque colorings lose their brilliancy and take on the mellowness, the subdued elegance and the enduring charm of rare bits of antiquity.

Keep Them Pearly

Your dentist just removes the film Now do it every day

After a dental cleaning, your teeth are pearly and clean. Why does it seem more than mere brushing?

Because your dentist removes the film—that cloudy coat which mars and ruins teeth.

There is now a way to combat that film twice daily. Millions have adopted it. The whiter teeth you see everywhere now are one of the results. Let this test show you how to always keep teeth whiter, safer, cleaner.

It is the film that discolors—not the teeth

It is film on teeth that discolors—that viscous film you feel. It resists the tooth brush. Under old-way brushing, much of it clings and stays.

Food, etc., stains it, then it forms dingy coats. That is how teeth lose their beauty.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Under old methods, very few escaped those film-caused troubles.

New discoveries

Dental science has in late years found two ways to fight that film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists the world over began to advise its use. Now careful people of some 50 nations have adopted this new method.

Two other foes

Another foe of teeth is starch deposits, because of the acids which they may form. Nature puts a starch digestant in saliva to digest those starch deposits. It makes the saliva alkaline to neutralize mouth acids.

Every use of Pepsodent multiplies that alkalinity, multiplies that starch digestant. So it gives increased power to those great tooth-protecting agents.

These combined effects mean much to you. Let this test show how much.

New beauty comes in a week

One result of Pepsodent is whiter, prettier teeth. And that result comes quickly. It brings rich rewards.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Watch the changes that occur, then judge between the new way and the old. Cut out coupon now.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

THE TREATMENT OF DANDRUFF

In yesterday's paper I told you that most cases of dandruff could be prevented by the daily cleansing of the scalp by thorough brushing, so that each day's normal accumulation of dandruff scales are removed, and the circulation in the scalp is kept good.

Today we will take up the question of the treatment of dandruff which has gone on to the stage at which we can call it a disease of the scalp. The prevention and treatment of dandruff is important not only for the esthetic reasons, but because in any disease of the scalp the hair roots are affected sooner or later, and if the condition continues, the hair falls out and baldness of varying degrees, especially in men, may result. (I shall take up baldness in another paper next week.)

There are two general forms of dandruff, the dimple or dry form (pityriasis simplex capitis,) and a more serious type, the oil form (pityriasis steatoidis.) If the simple form is not cured it may go on to the more serious or oily forms.

In both these cases of dandruff, as I told you yesterday, there are always found certain types of germs. Whether these germs (we will call them dandruff germs) are parasite germs—that is, germs which live on living matter and cause disease—or whether they are saphrophytes, or germs which live on dead or decaying tissue rather than living tissue, is not fully known.

There is considerable evidence that in the oily type of dandruff the germs are not saphrophytes but are parasites. That is, they are the direct cause of the disease.

I will not describe the simple form of dandruff, it is so well known. In the oil form, or pityriasis steatoidis, sometimes known as eczema seborrheicum, the scalp is covered with yellowish oily scales also. The whole scalp is usually affected and sometimes the disease may go over beyond the border of the hair. The scalp itches and scratching adds to the irritation. After a time the hair begins to fall. The disease may pass over into an eczema.

This oily type begins most often between the ages of 20 and 30 years, and is more frequent among the poorer classes. Anything which lowers the general health tends to aggravate the disease.

The order of the treatment for both types of dandruff is to remove the scales; then to destroy the germs; and then to bring the scalp to its normal condition. The removal of the scales is best effected by the use of a fine comb may be used but must be used gently enough not to injure the scalp.

After the removal of the scales comes the washing. The frequency of the washing will depend on the stage of the disease or the condition is severe, it may demand a daily shampoo for a time, then, later, once a week, or every two weeks will be enough.

Any mild soap may be used for the shampoo. If you have soft or distilled water, it may be used alone, or with the addition of a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar to the cup of rinsing water. This helps to remove the soap from the hair and leaves the hair has dried the soap is applied with the fingers to the scalp (not the hair,) and should be used daily for three days, then every other day for three days. This may have to be kept up for three months or more if the disease is severe. Then once a week for a month, probably be often enough. A daily care I outlined in my first paper is kept up.

Jackson believes that the most reliable form of ointment known to him is "Cream" he considers the form in which it may be had at any druggist will put this up.

For an alcoholic solution use first in the oily type of scalp (not the hair,) Jackson prescribes a 2 per cent solution of salicylic acid in alcohol. As for the dry type, to give a rusty dandruff, he uses a 2 per cent salicylic acid solution used instead of the alcohol.

COLLEGE AFFAIR MEETS SUCCESS

Women's Building Luncheon Nets Nearly $150,000

Dr. Von KleinSmid Voices Gratitude of Students

Addresses and Music Enhance Afternoon's Pleasure

BY MYRA NYE

Charming socially and brilliant from the viewpoint of achievement, the luncheon to raise funds for the women's building at the University of Southern California in the music room of the Biltmore was the outstanding event of the week in women's circles.

Dr. Albert Sherman Hoyt, Mrs. Willis R. Von KleinSmid and Mrs. Ora Everett were the executive committee who have been continuously busy for the last six weeks planning for the $200 a plate luncheon and yesterday even greater success than they had anticipated crowned their efforts. Mrs. Hoyt, chairman, reported that they had gone well over the top with their $150,000 to the credit fund. One guest had paid $35,000 for the luncheon, one $20,000, several $5000 and many $1000.

Dr. Von KleinSmid responded to Mrs. Hoyt's report with delightful words expressed for the faculty of the university but most of all for the 4000 young girls who are students there.

CLUB GIRLS PLEASED

The white sport costumes and the pennants of their Glee Club sorority of the prettiest university girls in Los Angeles came from the lovely room where the many flower centered tables were grouped women in their handsome afternoon gowns. The Glee Club singing their college songs received them, and later they sang in groups, repeated college songs. Mrs. Hoyt, too, was presented with a gigantic French basket of American Beauty roses from Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt's tribute to Dr. Von KleinSmid bought those roses at their feet with spontaneous expressions of appreciation of the many accomplishments and

A century ago old-fashioned Abigail Adams in Boston wrote in her diary, 'I wish there was some place where girls might go. I think there were books that girls could draw from the library. I know that girls might study the same subjects as boys. It will be a long time, but if by chance it should, it will be heaven then.'" Dr. Reinhardt traced through the century beginning Dr. Reinhardt's movement for girls and women in colleges until now in the United States there are 600 colleges for women.

INVITED TO USE GIFT

"And it is now indeed a heaven for girls if they will but know their gift to make it as they should," said Dr. Reinhardt.

In the very beginning of the address Josephine Luchhese, colloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was introduced by Mrs. Von KleinSmid and gave a generous program, numbers from operas and charming ballads. The Cherniavsky Trio contributed more than usually delightful selections.

Guests of honor introduced by Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt were Mrs. Willis R. Redman, who spoke on "Progress of Women to Woman;" Mrs. Lazarovitch-Hrebeliano-vitch, Mrs. Robert Garner of San Diego, Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw, Mrs. W. W. Watts of Pomona, Dr. Louise Clark of Riverside, Mrs. George Martin of Pasadena, Mrs. E. D. Shepherd and Mrs. H. H. White of Redlands, all of whom responded with a few words to the pleasure of working in the cause of young college women on the campus.

Beale, The Ebell Club, under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Cooke and Mrs. J. E. Montgomery and Mrs. Will plant trees to the memory of Lieut. Me-Lane, who raised the flag at San Juan Bautista.

Besides the planting of trees there will be the dedication of five memorial benches made of concrete and wood. They are to be placed in the central plot of the park and are given in memory of Fremont and the signers of the treaty of Cahuenga and of Fray Serra and the founders of Mission San Fernando. The Santa Monica Landmarks Club gave the first bench and will dedicate it to the memory of Lieut.-Col. John C. Fremont. The next bench will be dedicated by Adolph G. Rivera, president of Ramona Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West. It is a gift of Ramona Parlor to the memory of Maj. Pierson B. Reading, one of the signers of the treaty of Cahuenga and a personal friend of Fremont.

The Catholic Woman's Club has given two benches, one in honor of Fray Junipero Serra, founder of the missions, and the other in honor of Fray Fermin Francisco Lasuen, founder of Mission San Fernando. Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman has given the fifth bench to be placed in honor of Fray Francisco Dumetz, who assisted at the founding of Mission San Fernando.

The program for Arbor Day has been arranged as a part of the work of the California history and landmarks department of Los Angeles district, Federation of Women's Clubs, with Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes as chairman. She is assisted by Mrs. Martha Nelson McCann, the mother of Memory Garden, and by Frank Shearer, superintendent of city parks, who has given great care and attention to the selection of the trees, that they may be worthy specimens of the olive tree. The public will be welcomed.

Milk Dealers Put in Effect One-Cent Raise

A raise of one cent a quart in the price of milk and 2 cents a pint in the price of cream was put in effect yesterday by several dairy products companies supplying Los Angeles. Increases demanded by farmers for butterfat, due to the sharp rise in the price of stock feed, was given as the reason for the new price to consumers.

A number of the largest milk distributors declared yesterday that they would put in effect no immediate raise, although such action had been contemplated. It seemed the general opinion of the dairymen that the recent rains would relieve the feed situation somewhat, and continued rain would restore normal conditions and prices. In the interim, it was stated, they planned to absorb the loss themselves, or until such time as it became apparent that no reduction in the price of butterfat could be expected.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

HATS AND WOMEN

Nothing can quite so undermine my conceit as sallying forth to acquire a new hat. Just once in a while one finds a fine sensitive soul in a saleswoman who recognizes the vital and awful responsibility of saddling some wretched female with the wrong hat, but for the rest the department stores are populated with suave smiling fiends whose only consideration is selling hats.

They will jamb some preposterous millinery concoction down on my head and murmur mechanically, "Now that's real cute, dearie," the while I gaze horrified in the mirror to discover how hideously easy it is for me to look like a passe chorus lady down on her luck, and slightly inebriated.

It is quite awful what the wrong hat can do for me. I tried on a score or so yesterday, and managed successively to look like a score of different amazing and unlovely kinds of female. I found I could look like almost anything from a tired harassed but vivacious skittish school-girl to a wicked brazen haggard old siren. I could look dashingly and outrageously audacious or so pitifully meek and drab and homely that I might be a candidate for a "home for indigenous maiden gentlewomen."

But mostly those evil hats made me look just "common." The hardest thing to find is a refined hat that also has "class" and "chic."

It is rather dreadful to think how we label ourselves by our hats. Label—and libel—ourselves. Oh, I insist upon the libel. I never could be such a fatuous befeathered dangling female as one ghastly hat of mine portrayed me. Anyone who judged me by that hat could have safely assumed I was a... untidy minded, rather second-rate doo-dabby creature with positively no sense of the fitness of things. She sold it to me. I didn't buy it. And she assured me it was all the rage that year, and the very latest color, and that it was positively necessary to the dictates of "style" to have that feather dangle thing dipping over one ear. And she caught me in a weak spell, doubting my own better judgment.

I at least had the gumption to feel all wrong in that dreadful hat. But I am an economical soul, with an antiwaste complex. And so—well, never mind, we have all had vicious hats like that at some time or another, and I can still remember all mine.

Of course the ideal hat is one that looks at once refined, chic, modish, complementary and complimentary to the gown, neat, yet with a hint of dash, not too large, not too small, provocative in a perfectly ladylike way, of the most becoming colors and so designed that any charms one's face may have are enhanced and any faults mercifully shrouded. It must be equally attractive from all angles. It must convey attractive intelligence. It must be dignified but not pompous. It must be cheerful but not jazzy.

But the milliner who can design that sort of a hat is rare and precious. And when she can she knows it and charges accordingly.

All the same, you can't just pay a big price for a hat and be sure of its rectitude. I should say not. Most of my most hideous mistakes have been expensive. And one of the jolliest little hats that stands out in my memory, which I wore till it fell apart and succumbed to advanced senile decay, only cost $3.95 on sale. But I knew it was mine directly I set eyes upon it. Just once, or twice in a life-time we find the hat that was especially made for us, brilliantly designed for our particular type and style. And then, how we grapple it to our hearts!

Perhaps it is merciful that so many of us don't know. We just buy a new hat and rest smugly assured that all is well. We never guess that we are wickedly libelling ourselves, exaggerating every least lovely attribute, brutally concealing any charms that may be ours. One of the cleverest women I know wears utterly preposterous hats. She will wear a fancy hat with a tweed suit or a sport hat with an afternoon gown or a picture hat with a sport suit, thus committing a two-fold sartorial crime. Half the secret is getting the right hat for the right suit or gown. I have seen this clever woman friend of mine in a large lace draped picture hat with a shirt waist and short tweed skirt and thick shoes. Any saleswoman can sell that woman any kind of a hat—and thus insuring that it takes thrice as long to discover that she is half as intelligent as she really is.

On the other hat I know a cute little dumb-bell, whose intelligence runs exclusively to hats. If she ever makes mistakes she is cute enough never to wear them. And the consequence is it takes quite a long acquaintance with that young woman to realise what an addle-pated charmer she really is.

Yet with all this vital responsibility resting upon hats—our very character before the world sometimes—stores are chockful of vicious, libellous creations awaiting our fatuous and reckless purchase.

Ever watched a crowd go by and noted the female hats? It is quite appalling. Not one out of twenty but what is wearing a cruel, foolish, mischosen hat. And the moment the twentieth appears, trigged out in the just the right chapeau, behold everyone smile appreciatively—and every woman in sight gasp with envy. We all recognize that rare precious right hat when we see it.

I positively shudder to see window displays of gaudy hats on sale for the allurement and depreciation of my sex. Minus our hats we are usually nice intelligent normal females. Decked in those awful hats one would never suspect it half the time.

BULLOCK'S OBSERVING BIRTHDAY

Violets for Customers at Store Today as an Anniversary Token

BY OLIVE GRAY

"It's not raining rain today, it's raining violets"—at Bullock's. For this is the day and that is the way Bullock's have of letting us know that another year is added to the diadem of service to the public.

Ten thousand violets are to be distributed, today, to those visiting Bullock's. Opening its doors seventeen years ago, in a single store space at the corner of Broadway and Seventh streets, the history of Bullock's has been intertwined with that of the city's phenomenal growth and has kept pace with it. More and more space being required for the advancement of the business and for the expansion of stocks, this establishment acquired store after store in its vicinity, first its neighboring space on Broadway, then a similar space on Hill street; again on Seventh, then more space on Hill street; later the entire corner of Seventh and Hill—ever gaining latitude for the development of new ideas in merchandising, ever increasing facilities for carrying forward the work which must be foreseen, in order to keep pace with, or just ahead of Los Angeles' growth.

Allying the felicitous event of its beginning with that marked by our nation for installing our Presidents, Bullock's chooses always to commemorate its birthday throughout an entire month, beginning on March 4. With gaiety of blossoms, with harmony musical and colorful, the store sits in splendor, like a mandarin welcoming his birthday guests and like a mandarin, the store takes occasion to mark its celebration by giving, rather than by accepting gifts. There are the violets showered upon all who come; there are the new ideas, new merchandise, new ways of thinking out such service as a waiting public may want, even though its wish be not yet formulated; for service is the slogan of this store—the watchword ever upon its lips.

TWO SENTENCED AS DRUG LAW BREAKERS

Federal Judge McCormick yesterday sentenced Thomas Conrad to serve two years in the Federal prison at Atlanta on a charge of violating the Harrison narcotic law. Conrad pleaded guilty to having peddled narcotics. Federal Judge James sentenced Clarence Harris to serve fifteen months in prison for violation of the same law. Harris pleaded guilty to possessing and dealing in drugs.

STOCKHOLDERS GIVEN TIME TO REORGANIZE

Finding the stockholders of the Kittie Manufacturing Company unable to compose their differences among themselves, Judge Ira F. Thompson yesterday issued an order restraining the two opposing factions from proceeding with any business until a stockholders' meeting is called and new directors elected. Meanwhile the concern, which makes auto license plates, is in the hands of a manager appointed by the court.

CAPITALIST DIES

Word was received here yesterday of the death Sunday in San Francisco of William G. Henshaw, capitalist and president of the Riverside Portland Cement Company, Golden State Portland Cement Company and the San Diego County Water Company. Mr. Henshaw leaves a widow, two daughters, Mrs. Charles C. Keeney and Mrs. Brent Tanner, a son, Griffith Henshaw, and two brothers, Judge F. W. Henshaw and Tyler Henshaw. Funeral services will be conducted at San Francisco.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Best for Baby

A thin hair pillow is best for baby. Feather pillows make the little fellow's head perspire.

Easy Cleaning

A tiny feather pulled back and forth between the prongs of the diamond ring and under the stone will clean the ring nicely.

To Dry the Wringer

An easy way to dry the wringer after washing is to run a heavy dry bath towel through it. It will dry all parts easily and well.

A Note From Japan

The Japanese use a great deal of greens and foliage in their floral decorations. If this is done, a few flowers will go a great way and the effect is really very lovely.

Just Out of Fat

If you should find that you have not enough fat when frying croquettes, don't spoil them by cooking in insufficient fat, but put the croquettes in a greased pan and bake in a hot oven.

Gardenias, Hyacinths, Etc.

It is unwise to use heavily scented flowers for table decoration. The strong perfume in a hot room frequently spoils the appetite.

TODAY'S HINT TO HAIR BEAUTY

There are still women who fail to realize that lovely hair is largely a matter of proper shampoo. A few moments' systematic care of the hair will give you the beautiful tresses which are half a woman's charm. Proper hair care means only keeping the scalp and hair perfectly clean by use of some preparation for shampooing, not for general cleansing. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—[Advertisement.

There are steam-heated dressing rooms and warm showers and hair driers, while the water in the Plunges is heated to just the right temperature. And these Plunges are operated under the regulations of the State Board of Health. The water is constantly changing and other precautions of a technical nature insure absolute cleanliness and sanitation.

Remember, these great Indoor Plunges makes winter-time swimming time. Bring the family. It is great sport for the children. They are safe here.

BY CHEF A. L. WYMAN, M.C.A.

GUINEA FOWL

M. F. S., Los Angeles, thanks us for the many good recipes published in this department and asks for instructions for cooking guinea fowl.

To roast guinea fowl place it in a baking pan that has the bottom covered with one sliced carrot, half of a sliced onion, two chopped stalks of celery, half of a bay leaf, and three whole cloves; lay two strips of fat bacon on the breast, place in the oven and baste every ten minutes with two tablespoons of hot water and two tablespoons of melted butter for the first three times; after that baste with the liquor in the pan. A few minutes before removing from the oven take off the bacon, sprinkle the breast with dry flour and brown nicely. Place the fowl on a hot platter, remove the vegetables and skim off the grease from the gravy, add one teaspoon of flour, a seasoning of salt and pepper and stir and cook on top of the stove for ten minutes; strain into a hot sauce dish and serve with the fowl. Also serve bread sauce.

FORCEMEAT FOR STUFFING

Stuff the guinea fowl with a mixture made by boiling the livers of two guinea fowl in boiling salted water for ten minutes; drain, dry and chop them very fine; add to the livers one cup of very finely chopped lean cooked ham, half a teaspoon of finely chopped parsley, two teaspoons of finely chopped onion and a seasoning of salt, pepper and nutmeg; mix well and blend with five level tablespoons of butter.

BREAD SAUCE

Place in a saucepan three-quarters of a cup of fine bread crumbs, one cup of milk, and one small onion stuck with five whole cloves; boil for ten minutes, stirring constantly to keep from burning. Remove from the fire, lift out the onion and stir in two tablespoons of butter and two tablespoons of cream; stir until the butter is dissolved and serve very hot. Do not make this sauce too soon before serving.

PEACH CHUTNEY

A.M.C., Santa Barbara, requests that we give a recipe for peach chutney.

Peel six pounds of firm ripe peaches and remove the pits; place in a preserving kettle with three and a half cups of cider vinegar, simmer slowly until soft; add twelve ounces of finely ground white mustard seed, one package of seeded raisins finely chopped, six ounces of scraped green ginger root, five tablespoons of finely chopped garlic, one and a half cups of sugar, one and a half cups of chopped onions, and five tablespoons of finely chopped chili peppers; mix well, stir into the peaches with two cups of cider vinegar and cook fifteen minutes. Pack while hot in clean jars, seal and store in a cool dark place.

MEXICAN CHILI

S. A. S., Los Angeles, asks that we tell her how to make a genuine Mexican chili.

We think that she wants a chili sauce to use with meats; if she wants to use it with a stew she can stir the sauce into the cooked meat and stock. Remove the seeds from half a pound of dry chili peppers, cover with boiling water and simmer for fifteen minutes; drain off the water and rub the pepper through a sieve, adding enough of the water to force all of the pulp through the sieve; add a seasoning of salt, one crushed clove of garlic, and one teaspoon of powdered oregano. The Times Prize Recipe Book contains many very fine Spanish and Mexican recipes for novel and delicious dishes.

GLACE KUMQUATS

E. K., Redlands, asks for directions for preparing glace kumquats and a recipe for caramel custard.

To glace or candy the kumquats place them in boiling water and boil until tender; drain and place in a boiling syrup made with half a cup of water and one cup of sugar for fifteen minutes; drain and place in the sun for four hours; return to the boiling syrup and repeat this process four times. When dried the last time sprinkle with sugar and pack in a dry cool place.

CARAMEL CUSTARD

Place in a small saucepan four tablespoons of granulated sugar and two tablespoons of cold water; bring to a quick boil and cook until a dark golden color. Pour into dry molds and run it around the molds until the sides and bottom are thoroughly coated. Place in a double boiler three cups of milk, bring to a boil and stir in slowly three-quarters of a cup of sugar, one and a half tablespoons of cornstarch made in a paste with a little cold water and the slightly beaten yolks of two eggs; stir and cook until the mixture will coat a spoon; do not boil after adding the yolks. Remove from the fire and add one teaspoon of lemon extract. Cool slightly and fill the caramel coated molds with the mixture. Place in a cold place until set, unmold onto a cold dish and serve. The caramel will form a delicious sauce.

ALMOND KISSES

T. O. Beaumont would like to know how to make almond kisses.

Beat the whites of six eggs to a froth, add slowly, beating constantly, one cup of sifted fine granulated sugar and beat until it will hold its shape; fold in carefully half a cup of sugar, two thirds of a cup of blanched and chopped almonds and one and a half teaspoons of almond extract. Drop from a teaspoon onto dry paper-covered pans and bake in a very slow oven to a light brown. Cool, turn upside down, wet the paper, let stand a few minutes and the paper can be removed. Return to a slow oven and dry thoroughly. The egg whites should be cold and a few grains of salt added to them before beating.

MEAT LOAF

G. D. L., Long Beach, wants a recipe for meat loaf made with beef, pork, and veal.

Mix half a pound of finely chopped beef with half a pound of finely chopped lean pork, half a pound of finely chopped lean veal, two tablespoons of bread crumbs soaked in water and pressed dry, half a teaspoon of salt, one quarter of a teaspoon of black pepper, one-quarter of a teaspoon of thyme, one finely chopped clove of garlic, and one slightly beaten egg. Place the mixture in a greased bread tin, set tin in a hot oven; when the loaf is browned lightly on top reduce the heat to a moderate oven and bake forty minutes. Turn out on a hot platter and pour over a good Spanish sauce.

SPANISH SAUCE

Place in a saucepan three tablespoons of butter, melt and add to it two finely chopped onions, two chopped green peppers that have had the seeds removed, and a boquet made by tying in a bunch one stalk of celery, two sprigs of parsley, half a bay leaf, half a carrot, two whole cloves and a small blade of mace; stir over a slow fire until the onion is soft; add one can of tomatoes, bring to a boil, remove to a slow fire and simmer until the vegetables are soft; remove the boquet, add a seasoning of salt and serve.

INCORPORATION CONTINUED

Numerous protests from residents of Bell caused the Board of Supervisors yesterday to continue the matter of incorporating Maywood as a city of the fifth class for another week. The protests were on the basis that the proposed boundaries of Maywood would take in a large section of Bell.

CANNED FOODS HELPFUL, WHOLESOME AND HANDY

Famous Cook Tells How She Was Converted to Once-Scorned Things in Tin.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

It's an awful thing to be a housewife prig with a violently "fresh" complex. My own life was complicated mournfully by a priggish prejudice against canned goods in my pitifully ignorant past. With the very natural consequence that my larder was hopelessly limited and jolly, care-free American wives all around me could put it all over me when it came to rustling up a tricky, piquant, stylish and epicurean little meal in a hurry.

To my dismay, I was bound to admit, all sorts of charms for these efficient and delectable little dishes that I was smugly barring from my own menus, just because I didn't know enough to take advantage of the commodities of an industry that was surely designed exclusively for the greater serenity of housewives.

But I had to become a naturalized American before I could regard canned nourishment with proper appreciation.

We couldn't fix up those cute delectable little salads that graced the tables of my American hostesses? I soon found out. They knew the insides of those cans better than I did. So now I do just exactly what the best American housewives do—effect a thoroughly nice combination of such fresh commodities as are easily available and open a jolly little can of something to do the rest.

CANNED DELICACIES

These days I regard canned asparagus, for instance, and olives, and pimento with an affectionate eye. Given a crisp lettuce leaf or two, they spell a salad de luxe that will enhance the most modest meal into a stylish repast.

And as for canned fish, behold me grapple it to my heart. Ever tried curried tuna, for instance? No avalanche of unexpected guests can faze me now. I thought of currying tuna all myself, so it is rather a pet of mine. A milk curry, you know, made by melting some butter in a shallow pan, then stirring into the boiling water a heaping tablespoon full of flour mixed with a dessertspoonful of the best curry powder. When it is all smoothly mixed, add three-quarters of a pint of milk, salt, and cook till it is nice and smooth and creamy. Then tip a can of tuna into it long enough to get hot through, and serve on buttered toast. Very nifty, this. Just try it with a saucy salad some day when half a dozen guests blow in and wear that hungry look.

That flaked cod also has peculiar charms when served creamed in either parsley or celery sauce. A very cute entree is curried shrimp, done in the same way as the tuna. Canned oysters respond to this treatment very gracefully, too.

When the family snorts a bit about everlasting ham and eggs, there are numerous canny ways to break the ennui. Try hot sardines on toast some morning, or those jolly little kipper snacks. They go down awfully well after the porridge.

Once when I was marooned at the beach far from a succulent butcher, I had a great time discovering ways of serving canned meats. And I discovered that corned beef, done in a creamed tomato puree with an onion and some green pepper, makes food for the gods. And to think how I had once scorned canned meats.

VEGETABLES, TOO

Canned vegetabels are popular even in sunny Southern California. They have learned how to can them so cleverly now and really retain all the flavor. Canned corn, baked with a couple of beaten eggs and half a pint of milk, is highly appetizing. And mixed with those baby lima beans, behold some very superior succotash. Green beans warmed in their own liquor, with a pinch of soda, and served with mashed potatoes, can soothe the savage breast of any hungry husband and leave him smugly mild.

Oh, I am beginning to learn all the tricks. The cook can't leave me in the lurch. Not so long as our inspirational can industry flourishes.

What on earth did they do for picnics before the canned-food era?

Canned nourishment is a perfect godsend on picnics. There are just about fifty kinds of fancy sandwiches that can be culled from canned commodities and the wise housewife has a larder full of them. One doesn't have to plan and swot for days before hand—one can just have a jolly impromtu picnic any time the spirit moves if the larder is well stocked—and the car is running well.

THE GOLDEN MEAN

In fact, I have come to the place where I regard the housewife who sternly bars all canned goods from her larder as being quite as reprehensible as the dame who depends entirely on canned goods. The golden mean, sisters—thats the ideal. Fresh foods, yes, in liberal provision and whenever pleasantly possible, but for wider variety, for part of the menu, for occasional meals and oh, for quick emergencies let us offer up a pean of thanksgiving for the brilliant souls who first thought of efficient canning and the merciful preservation of delectable nourishment.

Many a housewife's tragedy can be transformed into a triumph when she has a sensible assortment of canned delicacies on her shelves. I remember one dire occasion when the pies burned. It looked like a fearful tragedy—with company expected in ten minutes and that the only dessert planned. Until my eye caught a couple of cans of peaches — you know that nice free-stone brand—just waiting for a nifty can opener and a custard that could be made in a few minutes. They saved the day, bless them—and at that the trainer of the track team would have given them his blessing in preference to the pies

Of course, it is the sauces and creams and gravies and dressings that really characterize so many of the epicurean dishes that appear under such spiritueile and fancy titles. They are the chef's real secret. Otherwise anything is just meat, fish, vegetable. So don't forget, when flying to a merciful can for refuge and safe harbor that your reputation really depends on the way you serve it. Then no man's stomach will ever rise up to scorn your offering.

Oh, yes, of course, we always are thinking of male stomachs when we prepare food.. Lives there a woman who can cook for herself? Well, that is all right. The canning industry is run by men, for men. When wifey can't the can can. Bless its dear tin-heart.

Fatty and Grubby were jubilant, for had they not been asked to act as joint hosts at a "swell feed" given by their fraternity to some visiting dignitaries!

"I'll tell you something, sons," said Mother Eatums, "I have really been pleased to see you putting your French to such practical use, and before the dinner I think you will probably have acquired sufficient knowledge of the art of menu-making to be able to converse intelligently with either the steward or the head waiter. And this brings me to my suggestion. Remember that it is only the distinctively French hotels or restaurants which print their cards entirely in French; many of the well-known hotels in New York, Boston and other large cities use only just enough French terms to describe dishes or sauces which could not be so well described in any other way. They do not dress up plain American dishes by using a strained collection of French words with which to describe them. Knowledge of this fact will help you to continue your study of menus more intelligently."

FRENCH FOR EGGS

So the boys went at their study with increased interest. They had associates among younger brothers of returned soldiers, so they proudly announced that they knew the French for "eggs."

"We might have oufs farcis for supper after the theater," said Fatty grandly.

"Well, old scout, if you ask me I'll say we'd better stick to dinner dishes till we get that feed planned; especially as we may not take these guys to the theater or have any supper; although of course, I realize that you are keen to have a dish you can spell and pronounce without being told.

Grubby paid no attention to the sofa pillow hurled at his head by way of acknowledging this sally, but went on with his study.

EASY ENOUGH

The twins stowed away the information that "salade de laitue" was merely lettuce salad and that "salade de legumes" was another name for the "vegetable salad" they were always being urged to eat.

"Souffle" appealed to them in planning their dessert and they were amused to find that its literal translation was "puffed up."

"Pois" seemed near enough like its English equivalent, "peas," to be easy of remembrance, but Fatty did protest the injustice of the French in naming good bread "pain."

"Tart aux pommes" was their choice in sweets when they learned that it was their old friend, apple pie.

TERM PERPLEXES

"Hors d'oeuvres" bothered the boys, but their mother reminded them that it was one of the terms for which there is no good English equivalent. "If we say 'relishes,'" said Mother Eatums, "we don't tell all the story. The savory appetizers used to introduce a meal just must be given their French name."

"Of course we'll have 'potage,'" said fatty, "'cause it's nothing but soup, and 'poulets sautee' sounds good to me, the fellows all like fried chicken."

When they came to calling the roast or chief dishes "removes." Grubby insisted that the French guy must have been reading "Alice in Wonderland," and that he was thinking of the introduction made to the hungry Alice, "Alice, Pudding: Pudding, Alice: Take away the pudding." "If they think we're just going to look at the roast beef and then have it carried out, they have another think coming."

CUT OFF LIST

"We mustn't have any 'rechauffes' at a dinner, 'cause warmed-over dishes are for breakfast or lunch, nor 'lait,' because milk is only for kids."

They decided on "chou-fleur" as one vegetable, for cauliflower was a general favorite.

"Pommes de terre" the boys already knew to be the poetic name for good old-fashioned potatoes. They did not, however, know that strawberries, which they were ordering as a choice of desserts, were called "fraises."

"Fraises frappe," announced Fatty. Partially frozen strayberries, eh, Mums?"

"Yes, but don't forget that the word frappe is used for dishes that are really a soft ice cream," replied Mother Eatums.

"You have not learned the words in the order of courses, boys, but perhaps you will remember them better by just learning them your own way."

HOW TO CUT FOOD EXPENSE

Mother Slimkins Tells Feedwells More About Her Economical Marketing Plan

BY WINIFRED STUART GIBBS,
Food Specialist

"Well, Sarah, how does it go?" Mother Fedwell was her own eagerly cordial self and Mother Slimkins was always glad to be a guest at the Fedwell home.

"You and Evelyn Eatums are wonders," she answered with sparkling eyes. "Naturally, we are not yet rolling in wealth as a result of your suggestions about systematizing my marketing, but the point is that I've made a beginning, and I really know where I am bound for, with a fair certainty of getting there."

PLAN DIVULGED

"Tell us all about it," came the duet. So Mother Slimkins began:

"That would take a long time, but I can tell you some of the foundation principles on which I built my marketing plan.

"I though over, first of all, what I wished to accomplish. You two good friends had impressed it on me that food was all-important, so I decided to make the food supply the center of my plan.

"Sam and I agreed that we must have a sort of household job sheet, not a fussy one and not like a formal one made out in a classroom for theoretical study, but a sheet that should state clearly just what we must do in order to keep within out income, save a little and keep the family well nourished.

"So the job sheet showed these headings:

"(1.) Make memorandum of fixed expenses, such as rent, insurance and income-tax payments, etc.

"(2.) Make memorandum of sum required to buy the necessary food for the family. This merely an estimate.

"(3.) Plan a simple form for recording actual food, purchases.

"(4.) Make a memorandum of all practical methods for buying food economically.

"In this way, you see, we knew exactly where we stood and had a fair idea as to how to proceed.

"After reading everything we could find on the subject we learned that one authority suggests a simple way of combining dietary knowledge with cost facts and advises that we divide each $10 of the food allowance like this: $2.50 for cereals and breads, $2 for milk, $2 for meat, fish and eggs, $2 for fruits and vegetables and $1.50 for fats, sugar and sundries.

ANOTHER METHOD

"Another way of expressing a general plan is: Spend one-fourth of your food money for bread and cereals; buy at least a pint of milk a day for each member of the family; allow as much for fruits and vegetables together as you do for milk; spend for meat and eggs not more than what you lay out for milk.

"We experimented with these plans and have finally worked out our own and are happy in the thought that it was made with our own requirements as a basis, so the family is in no danger of being undernourished.

UNCERTAIN AT FIRST

"I was uncertain at first about the value of the food-expense record. Sam has trained me not to worry over details and I was not sure that the time spent in recording our food purchases was worth while.

"I soon found, however, that it was, for I arranged the blank form so that I could see at a glance whether we were eating the right proportions of each of the chief food groups and govern myself accordingly.

"As to the ways of buying economically, I have formed the habit of studying local market reports so that I may take advantage of conditions and buy cabbage when cabbage is reasonable and postpone eggplant when eggplant is high in price. I have stopped slaving over making bread, for high-class baker'r bread is today a real economy. I have learned how to stock up on good grades of canned vegetables so that I am able to make a judicious combination of fresh and canned food, and oh, this is only the beginning! Come to tea next Monday and I'll try to tell you some more."

Store is Robbed of Hundreds of Pairs of Shoes

Entering the Elias-Katz Shoe Shop at 134 North Los Angeles street, early yesterday morning by climbing to a second-story window in the rear on a purloined ladder, thieves obtained 307 pairs of ladies' shoes, according to a report to Central Police Station by the manager of the store, H. Plaggenberg.

The shoes were carried away in gunnysacks, according to Detectives Wilson and Lansing. One sack full was found just inside the window, indicating that the burglars were frightened away before they finished their work.

DEL MONTE Apricots

Of all California's most tempting fruit products! DEL MONTE Apricots are ripened at the moment of perfection, and retain all their rich, natural delicacy and flavor. Naturally a tart fruit, they are packed with the rich syrup in which they are canned and produce a dessert especially pleasing to hostess hearts. Delightful, too, in fruit cups, salads, etc.

DEL MONTE Berries

DEL MONTE Berries come from the rich-flavored valleys of the Pacific Slope—morning-fresh and perfect—they are gathered at the hill and packed at once. Whether you choose blackberries, loganberries, raspberries or strawberries you will find that the very flavor in which they are packed blends with their rich juices—and preserves all their natural delicacy.

DEL MONTE Cherries

Have you ever served DEL MONTE Cherries? There are two varieties—tempting Royal Anne and lusty Tartarians. Both are packed with their pits—for the distinctive flavor which this gives—and they are canned in a syrup which enhances all the natural delicacy. They are delicious as a dessert and delightful in salads.

DEL MONTE Peaches

(Yellow)

Among the most popular of all canned fruits! DEL MONTE Peaches have that luscious—yet rich, but never gained only in the tree-ripened products used at the moment of perfection. Two varieties are available—the DEL MONTE Yellow Cling and the Yellow Free-stone, each differing in flavor, but each having distinctive appeal.

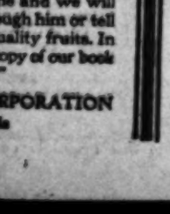
DEL MONTE Peaches

(Sliced)

DEL MONTE Sliced Peaches are the Yellow Cling Peaches packed in halves—and the same wholesome fruit they are especially prepared for handy use, to serve in the many ways the hostess would, naturally, love its fruit. Serve them for dessert with cream—or try them in pies, peach pie, peach shortcake, or peach betty.

DEL MONTE Pears

Rich, melt-in-the-mouth, delicious DEL MONTE Bartlett Pears grown in California's finest orchards and packed in just the right syrup to preserve their delicate, mild flavor. They are beautiful to the eye, appetizing to all taste. No dessert is more delicious than DEL MONTE Pears.



DEL MONTE Pineapple

DEL MONTE Pineapple—golden, juicy, tempting—has all the delicious flavor of the finest vine-ripened fruit. For convenience, it is packed ready-sliced, for service as fresh fruit—and grouped in a delicious and fitting manner for the hostess, ready for instant serving in hundreds of delightful desserts, salads, pies, puddings, frozen delicacies, etc.

DEL MONTE Plums

From the world-famed orchards, DEL MONTE brings you the finest of Pacific Coast plums. Egg and Damson Blue have a flavor distinctly their own—all are delicious. Do not judge green, purple plums, and the varieties that the fruit is particularly suitable as a fruit for breakfast or dessert at any time.

DEL MONTE Fruits for Salad

DEL MONTE Fruits for Salad are the result of buying the choicest of the crop of several fruits and packing together in delicious syrup you would use for that use. This is the only effort a real fruit salad and thereby to make delightful fruit salads from salad or fruit cup enough to fairly melt with delicious whipped cream.

DEL MONTE Dri-Pak Prunes

The finest plums of your choice, both varieties packed dry without the special vacuum process that keeps every bit of their delicious flavor and goodness. They may be served, cooked, in half the usual time and in a natural, sugar confection for delicious dates like dates from the oak.

Special Note

Every leading grocer features DEL MONTE products. A few, perhaps, are still unable to meet the great current of public favor. If, by any chance, your regular grocer is of those, send us his name and we will arrange to supply you through him or tell you where you may buy these quality fruits. In either case we will send you a free copy of our book "Secrets of Flavor."

WIFE DIVORCES ANIMAL TRAINER

Says Harry Seely Tried to be Good But Failed

Charges He Offered to Buy Home for Woman

Petting Parties Also Figure in List of Allegations

Testifying that her husband "tried to be good, but that it just wasn't in him," Mrs. Jessie Hazel Seely, a milliner, yesterday won a divorce in Judge Fleming's court from Herry Stephen Seely, an animal trainer.

Unusual charges and countercharges involving the domestic difficulties of the Seelys were made in a complaint brought by the wife and a cross-complaint instituted by the husband.

Mrs. Seely accused her mate of associating with other women, especially naming "Mlle. Sophia," whose real name, according to her complaint, is Bernadette Wrobleski, and Mrs. H. S. Tyler, 154 Oxford Lane, Palms.

The wife asserted that Seely realized an income of $1000 a month from his animals, which, she said, were rented out to motion-picture companies at a goodly rate of compensation.

BREAK COMES

Seely was alleged to have offered to buy "Mlle. Sophia" a piece of property near Culver City, on which, the complaint recited, he proposed to build a home where the mademoiselle could reside until such time as he was able to secure a divorce.

The trainer was declared to have been "deeply in love" with mademoiselle for a period of more than six weeks, Mrs. Seely stating that when she learned of the alleged affair she separated from her husband.

Later, she said, she resumed living with Seely on his asserted pleading to give him another chance to make good as a husband. However, the plaintiff continued, Seely almost immediately began running with other women.

Seely was asserted to have spent much of his time alone with Mrs. Tyler in her house at Palms, the complaint stating that on a number of these alleged occasions the lights were turned off.

The couple also went on automobile "petting parties," and were otherwise indiscreet in their relationship, according to the complaint, which added that Mrs. Tyler's husband was in the East.

In an answer to the suit, Mrs. Tyler entered a general denial of the charges, declaring that her relations with Seely were confined strictly to a business basis.

Seely replied that he had sold Mrs. Tyler some dogs, and that he was occasioned to call on her, as one of the animals became sick and needed his attention. He also denied any wrongdoing with either Mrs. Tyler or "Mademoiselle Sophia," and brought a cross-complaint in which he accused his wife of refusing to cook or keep house for him. He was not in court yesterday to support his allegations.

FINE UNDER FOOD ACT

Lillian Gold, Sadie Pincus and Fannie Davis, charged with violating the pure food and drug act, pleaded guilty yesterday before Federal Judge James and were each fined $100. The defendants, former proprietors of the Sanitary Nut Shelling Company, admitted having shipped nut meats containing filth. They were not able to inspect carefully all the nuts shipped by the firm, they said.

BONDS CUT DUE TO JAIL CONDITIONS

Judge Gives Chance to Suspect to Evade Rigors of County Bastile

Heeding a plea that conditions in the County Jail make it highly desirable to remain out of that institution, Federal Judge Bledsoe yesterday granted a request that the bond of Albert Cuthbert, charged with using mails in a scheme to defraud, be reduced from $5000 to $3000. Counsel for Cuthbert said the defendant had been in jail for some time and that it was likely he could provide bond in the smaller sum.

Counsel for the government objected to a smaller bond because of the character of Cuthbert's asserted offense. It was explained that Cuthbert was indicted on information that he had used a mailing list obtained from published mortuary records in collecting money from widows for Bibles supposed to have been purchased by their husbands. The indictment charges that Cuthbert operated in the name of the Browning Bible House, 213 South Broadway, and thus collected $3.75 from each of several women on cheap editions of the Bible mailed c.o.d. to the women.

Judge Bledsoe also granted a request from J. L. Finley, C. R. Wheeler and J. R. Abernathy that they be transferred from the County Jail to the Orange County Jail at Santa Ana. They explained that they made the request because of the insanitary and crowded conditions in the jail here. The three men will be tried April 22 on a charge of robbing the postoffice at Anaheim.

VITAL TROLLEY DECISION NEAR

Number of Passengers to be Carried Involved

Woman Injured in Crowded Street Car Sues

Court Hints Damages Will be Awarded Victim

The question of whether a street-car company can be held liable for damages by permitting more passengers to enter a car that can be accommodated with seats was put before Superior Judge Fleming yesterday for a ruling in connection with a suit brought against the Los Angeles Street Railway Company by Mrs. Julia H. J. Henderson.

Court attaches and attorneys regarded the case as highly important, it being stated that if the court found for the plaintiff it would either be necessary for the traction company to reorganize its entire system or for the State Legislature to repeal statutes passed in 1872 controlling the carrying of passengers by a public conveyance corporation.

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED

In her complaint Mrs. Henderson charged that she suffered serious injuries, June 9, 1923, when a car in which she was a passenger, lurched suddenly, hurling her against the rear wall of the vehicle. She asserted the street car company was negligent in permitting the carrier to become overcrowded and with not properly providing passengers with seats. She stated she was compelled to stand on the rear platform and that the street-car company was negligent in not better protecting her as a passenger. She asked $10,150. In an answer to the suit the railway company asserted that if the plaintiff became a passenger when the car was overcrowded she did so voluntarily and, therefore, assumed the risk of injury with her own knowledge. Probable injury was to be anticipated, the defendant contended, at the time the plaintiff boarded the car.

MUST PROVIDE SEATS

The two sections of the Civil Code of California affecting the control of street-car traffic, and the status of which is involved in the suit, are set forth as follows:

"A common carrier of persons must provide every passenger with a seat. He must not overload his carrier by receiving or carrying more passengers than its rated capacity allows.

"A common carrier of persons must provide a sufficient number of vehicles to accommodate all passengers who can be reasonably expected to require carriage at any one time."

After hearing the evidence in the case the court informed attorneys for both sides that he was inclined to find for the plaintiffs, but members of counsel for the railway corporation asked that the case be continued to give them time to prepare arguments on the question at issue. In accordance with this request, Judge Fleming set the case over to the 25th inst.

JUDGE SEEKS ADVICE

Judge Fleming pointed out that while the plaintiff probably had assumed risk on entering the carrier, the street-car company might have added to this risk without her consent by taking on additional passengers.

Judge Fleming, who said he regarded the case as the most important one ever tried in his court, stated that he was contemplating calling in several attorneys as "friends of the court" to review and give their personal opinions on the points at issue.

SUSPECT IN BLACKMAIL GOING EAST

Hearing Waived Before Commissioner; Removal to Ohio Ordered

Ross G. Sheridan, alias "Blackie" Madison, apprehended by agents of the Department of Justice for alleged implication in a huge blackmail plot at Cincinnati, will leave Los Angeles today for the Ohio city in the custody of Deputy United States Marshal Lessner. Sheridan, arrested in Los Angeles last Saturday, waived hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Long, who ordered him removed to stand trial in the Federal court at Cincinnati where three others, alleged to have been associated with Sheridan in a blackmail scheme, have recently been convicted. Federal agents are searching in Los Angeles and near-by cities for a fifth man indicted with Sheridan.

The blackmail scheme as reported from Cincinnati is said to have been used in the extortion of $10,000 from John L. Bushnell, president of the First National Bank of Springfield, O. Sheridan, it is said, was the leader of the blackmailing gang. It is said he would represent himself as a government officer and as such threatened Bushnell and other wealthy men with prosecution under the Mann White Slave Act if money were not paid as the price of silence. Sheridan and his associates were aided, government agents say, by Rose Putnam, 2575 Beachwood Drive, Hollywood, one of the three convicted as co-defendants with Sheridan.

Don Osborne and Herbert L. Ross are said to be the other two now serving prison terms on the charge. Federal officers have been trailing Sheridan and another defendant for nearly a year. Lucien Wheeler, agent in charge of the Los Angeles office of the bureau of investigation, and Agent O. E. Meehan secured his arrest. They have not disclosed where Sheridan was found when arrested.

Ingram Decides to Quit Screen for Art Career

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, March 3.—Rex Ingram, American moving-picture director, who produced "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and other screen classics, said today that he had definitely decided to quit the cinema forever in order to devote the rest of his life to sculpture.

"After I left Yale I went to Chicago where I studied sculpturing for three years under Leo Lawrie," Mr. Ingram said. "I then realized that if Lawrie, one of the best sculptors in America, found it difficult to make a living, I surely would starve to death sculpturing. So I entered the movies hoping to make enough to assure a comfortable living when I returned to sculpture. That time has arrived and now I am going to live in Tunis where I have bought an old Arab house."

Mr. Ingram said that "The Birth of a Nation," "Nanook of the North" and "Dr. Caligari" were the three greatest films ever made and he never expected to direct an equally good picture. Mr. Ingram is leaving for America Wednesday on the Aquitania.

Students of Oatman School Offer Recital

Maude Fenlon Bollman, head of the voice department of the Marta Oatman School of the Theater, presented private and drama pupils in a recital at the school last Friday evening.

McFayden's "Cradle Song" and "A Singing Bird," by Salter, were interpreted by Hilda Block. She possesses a sweet voice of soft quality. "Then Children of Men," by Russell, was sung by Miss Edith Lingerfelt, with 'cello obbligato by Carlyle Walker.

Eleanor Bartel Coleman, whose contralto voice displayed a rich quality, especially in the lower register, sang effectively "The Eagle," by Seneca Pierce and "Eros," by Kursteiner. Ware's "Boat Song" was sung by Ella Urrea.

Among others who participated in the program were Lucile Bowley and Lauraine Cornelia Smith.

Miss Mildred Lingerfelt offered a group of numbers, and Miss Reba Greenley sang Stevenson's "Salutation of the Dawn," accompanied by Carlyle Walker on the 'cello and Ivy Mae Travis on the piano. Miss Travis accompanied for the entire program.

The drama class presented an arrangement from Dvorak's "New World Symphony," entitled "Goin' Home," and also sang the "Morning Hymn," by Henschel. In this latter selection certain climactic effects were lost through a rather careless rendition. Two duet numbers, "The Angel" (Rubenstein) and "In Springtime" (Sanderson) were rendered by the Misses Linderfelt.

CHANGE NAME

Fine Arts to be Known as Grand-Avenue Theater Henceforth

The Fine Arts Theater, located on the ground floor of the Walker Auditorium Building, on Grand avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets, will hereafter be known as the Grand-avenue Theater and will be under the personal direction of Arthur Freed, successful composer and song writer. For the first attraction at this playhouse, opening next Monday evening, Mr. Freed has secured Wilson Collison's latest stage creation, "A Naughty Nice Girl," which will be offered for the first time on any stage.

Collison has many stage successes to his credit. Among those with New York records are "The Girl in the Limousine," "Up in Mabel's Room," "Desert Sands" and "The Vagabond." "A Naughty Nice Girl" is a story of the modern girl and her penchant for freedom of expression.

Mr. Collison has secured for his leading lady Miss Anzonetta Lloyd, well-known Broadway actress, who recently closed at the Apollo Theater, New York, in the Mexican romance, "The Vagabond."

Other prominent members of the cast are William Burress, well known locally for his splendid work in "The Adding Machine;" Marjorie Bennett, Hugh Huntley, well-known stage and screen star; Ruth Hill, formerly of the original "Abie's Irish Rose" company; Doris Kemper, formerly with the Frawley stock company in the Orient; Taylor Graves, Leo Curley and Frank X. O'Leary.

GOLDWYN RECEIVES HOLLYWOOD WELCOME

Samuel Goldwyn received official welcome to Hollywood yesterday when a committee of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce called upon him at the United Studios to extend the greetings of the community and to offer every cooperation in the picturization of his future productions.

The committee which called upon Mr. Goldwyn, consisting of Carl Bush, executive secretary, and H. Barratt, assistant secretary, expressed itself as keenly appreciative of the producer's recent indorsement in the press throughout the country, of Hollywood's natural cinema facilities.

Following the conference with Mr. Goldwyn, the committee viewed the production of scenes for "Cytherea," under the direction of George Fitzmaurice and in which appeared Lewis Stone, Alma Rubens, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Norman Kerry and other popular players.

"ROSITA" SHOWS AT TALLY'S THIS WEEK

The famous Mary Pickford curls of golden hue are coiffed high in Spanish style of the nineteenth century in "Rosita," now showing at Tally's.

Unfolded in swift-moving scenes, with glimpses of carnivals and palatial glories blending into dramatic intensity, "Rosita" abounds with human frailty, suspense and spectacular appeal.

The production was directed by Ernest Lubitsch. In the cast are Holbrook Blinn, Irene Rich, George Walsh and many others of note.

Her Best Character Study

Gloria Swanson

Has outdone majority of her previous portrayals in "The Humming Bird," which is now in its third week at Grauman's Million Dollar.

New Offerings at Hillstreet Diversified

A diversified program of good vaudeville with an entertaining picture, "Refuge," featuring Katherine MacDonald, is at the Hillstreet this week.

The headliner is Raymond Fagan and his Symphonic Dance Orchestra. It's not so much symphonic as it is novelty and trick, which more people like, anyway. They do all of the new ones and some of the old ones, and add a clever pair of shimmiers to a couple of their numbers. Fagan tickles the ivories psuflistically, and finds all the lost chords. There is the regular line of contrapuntal syncopation, frills and all.

So far as human interest goes on this bill—only it is canine interest—Rin-Tin-Tin, the police dog of the screen, who appears in a short reel and later in "person," is the headliner. This is the act that nearly every man will like best, and most of the women. Lee Duncan, the dog's owner, appears with him, and gives a good line about how to make a dog act natural before the camera.

The Arnaut Brothers have an act that has its own variety of originality; its a scream from beginning to finish—especially when the birdies begin to sing. The O'Conner sisters get a big hand for harmony singing. One really thinks from the depth of her voice that one of the sisters is a brother.

Billy McDerment with the crimson proboscis pokes around with about two gallons of dry humor. Kane and Herman in "The Midnight Song" come out with a line of jokes and other talk intended to be humorous; the funny part about it is that most of it really is.

Katharine MacDonald in a costume picture is entirely bewitching; in fact, so much so that the play drags between poses more or less. It succeeds in being entertaining, and there are some decidedly excellent scenes. There is nothing greatly original about the plot.

Eddie Polo in "Cap'n Kidd," Aesop's Fables and a news reel complete the picture part of the program.

HORTENSE PROMINENT ALTHOUGH ONLY PROP

"Hortense" is a prominent figure in motion-picture circles.

Her most recent bid for cinema honors was made in Gloria Swanson's production, "The Humming Bird," which is now showing at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater. However, this is not the only photoplay wherein "Hortense" has won screen glory for in her sixteen years of life she has traveled 25,000 miles through the streets of New York and Paris as the center of many scenes of joy and revelry.

"Hortense" is not an actress; she is a decrepit taxicab of such ancient vintage that her unique lines form an important part of many plays and pictures as atmosphere.

Gloria Swanson uses "Hortense" in "The Humming Bird" when, as the little Apache, she rescues the American she loves from gangsters.

COMEDY VAMPIRE IS MAH JONGG EXPERT

Madeleine Hurlock, vamp of Mack Sennett's comedy, "One Spooky Night," the added feature to "Under the Red Robe," at Grauman's Rialto, has fallen a victim to mah jongg. Madeleine has solved the problem of the tedious waits "between scenes," by teaching her co-players the mysteries of the game. The stages at the Sennett studio resound with the shouts of Pang Chow! Mah Jongg!

IN ELEVENTH WEEK

The Mission Play has entered the eleventh week of its thirteenth year at San Gabriel with 2263 performances to its credit—a world's record unapproached by any other production. R. D. MacLean this year appearing in the McGroarty drama as the leading character, Fray Junipero Serra, is receiving enthusiastic ovations at each performance from capacity-house audiences.

DRAMA LEAGUE MEETS

A meeting of the Drama League will be held in the Egan Ballroom Thursday evening, at which time two one-act plays, "Fancy Free," by Stanley Houghton and "Rain," by Dana Burnett, will be given under the direction of Aurania Roubeyrol of the Marta Oatman School of the Theater. Between the two plays Florin H. Jones will speak on "Creative Imagination."

Midgets Keep Crowds Happy at Pantages

A regular children's show is running full blast at Pantages this week, with almost every type of amusement for the young, including foolish clown antics and midget entertainment. It seems that every act is pure and simple, yet comprised of wholesome food for fun. Heading the bill are Irving's Imperial Midgets, an aggregation of more than twenty-five little men and women.

These little folks are about the best that can be found and offer a varied program of singing, dancing, circus and acrobatic performances. At the afternoon show yesterday all the kiddies were there with full representation of parents and approval for the entertainers. Of course, the midgets have a program that is interesting to grown-ups who are not afraid to laugh.

The Alexander Melford organization provides a few minute's fun with their tumbling, stumbling and comedy. This act proves to be a riot for the children. Britt Wood is billed as the "boob and his harmonica," but it later develops that he is not so much of a boob after all, because he brings more applause than the whole show combined. His joking and clever dancing, intermingled with the mouth organ, are really good.

Marie Sabbott and George Brooks have a little skit that is rather slow and dry in spots, but with an arrangement of dancing and singing the act goes over as well as the average. "Shopping," a satire on woman's favorite pastime, is well presented by Howard Langford and Ina Frederick. The scene of action is in a ladies' shop where flimsy goods and hosiery predominate.

"Stormy Seas," featuring J. P. McGowan and Helen Holmes, fills the program as the screen attraction. This picture fairly surges with thrilling boat escapades and fires at sea.

BUSINESS AND ART MIX WELL FOR HER

The man who said art couldn't be mixed with business didn't know Phyllis Haver who plays the feminine lead opposite William S. Hart in "Singer Jim McKee," at Grauman's Metropolitan this week.

The former Mack Sennett bathing beauty, who has now followed the example of other actresses and graduated into dramatic work, has successfully demonstrated her astuteness as a business woman the past several years by her transactions in Hollywood real estate.

Now, simultaneously with her biggest screen achievement, she has consummated her most pretentious financial transaction and recently become the owner of one of the principal bungalow courts in the center of Hollywood.

THREE PLAYERS IN PERSON AT LOEW'S

Three stars who appear in the cast of Colleen Moore's latest picture, "Painted People," at Loew's State Theater will appear in person this evening. Prime interest will undoubtedly center upon the first appearance in Los Angeles of Mary Carr, the famous mother of 'Over the Hill." This is Mrs. Carr's initial personal appearance in the West.

Another member of the cast, one of the most popular character actors, is Russell Simpson, who has promised to give one of his favorite recitations.

Completing the trio will be Charlotte Merriam. Miss Merriam is one of the most popular of film ingenues and in "Painted People" more than lives up to the promises made for her.

KING INTRODUCES NEW DIRECTORIAL METHOD

Motion-picture directors, players and writers of screen dramas are going to the Mission Theater time after time to study the new form of dramatic construction which Director Henry King has introduced into his production of "The White Sister," starring Lillian Gish.

King has introduced the direct-action scenario in which the players are never shown in posing attitudes, but are always depicted working dramatically toward the climax of the story. Unless the players are doing something in each scene in which they appeared they were eliminated in the cutting room when the picture was edited.

Mt. Vesuvius, Florence, Milan and other famous Italian locations are shown in "The White Sister."

ORPHEUM BILL IS GOOD ALL AROUND

BY KENNETH TAYLOR

Female impersonators come and go, and you don't care much whether you see most of them again or not. Right up near the top of the list, however, is one Karyl Norman, who has always been considered pretty good, and who seems to be getting better with each successive visit. At least, "The Tuneful Song Shop," in which he is appearing at the head of the current Orpheum bill, is just about the best act he has ever presented here. It is bright, moves along snappily, and leaves you begging for more.

Norman's slim figure, soprano voice, small hands and feet, and graceful back are very deceptive. Even knowing he is a man (and he makes sure that you do) it is sometimes hard to believe it. Helping him along are two young men with pianos, who kid the ivories into performing all kinds of interesting tricks. They are Keno Clark and Bobbie Simonds, to whom life seems to be one grand old song.

The rest of the bill, with the exception of the opening and closing acts, is purely comedy of various degrees. Laughing at Ed and Tom Hickey, for instance, is the easiest thing in the world to do. Their gags and jokes, a few (but only a few) of which are rather old, are presented speedily and in a new guise. Most of them are sure-fire. They bill themselves "two elegant gentlemen," so you know in advance what to expect.

Of the Truly Shattuck and Emma O'Neil team, 'tis hard to pick the best. They sing and gag along with the best of them, staging a woman-to-woman quarrel that is good for a laugh any day. Theirs is something different in the so-called sister acts.

McIntyre and Heath hold over for their second week, offering this time "The Man From Montana." This is an old sketch of theirs with a number of new laughs injected, and goes over very well. Sylvia Clark, who follows them, is the only other holdover on the bill. She, too, sings and kids, giving a highly humorous burlesque Russian song and dance number as her final offering.

Comedy of a slightly lower type is offered by Bert Lahr and Mercedes in "What's the Idea." The act is designed to appeal to the masses, but the classes can find plenty of things to be amused at.

Offering some gymnastic feats that are almost as sensational as the program says they are, the three Melvin brothers, Herman, Paul and Charles, open the bill. And presenting novel bits of versatility that are just as unusual as you are led to believe they are, are the five Avalons on the closing spot, who perform in mid-air. An eccentric dance on a tight wire is one of the features of the act.

Musical Play Cast on Tour Still Intact

Not once since Eddie Dowling's Casino Theater musical comedy, "Sally, Irene and Mary," left New York late last summer to tour the important cities of the country, has there been a change made in the cast, and when it is presented by the Messrs. Shubert in this city local theatergoers will see the same principals and same bewitching chorus that were cast for the play when it started off on the road to popularity last season.

There are few persons who have seen "Sally, Irene and Mary" who do not agree that it is one of the jolliest and most tuneful musical comedies ever seen. It is in two acts, with nearly a score of scenes and more than that number of rollicking melodies.

Jimmy Dugan, the Irish plumber lad, who is in love with Mary, is one of the most likable characters ever written into a musical comedy plot, and it fell to the lot of Eddie Dowling, who wrote the play, to make this character famous during its run in New York, and later in Boston and Philadelphia.

"VIRGINIAN" BACK FOR NEW SHOWING

"The Virginian," Owen Wister's American romance, has reached the screen and is showing this week at the Alhambra Theater. Tom Forman directed, with a cast including Kenneth Harlan in the title role, Florence Vidor, Russell Simpson, Raymond Hatton, Pat O'Malley and others of note.

Against the most magnificent background ever seen in a cinema production the drama is enacted, startling with thrills, working to one of the mightiest climaxes ever screened.

DRIVER IS KNOCKED SENSELESS BY BANDIT

Erwin Marder, a truck driver of 1660 East Fortieth street, was knocked unconscious by two bandits last night on the highway near El Segundo because he had nothing of value they could take. The bandits escaped in their automobile. Marder, when he regained consciousness, reported to the University police. He said one bandit threatened him with a jack knife before the other hit him over the eye with a pistol.

SERIOUS DRAMA IS WELL APPRECIATED

That citizens of the United States actually appreciate serious drama far more than they do comedy is vouched for by Otto Matiesen, Danish character actor. Matiesen declares that his very dramatic role in "Scaramouche," now playing at the Criterion Theater, has won for him double as many fan letters as other previous roles, many of which have been light comedy.

SHORT CIRCUIT BLAZE

A short circuit which sent an electrical flame leaping twenty feet into the air from the top of a telephone pole on Fourth street between Hill and Olive shortly after 7 o'clock last night, called out four fire companies, two salvage crews, one squad wagon, the Fire Chief and two battalion chiefs. The single spectacular tongue of fire constituted the major portion of the conflagration. Practically no damage was sustained.

BETTER PUBLIC SERVICE IS AIM OF ELECTRICAL HOME

Manufacturing, jobbing and retail electrical interests of Los Angeles have led the world in demonstrating more efficient use of electricity in the average home, according to Frank N. Smith, field representative of the California Electrical Co-operative campaign, who is directing the exhibition of the Hollywood electrical home at 2245 Cahuenga avenue, now being visited by thousands of people daily.

The present is the third such home to be shown by the local electrical industry during the last five years. The first, known as the "model electrical home," exhibited in 1919, was visited by 35,000 people and attracted the attention of the electrical industry throughout the United States, resulting in general adoption of the "Los Angeles idea" for demonstrating electricity as an aid to every-day home comfort and convenience. Two years later the "adobe electrical home" on Larchmont avenue drew an attendance of 67,000 and marked another notable advance. The present home, Mr. Smith says, far surpasses anything of the kind heretofore presented in any city.

EXPERTS ARE VISITORS

While the Hollywood electrical home is under the auspices of the California Electrical Co-operative Campaign, a State-wide organization of electrical interests, it is being presented by the 900 members of the Los Angeles Electric Club and the more than 100 members of the Los Angeles Electrical Contractors' and Dealers' Association, whose committees are daily at the service of visitors to the building. Here are demonstrated the best methods in home lighting, as well as more than fifty separate and distinct uses to which electric current may be applied.

"The slogan of our organization, which has supervised the construction and exhibition of sixteen electrical homes in California cities," Mr. Smith said, "is 'better service to the public.' We aim to teach the importance of proper planning and installation of wiring when the home is constructed. Therein lies the secret of real electrical efficiency and economy in the home.

COST ESTIMATES

"Trustworthy statistics show that a good electrical construction 'job' in the average home, by which we mean the last word in safe, convenient wiring and outlets, may be done for 5 per cent of the total cost of the house and that a complete installation of equally safe and convenient fixtures may be had for another 5 per cent.

"We are demonstrating in this home a number of innovations in domestic electrical servants in bathrooms, dressing-rooms and in the workshop of the home, the kitchen and laundry. We are showing devices which cut in half the time required to prepare a meal or clean a house or do a washing under nonelectrical methods. We are showing a bed-side installation by which sick-room conveniences are available at the pressure of a button, as well as a 'master-switch' by which every light in the house and grounds may be turned on, together with a police signal light, by pressing a single button. We are demonstrating how proper lighting will not only banish eyestrain but add vastly to home beauty. Our principal effort, however, is to show that all these things are made really helpful only when the primary construction, the wiring and conduits in the walls and the outlets in floors, ceilings and floor-boards are properly installed. To install them after the house is built is costly if not prohibitive. To place them when the building is being planned need not add a cent to the construction cost.

"When people, and women in particular, understand the importance of proper wiring and convenient outlets then will electricity begin to take its place as the substitute for the vanishing 'servant girl.' This is the lesson we are striving to teach and with no small measure of success, as is evidenced by the constantly increasing care being given to electrical features of modern home building. I believe that Los Angeles homes, both large and small, are better equipped for efficient and economical use of electricity than the homes of any other city in the world. This is due, in no small measure, to the effort of the local electrical organizations to provide 'better service to the public.'"

The Hollywood electrical home will be open to the public from 2 to 10 p.m. daily until March 16. There is nothing for sale and no admission charge is made. The organizations in charge expect a minimum attendance of 100,000 during the period and attendance during the first five days indicates that the minimum expectation will be largely exceeded.

The building is an interesting example of the Mediterranean type of architecture. The entrance is by an impressive horseshoe stairway, flanked by a basement garage.

What Are Convenience Outlets?

They are electrical connections so located that the use of electrical devices is made CONVENIENT. Some are near the floor—others are waist high, depending on their use. Some are double so that two devices may be connected at the same time.

CONVENIENCE OUTLETS IN EVERY ROOM

You do not disconnect your bathtub every time you use the wash bowl. Do you disconnect your reading lamp when you use your cleaner? And do you re-arrange your screen porch every wash day? It was to stop such unnecessary stooping, stretching and moving that the CONVENIENCE OUTLET was designed.

The cost of installation is small when properly designed. Any electrical contractor-dealer is prepared to give expert advice.

SOLDIER PATROL ASKED FOR TREES

National Forester Gets Plea of Local Groups

Governor Urged to Order Highway Clearing

Rules on National Reserves Will be Tightened

It is typical for not fewer than [illegible] United States soldiers to patrol the national forests of Southern California and assist the Forest Service in its fight against the unprecedented fire menace [illegible] by representatives of [illegible] of Los Angeles groups interested in water and forest conservation and flood control.

Resolutions calling for military [illegible] were adopted at a meeting assembled to confer with State Forester H. S. Pratt. Similar action [illegible] by the board of [illegible] of the Chamber of Commerce several days ago, [illegible] during the discussion [illegible] reserve.

State Forester Pratt was sent to Los Angeles by Gov. Richardson to investigate the fire hazard in southern part of the State caused by the drought, as a result of a report made to him by the Chamber. The State Forester was accompanied by R. S. Deering, San Francisco, assistant Federal forest forester for the California district.

MOOP RESERVE ASKED

While the principal need for [illegible] is the opinion of the conference is for patrol duty to assist the forest service in enforcement of regulations and in warning campers and others in the nature of forests as to proper precautions, it was suggested that the [illegible] warrants stationing a [illegible] of troops at some central [illegible] from which fire-fighting [illegible] might be dispatched rapidly [illegible] small blazes from spreading into disastrous fires.

The appeal for military aid was [illegible] in a resolution offered by [illegible] Titcomb, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee [illegible] agriculture, recommending to the United States District Forester [illegible] Pratt that he immediately call upon Washington for assistance of "not fewer than 500 soldier troops" to assist his forces in the district.

Expressions of concern over conditions in the national forests resulting from the long drought was expressed by several speakers, who declared forces available to the forest supervisors inadequate to the task of patrolling the territory.

The conference also recommended that Gov. Richardson order the State Highway Commission to clear the brush from along the roads passing through hill and fruit-grown districts.

Assistant Forester Deering said that although it would not be [illegible] to attempt to close the forests to campers, the [illegible] possible under the regulations would be enforced during [illegible] period of extraordinary fire [illegible].

A resolution was adopted in[illegible] a bill to be introduced at the next session of the Legislature requiring every vehicle to carry a receptacle for matches and cigar [illegible] stubs and making it a misdemeanor to throw any burning [illegible] from a vehicle on a public road.

THE PROPOSAL BACKED

The proposal by Senator A. Burlingame [illegible] was explained a proposal for an amendment to the State Constitution exempting from taxation [illegible] lands in process of reforestation, support of the measure was voiced by the conference.

Among those who took part in the discussion yesterday were H. [illegible], president of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau; [illegible] Barnes, president of the California Reforestation Association; Dr. George P. Clements, [illegible] of the Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee; M. [illegible] of Lake Arrowhead; R. [illegible], supervisor of the San Bernardino Forest; R. B. Peters, [illegible] of the San Bernardino [illegible]; and P. T. Hanna [illegible] R. Jenkinson of the executive board of the Southern California Conservation Association. Forester Pratt presided.

DATES FOR OIL FRAUD CASES SET

Ten Face Court in April on Charge of Using Mail in Asserted Schemes

Federal Judge Bledsoe yesterday set the trial dates for three of the oil fraud cases being prosecuted here by special assistants to the U. S. Attorney General. Joe B. Turman and E. M. Moore, of the Joe B. Turman Oil Syndicate No. 2 will be placed on trial April 1. Wyatt L. Nix, E. Guy Wing, Alice B. Gardner, Frank L. Gardner, James E. Chambers and Percy M. Reynolds, of the Eliasville Pool Syndicate will be tried April 15. It is expected this case will require two weeks for trial. April 22 was set as the trial date for Ernest S. Phillips and Charles P. Sawyer, of the Industrial Oil Syndicate.

Others of the oil fraud cases in which indictments have been obtained were continued until April for setting. Among these was the Boulevard Oil Syndicate involving Chris Nelson, Joseph S. Gendron and George K. Nickerson who are involved in the case of the Square Deal Syndicate which has been on trial one week. Gendron and Nickerson have pleaded guilty. Nelson and Webster W. Bush, a fourth defendant in the case, are standing trial. The Boulevard Oil Syndicate was promoted prior to operations in connection with the Square Deal Syndicate.

Use of the mails in a scheme to defraud is charged in each of the indictments so far returned against persons asserted to have been interested in the promotion of concerns organized to sell oil lots and stock. The third case to go to trial will begin next Tuesday before Federal Judge James. It involves George A. Babcox who is charged with misrepresenting the value of Texas oil leases in which stock was sold in California.

CONTEST IS FILED ON MRS OLMSTED'S WILL

NIECE ALLEGES WOMAN WAS INFLUENCED BY REAL ESTATE DEALER

A contest on the estate of Millicent H. Olmsted, who died October 15, 1923, was filed yesterday in Probate Court by Harriet Cary, a niece, and the trustees of a former will, dated in 1920. Two wills have been submitted, one of April 13, 1920, and one of July 7, 1923. In each the estate, which was valued at from $10,000 to $50,000, was to provide for annuities for a nephew and three nieces, while the remainder was placed in trust for the erection and maintenance of the "Olmsted Memorial Presbyterian Hospital."

Rev. Hugh K. Walker and Attorney Joseph L. Murphey were named as executors in the 1920 will, to act as trustees with John Willis Baer, William B. Mathews, Clement L. Staub, William S. Young and T. E. Newlin. In the 1923 will Earl C. Dingwell was named as executor and the Security Trust and Savings Bank as trustee.

The contestants assert that the Olmsted was influenced by Dingwell, a real estate dealer, who "intruded himself in her home" and persuaded her to refuse to allow her niece in the house.

BORDER SMUGGLING

Decline Reported Except as to Narcotics

Smuggling over the Mexican border is rapidly on the decrease except as to narcotics, according to L. H. Schwaebe, customs collector, who returned yesterday from an inspection trip to Tijuana. He said he visited with Gov. Rodrigues of Lower California, and that official declared he was ready to do all in his power to aid the United States authorities in stopping the sale and transportation of drugs.

Mr. Schwaebe reported receipt of instructions from McKenzie Moss, director of customs, ordering that the line at Tijuana and Calexico be closed at 9 p.m., hereafter instead of at midnight. The roads across the border at those points will be barred with chains, Mr. Schwaebe said, and increased care will be exercised in dealing with suspicious characters. The line will open as usual each day at 6 a.m.

SALARY RISE ASKED

Building Inspector's Pay is Declared Inadequate

The Board of Public Works yesterday asked the City Council, in a resolution adopted by the board, to increase to $7500 a year the salary of Chief Inspector of Buildings Backus. For nineteen years Mr. Backus has been chief of the city building department and has supervised the tremendously increasing building operations of the city through the issuance of necessary permits to builders.

The board's resolution pointed out that salaries much greater than the $400 a month Mr. Backus is now receiving are paid men outside of the city government who are holding positions not calling for the responsibility and technical training of Mr. Backus. The resolution called attention to Mr. Backus's long record of efficiency in his position.

PLAN PARK ELECTION

Wilshire Residents Have Petitions for $50,000 Bond Issue

Mass meetings of property owners are being held and petitions being circulated for signatures in order to start under way the calling of a special $500,000 bond election in the Wilshire district for the purchase for public park purposes of the twenty-four acres known as the Bimini Slough property near Third street and Vermont avenue. For years the property owners have discussed the conversion of this land into a public park, and the Council, in granting a request to prevent the location of industries there, demanded action toward getting the park project under way. The property owners are planning to ask the Council within the next three weeks to call the district bond election.

CAR RECOVERIES EXCEED THEFTS

January Machines Reported Missing and Found Add to February List

For the first time in the history of the Los Angeles police department members of the theft bureau and motorcycle squad recovered more automobiles in one month than were reported stolen during the same period. According to a report given out by Asst. Capt. Hickok, head of the theft bureau, there were 649 cars reported stolen and 753 recovered.

A large number of those recovered were cars reported stolen in January.

PLAYGROUND IS ALLOTTED MORE ROOM

Agreement Reached for Addition of 2 1-2 Acres at Exposition Park

Representatives of the Playground Commission, Park Department, Los Angeles County Museum and Exposition Park Improvement Association reached an agreement yesterday whereby the Playground Commission will receive two and one-half acres to the south of the present Exposition Park playground, which is to be taken as the site for an extension to the Museum building. Supt. C. B. Raitt announced that under present plans there would be accommodation for six baseball games in the park instead of only four as originally intended.

The commission has prepared its program for the annual Hans Anderson celebration to take place in Elysian Park May 3. In the morning there will be games under the direction of Lorin Mitchell, supervisor of physical education, and story-telling under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Case of the public library. Approximately forty story tellers are expected to be available for the occasion. In the afternoon there will be plays, dances and pantomimes. Among those planning to take an active part in the celebration are the Echo Park and Arroyo Seco playgrounds, San Pedro-street school and Eagle Rock City school.

The 15th inst. has been set as the date for the formal opening of the new Hazard clubhouse. There will be a special program of music and talks by officials and representatives.

Work has been started on the new Griffith Park playground, and plans have been made for improvements at Radford Municipal Camp. These will include new cabins and an augmented water supply.

WIFE'S LOVE JUGGLED BY PISTOL SHOT

Uncertainty of Domestic Felicity Marks Hearing of Alimony Suit

It is apparently a case of kill or love with Mrs. Ethel M. Singleton.

About two weeks ago she took the witness stand in Justice Ambrose's court, where J. B. Bishop was being tried on a charge of assaulting her husband with a deadly weapon, and declared that she had fired the shots which found their mark in Dave H. Singleton's body. The latter, however, suffered but slight wounds and has recovered.

Yesterday Mrs. Singleton appeared in Judge Summerfield's department of the Superior Court to press charges of nonpayment of alimony against her husband. There was $200 in back alimony due from Singleton, but after considerable wrangling this was compromised on a fifty-fifty basis.

Near the conclusion of the trial both husband and wife began making overtures for a reconciliation. A truce was declared and Mr. and Mrs. Singleton, Judge Summerfield and the opposing lawyers repaired to the court chambers, where a conference was conducted. During this conference it developed that Mrs. Singleton had recovered some portion of her love for Singleton simultaneously with the crash of the revolver she had aimed at him. She said as she was leaving the courtroom that she would decide within five days whether or not she would resume domestic relations with her husband.

POLICE DRIVER HELD ON STATUTORY CHARGE

Fred Fava, 24 years of age, of 1920 Pasadena avenue, a police chauffeur, was arrested yesterday charged with a statutory offense against a girl of 17 years of age. Fava has been driving the car of Mrs. Minnie Barton, woman's probation officer. It is asserted he went on a several days' party with the girl and her mother, details of which were uncovered when school truant officers started checking up the girl's absence. Fava told Officers Perry and Bain, who arrested him, that the girl's mother said her age was 22.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

New officers of the Ex-Patients' Home Society of Los Angeles were installed Sunday at 670 Hazard street, Belvedere. They are A. Jacobs, president; William Raab, vice-president; Henry Cohen, treasurer; Mrs. Clara Goldberg, president ladies' auxiliary; Mrs. H. Felig and Mrs. D. Small, vice-presidents, and Mrs. H. Richlin, treasurer. Dr. H. L. Levitoq was named medical superintendent.

INCINERATOR VOTE ASKED

A recommendation that a $600,000 bond issue be placed on the May 6 ballot for the purchase of sites and the construction of an incinerator to burn combustible rubbish was made to the City Council yesterday by the Board of Public Works.

MARY GARDEN SCORES AGAIN

about to begin. Rows upon rows of the elite and musical, garbed for a royal event, betokened the allure and interest that was aroused by the arrival of a major troupe of operatic artists.

Even the counter-brilliance of such affairs as the Bachelors' Ball and the housewarming of the Biltmore could not rob the opening night of its glory, albeit its preeminence as a social affair was modified. Had there been no hitches, owing to the delays of trains, the production would have passed off as one of the most brilliant ever given by the Chicago here, and as it was, when the stage happenings once began, you could sense the spell of spreading enthusiasm, that was indicated in the applause.

The company was most resplendently clad for the premier production. In fact, in Massenet's "Cleopatre," the feast is mainly for the eyes. Some of the draperies were a bit scanty, to be sure, as befits the story of Marc Antony and Egypt's Queen, and there was more than the usual boldness in the romance, and a blushing emphasis in the delineation of the amorous episodes. But though the performance is at times a carnival of voluptuous, not to say sinuous and undulating thrills, this all seems in just about the best of hectic taste.

Mary Garden's first entrance doubtless caused the boys in the first two rows to sit right up on the edge of the seats, if they did not actually devour the paint off the back of the chairs in front of them.

GORGEOUS HEAD-DRESS

She had sufficient allure to the eyes completely to upset the equilibrium even of the distant opera-glass holders, for she wore an iridescent, lambent, mother o' pearl gown, with a peacock motif in the head-dress that would have made even Egypt's famous queen go out to sell her jewels to see if she couldn't duplicate it.

Nothing but the most enchanting dignity distinguishes Miss Garden's portrayal of the character, however. She brought to the role a bewitching languor and in her singing at times, a veritable caress.

"Cleopatre," as an operatic work, depends for its success chiefly on the quality of the production, and the Chicago is one of two organizations in this country that could include it in a repertoire. The music student will not find the score highly inspiring. The feeling is forced and there are places like the fight in the Egyptian tavern, which by the way is a very gay scene indeed, where it does not even match the dramatic events of the moment.

Anything Egyptian is rare and therefore superficially captivating. The only other opera with such a historic-legendary theme is "Aida," and in "Cleopatre" the perspective is more intimate, because the story has been told so many times. It is substantiated by a more vivid highlight of fact that has been handed down along with the romance.

Still the opera manages to be quite free of any conventional restraints. Music, even music that is not strikingly inspired, casts a glamorous haze about everything; and especially anything as emotional as the story of Egypt's famous queen. And on looking upon the majesty of the palaces as depicted on the stage, with the suggestion of the mystery of the Nile and the desert haunting the background, any member of the be caught in the influence of the seductive not to say sirenic atmosphere.

The climax was reached in the wild frenzy of the ballet and the love scenes between Cleopatra and Marc Antony in the third act, where the corps de ballet with Anna Ludmilla, attained a brilliant weaving of picturesque strands of beauty, that reflected the costumed magnificence of almost legendary peoples.

SINGING OF RIMINI

Aside from Miss Garden, who, in every scene, to that of the death through the traditional sting of the asp, acted with tremendous individuality and no relaxation of power the chief impression vocally and dramatically was made by Giacomo Rimini. His Marc Antoine was filled with energetic fire, and though he was perhaps more Latin than Roman in certain more impassioned moments of the opera, one could relish the vigor that he displayed in the role. His rendition of the air, "Thy Messages of Love," brought applause, and the scene with Myrna Sharlow as Octavia that immediately followed, was brilliant.

Myrna Sharlow showed an astonishingly scintillant quality of tone at times, but the general effect was a certain unevenness. Hers was the chief soprano role, Miss Garden being a mezzo this time. She seems to be able to sing (in her own particular way) in pretty nearly any range.

Miss Sharlow lacked something of authority and assurance, but the excellences of her voice shone through very interestingly in some of the scenes. One final high note—and that is always regrettable—was not what it should have been in pitch.

Desire Defrere, who, I believe, is rated a baritone, sang the tenor role of Spakos and did this well. He acted it with a rare and convincing repression and skill.

Particularly creditable work was also done by Alice d'Hermanoy as Charmion. Jose Mojica did some effective acting in the mute role of Adamos. He was killed before he had a chance to sing.

The Chicago has a great orchestra, and the huge chorus responded for the most part very acceptably to every call upon them.

Some of the highest honors for the production, however, belong to Conductor Ettore Panizza for his attractive reading of a score that is not at all times alive with the beautiful music, but which, under his baton, proved to be something of a commentary on the very luminous stage proceedings.

"CLEOPATRE" FAST DRESS

Frenzied Rush of Opera Artists Allows Curtain Up Hour After Train Came in

How long does it take Mary Garden to get dressed for the A packed house at the Philharmonic Auditorium streamed knotty (no reflection on Our Mary's clothes) problem for the curtain to go up and reveal the first scene in "Cl night.

The facts are these:

Despite the heroic efforts of the Southern Pacific Railroad officials who speeded three special trains across the desert from Dallas, Tex., in a race against time, Our Mary and the Chicago Civic Grand Opera Company reached Los Angeles a little late.

ARTISTS ARE LATE

For the railroad company, it must be said that the first two section of the train carrying the staff members of the company, musicians and baggage, arrived on time. The third section, bringing the artists, did not reach the depot until 5:10 p.m.

An excited company of songbirds, some of the male members wearing formal dress with stovepipe hats, piled off the train gesticulating, laughing and chatting, A caravan of taxicabs and cars whisked them away to Biltmore. Another trucks followed with the

CURTAIN IS LATE

At the Philharmonic, 8:30 arrived, curtain time but tain. The house waited.

Friend Husband, in his soup-and-fish, ject of more than one from the wife whom he for making him wait could get into her gown.

Finally, at 9:15 o'clock tain went up, one hour minutes from the time pulled into the depot.

The question for Miss press agent to answer is: How much of this consumed by her dressing at all, as the lawyers and phrasing it?

Margaret Illington was in old families represented other opening of the at the Biltmore last night the Sarterias, the Coits, the the Flints, the Hellmans, burgers, the MacFarlanes, bermans, the Chandlers, Woolwines, Danzigers Baldwins and scores of

"SALLY" IS TRIUM

"Sally" proved not only triumph for Leon Errol rare and radiant Shirley but was a great home-our own Walter Catlett.

At the terrible risk of provincial, I must admit as though we owned Walett, because of his popu our affection for him to Burbank stock days. He come a famous musical star since then—had sat at his feet at one time—suppose he is a better artist body ever could have nier than Catlett, anyhow.

We have all danced and tled and phonographed long time, which didn't our pleasure in it; in fact ened it. And we had the gorgeous sets and the charming story—not tion Shirley Vernon, Catlett, and the others.

Rogers said it was a theater, but that without back of it was laid out in bat.

The place fades away, and there comes that other opening night. It was a long line of carriages drawn by handsome horses that dashed up—oh, all of nine miles an hour sometimes!—to the door of the Mason!

Of course, there were a few "horseless carriages," driven by the adventurous, but as one was explained to another on that occasion, he "always liked to have a horse sitting in the back seat of the machine in case of emergency" when he was taking the long, hilly drive from far-away Pasadena.

Cecil De Mille's name is on the program as a member of the cast of "If I Were King!" A handsome young stripling he was, too, playing a dashing role. How could he dream that just twenty years later, he would be sitting at the opening of another theater—just a spectator, but a world-famed one?

Diamond-Paved Circle

One of Fashion's chief favorites among jeweled ornaments this season is the diamond-paved circle or oval. Brock and Company are showing some exquisite creations set with diamonds alone, or diamonds in combination with such greatly favored stones as rubies, onyx and sapphires.

One piece in particular is an exquisite creation. Within the circle is a peacock design, with the neck and tail feathers in rubies, the back striped with black onyx and the rest paved with diamonds. Nicely balancing the design on the other side of the circle, is a large solitaire diamond.

You will be keenly interested in seeing this and other gem-set pieces in our Diamond Dept.

SALESMAN WANTED
EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY

A live capable and thoroughly dependable security salesman is wanted at once on the small but high class sales force of a local financial house which handles public utility bonds and preferred stocks and special industrial issues.

A strong eastern underwriting connection brings us new offerings of uncommon attractiveness, in addition to which we are constantly on the look-out for meritorious local issues.

To the right man we will make an extremely liberal proposition. We want a man of some experience, and a willingness to work conscientiously. We will provide a drawing account if shown good cause, although preference will be given to the man who wants to work on a straight commission basis. To such a man we will offer an extremely advantageous arrangement, under which he will be able to earn very substantial income; in fact, we believe this to be an absolutely unsurpassed opportunity for a man with ambition to be developed a permanent and profitable clientele.

Your reply should state past and present connections, age and average earning capacity. Your communication will be treated with strict confidence. Address L, box 357, TIMES BRANCH.

FOREWORD—"It is customary," says the Chicago Tribune, "for newspapers, at the end of each year, to run page advertisements reciting their lineage records in comparison with those of competitors"—a custom which the Tribune now complains "has become monotonous." The Chicago Daily News admits that it long has been the very head and front of this offending in Chicago, but contends that the custom thus disparaged is, in fact, esteemed by advertisers, local and national, and by newspaper readers generally, as an important and welcome public service. Constrained, therefore, by this compelling conviction, and subordinating the disinclination of our esteemed journalistic colleague to the larger general view and interest, The Daily News herewith again presents a page of Chicago advertising light and leading.

The World's Greatest Merchants Advertise Most in The Chicago Daily News

Chicago leads the world in the number of its department stores and the volume of business they do. These great institutions owe much of their success to scientific advertising, and they place the preponderance of their advertising, year after year, in The Chicago Daily News. Department store advertisers are experts in exactly appraising every factor that enters into the cost, and the returns of newspaper advertising. They KNOW not only the absolute, but the individual proportionate, returns from a given expenditure in each of the newspaper advertising mediums of a city---and advertise accordingly. In 1923 the department stores of Chicago distributed their advertising among Chicago newspapers as shown in the following tables of display agate lineage:
